

Published Tuesday through Saturday mornings, during the University year, the Daily Collegian is a student-operated newspaper.

The Daily Collegian

Successor to THE FREE LANCE, est. 1887

Editorials represent the viewpoint of the writers, not necessarily the policy of the paper. Unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Entered as second-class matter July 5, 1934 at the State College, Pa. Post Office under the act of March 3, 1879.

TAMMIE BLOOM UNANGST, Editor

FRANK CRESSMAN, Business Mgr.

Managing Ed., Diehl McKalip; City Ed., Mike Feinsilber; Copy Ed., Mary Lee Lauffer; Sports Ed., Dick McDowell; Edit. Dir., George Baires; Radio News Ed., Phil Austin; Soc. Ed., Peggy McClain; Asst. Sports Ed., Herm Weiskopf; Asst. Soc. Ed., Nancy Ward; Feature Ed., Baylee Friedman; Exchange Ed., Edmund Reiss; Librarian, Marcie MacDonald; Senior Bazaar, Bev Dickinson.

Asst. Bus. Mgr., Benjamin Lowenstein; Local Adv. Mgr., Sondra Duckman; National Adv. Mgr., William Devers; Circulation Co-Mgrs., Richard Gordon, Gail Fromer; Promotion Mgr., Evelyn Riegel; Personnel Mgr., Carol Schwing; Office Mgr., Peggy Troxell; Classified Adv. Mgr., Dorothea Ebert; Sec., Gertrude Malpezzi; Research and Records Mgr., Virginia Coskery.

STAFF THIS ISSUE: Night Editor, Anita Oprendeck; Copy Editors, Bill Pete, Ann Leh; Assistants, Joan Hickerson, Sue Conklin, Joann Wohleber, Ed Dubbs, Sue Lustig, Norma Talarico, Gail Gilman, Judy Harkison.

Students Should Meet Cliques Tomorrow

Lion and State Parties will hold clique meetings tomorrow night. Students who remember that political parties are what their members want them to be will attend one of the two meetings.

These first few weeks of the semester have been marked with charges and counter-charges of corruption in politics. Practices which formerly were only hinted have come to the students' attention, and the reactions were both amazed and shocked. Now we are about to embark on the serious business of nominating and electing class and class clique officers. Now we have two party cliques, both with legally elected heads, looking forward to a long strong, taxing--- and honest---campaign.

Campus political parties, as any other campus activity, are molded by the people who take part in them. If students are apathetic enough to regard politics as something not worth bothering about, is it any wonder that "continuing dynasties" of leadership develop among the minority of students who are interested in politics?

Political parties, to keep alive to keep progressing, and yes, to keep honest, need new blood. They need the freshmen class as a whole to become actively interested in them and willing to work. And, even more, they need the upperclassmen who "know the score," know what's to be done on campus, but who, in the past, have let someone else worry about how student government is to work.

Tomorrow night's clique meetings will be open to all students. There are very few engraved invitations issued. It's an open house.

Basically there's little difference between the two parties; they both depend on their membership from semester to semester. Past records are impressive but unimportant. It's the new life, the new program each semester that determines their worth.

Students who complain about corruption, who don't like what they read and hear about campus politics should try to do something about it. The best way to work is from within.

Both parties need candidates. Both need committee members. Both are willing to give the opportunity to work to those who sincerely want it.

Under the new elections code, students must attend at least one party clique meeting prior to the final nomination meeting. Party registration will be conducted by the clique membership committees under the supervision of the elections committee prior to the meetings tomorrow night. There will be no party membership lists until then.

The number and calibre of students included in those lists tomorrow night will determine the quality of politics at the University this semester.

Anyone interested in bettering politics, bettering student government, and bettering the University will attend one of the two clique meetings tomorrow night.

—Ann Leh

Safety Valve...

Clarifies CPA Status

TO THE EDITOR: It is unfortunate that in his recent criticism of the Central Promotion Agency, Diehl McKalip did not bother to look below the surface.

As in any new organization, certain bugs turn up after a trial period of use. Perhaps, if he had taken time to inquire rather than to criticize, Mr. McKalip would have found out an earnest effort being made within the agency to iron out these defects.

At the present time, CPA is awaiting the completion of the Hetzel Union Building wherein is provided adequate operating space which it presently lacks. New production equipment is being secured so that CPA can finally provide complete, inexpensive, and professional work.

Perhaps, again too, if the publication Mr. McKalip represents had provided—as it did for most other organizations—an informative article in the beginning of the year; or perhaps even if it had provided some coverage at present, it would not be necessary to give this explanation.

Last year was a period of orientation and experiment. This fall has been devoted to correcting and strengthening the operations of the

On Committee of 50

TO THE EDITOR: Your recent (Thursday) editorial makes a few statements which should be cleared up. At no time did I refuse to release the names of the Committee of 50. The first time you asked for this information, you received it. At no time did our committee meet in secret. A member of the press was present at every meeting save one, and they were invited to that one.

As you know, a group of 50 people is too large for working out policy matters. Hence, we set up an executive committee from the Committee of 50, and that group was named early in the game. We felt that it would serve no purpose to release the names of the full membership of the committee. However, when we were asked to do so, we did.

—John L. McLucas
Committee Chairman

agency. With Mr. McKalip's indulgence the remainder of this year will be spent in providing competent service to the Penn State campus.

—Otto Hetzel
Director, Central Promotion Agency

Gazette...

Tomorrow
LION PARTY CLIQUE MEETING, 7 p.m., 121 Sparks
PENN STATE LITTLE HORSE SHOW, 2 p.m., Stables
STATE PARTY CLIQUE MEETING, 7 p.m., 10 Sparks

Monday
LIBERAL ARTS STUDENT COUNCIL, 8 p.m., 202 Willard
MT. NITTANY PHILATELIC SOCIETY, 7:30 p.m., State College High School.
NEWMAN CLUB CARD PARTY, 7:30 p.m., Catholic Student Center

UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL
John Arnst, Ralph Batdorf, George Corl, Joseph Duvanti, Robert Debski, William Douglas, David Evans, Faith Gallagher, Harryette Gerhart, Roosevelt Grier, Robert Heilman, William Kane, Alfred Kohler, John Nute, Peter Petroff, Joseph Racik, John Speer, Michael Thomas, Joan Wagner, and Ernest Zambo.

UNIVERSITY PLACEMENT SERVICE
Those qualified for interviewing are: undergraduates who will receive degrees in January, 1955; M.S. candidates who have completed at least one semester of study; and Ph.D. candidates who will receive degrees in 1955. Arrangements for interviews may be made now in 112 Old Main.
NORTH AMERICAN AVIATION (Columbus): B.S. & Ph.D.

candidates in Aero. E., ME, CE, EE & Arch. E.: M.S. candidates in Math., Aero. E., ME, CE, EE, Arch. E. Oct. 21
GENERAL MOTORS: B.S. candidates in ME, EE, IE, Ch.E., Metal. E., Aero. E., Chem., Phys., Math., L.M.R. & Ind. Ed., for Ind. Management, Foundry Operation, Bus. Ad. & Lib. Arts, Oct. 12, 13 & 14.
S.K.F. INDUSTRIES, INC.: B.S. candidates in IE & ME Oct. 12
WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC CORP.: B.S. candidates in EE, IE & ME Oct. 12 & 13.
GENERAL ELECTRIC: B.S. candidates in EE, IE, ME, Phys., & Aero. E. Oct. 14.
HASKINS & SELLS (Phila.): B.S. candidates in Acctg. Oct. 14 & 15.
DU PONT: B.S. candidates in Ch. E., Chem., Phys. & ME, Oct. 14 & 15.
SOCONY-VAGUUM: B.S. candidates in Ch. E., ME & Analytical Chem.; M.S. & Ph.D. candidates in Analytical Chem. Oct. 15.
McDONNELL AIRCRAFT CORP.: B.S. candidates in Aero. E., CE, EE, ME, Math., Phys., IE & Arch. E.; M.S. & Ph.D. candidates in Aero. E., EE, CE, ME & Math. Oct. 18 & 19.
DU PONT: Ph.D. candidates in Ch. E., Chem., Phys., ME, Ceramics & Metallurgy Oct. 19, 20, & 21.
STANDARD OIL OF INDIANA: B.S. candidates in Ch. E.; M.S. & Ph.D. candidates in Chem. Oct. 19.
MALLINCKRODT CHEM. WORKS: B.S., M.S. & Ph.D. candidates in Chem., Metal., Ch. E., ME, EE & Comm. Chem. Oct. 19 & 20.
NORTH AMERICAN AVIATION (Los Angeles): B.S., M.S. & Ph.D. candidates in Aero. E., CE, Arch. E., EE, & ME. Oct. 20.
OHIO DEPT. OF HIGHWAYS: B.S. candidates in CE Oct. 20.

Marin Elected to Post

Joseph Marin, head of the Department of Engineering Mechanics, has been elected national president of the Society for Experimental Stress Analysis. The society is international in scope and is composed of engineers engaged in analysis and design of structures and machines.

Vespa to Be Speaker At Women's Meeting

A. D. Vespa of State College will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Campus Business Women's Club at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Home Economics living center. Vespa will illustrate his talk on music and its relation to personalities with records.

Two Attend AIEE Meeting

Felix du Breuil, assistant professor of mining engineering, and Wolfgang Kugel, a graduate student in mining engineering whose home is in Dusseldorf, Germany, attended the meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Middle Eastern district, in Reading, this week.

Little Man on Campus

By Bibler

"Naww, he wasn't th' hero of th' game—he got his pants ripped off th' last play."

Interpreting the News

Tension Mounts In Israeli Dispute

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.

Associated Press News Analyst

The world has been so preoccupied recently with Southeast Asia, Formosa, and the battle for Germany that growing tension between Israel and the Arab states has attracted little attention.

Oddly enough, the tension has increased in almost direct ratio to talk of peace.

Israel has been greatly disturbed by two factors—the British agreement to withdraw troops from Suez, where they stood between Israel and the Egyptian army, and resumption of Anglo-American arms shipments to the Arab states.

On Sept. 17 the ambassadors of the eight Arab states appealed to the great powers to give them greater military and economic aid to deter Israel from any attack.

On Oct. 2 Britain offered to sponsor peace talks, especially between Jordan and Israel, designed to settle the border disputes which have led to so many shootings.

This week Israel offered before the United Nations to make non-aggression pacts with the Arab states guaranteeing territorial integrity and political independence, banning all hostile acts and agreeing to settle all disputes through negotiations.

The only Arab reaction so far was an immediate statement on the floor of the General Assembly by the Egyptian delegate that "it is impossible for one moment to consider the peaceful intentions of Israel as genuine."

And there it is! Israel is convinced that the Arabs are interested in arms solely to put themselves in position to resume the war which was halted in 1948 by a UN-negotiated armistice.

The Arabs are convinced that Israel's immigration policy, which seeks to concentrate most of the world's Jews in Palestine, means that eventually the new state will tend to burst its bounds, impinge further on Arab lands. They see in Israel's dynamic development the creation of a situation in the Middle East almost identical to the one created in Europe during the last century by the rise of Germany.

The suggestion has been made that tension might be somewhat relaxed, at least in the field of religious differences, if Israel permitted implementation of the UN resolution of 1947 to make Jerusalem an international city with its shrines open to all. The Jews say the Arabs killed off that idea, as they did the original partition plan of which it was a part, when they resorted to war in 1948. Jerusalem is now divided, with the Jews holding the part in which they are most interested.

One thing needed in connection with the new arms shipments to the Arabs is a renewal and new emphasis on the Anglo-French-American post-armistice statement that they will countenance any more war in the area. They have sufficient influence to enforce it on Israel, especially because of her economic dependence on the United States. They might, instead of selling arms to the Arabs, put them on a lend-lease basis with a threat to yank them out if they are used for any aggressive purpose.

Sawmill Will Sell Wood for Displays

The University sawmill has agreed to supply lumber to fraternities at prices starting at five cents per board foot for homecoming displays, the Dean of Men's office has announced.

The sawmill offer doesn't pertain only to homecoming displays, the dean's office stated. Grade A lumber will be sold to fraternities for any project. The sawmill is able to do this since fraternities are part of the University.

Interested fraternities should contact Orvel A. Schmidt, assistant professor of forestry, at the sawmill, or in 104 Forestry.

This Weekend On WDFM

91.1 MEGACYCLES

Tonight
7:30	Sports Roundup
7:45	Hamburger Stand
8:15	Crime is Our Business
8:45	Just for Two
9:30	Hi Fi Open House
10:30	Sign Off
Tomorrow
7:30	Third Program BBC Drama, "Strife"
8:30	Piano Music of Brahms
9:15	Henry Wood Promenade Concerts
10:30	Sign Off
Monday
7:30	Guest Star
7:45	Sportlight
8:00	UN Story, "The Secret Boy"
8:15	Top Drawer
8:30	Progressions in Rhythm
9:00	Spotlight on State
9:15	News
9:30	Symphony Hall
10:30	Sign Off