

Parties to Conduct Class Nominations

Campus political parties will conclude election of class clique officers and begin nomination of class officer candidates at their meetings tomorrow night.

Clique registration will be supervised by the All-University elections committee at both meetings. In order to vote at next week's final nomination meeting, a student must have attended last week's meeting or must attend tomorrow night's meeting of the party of his choice. Students need not have attended a clique meeting last week to be eligible to vote for clique officers tomorrow night.

State Party

State Party will reopen nominations for and elect freshman and sophomore class clique officers and begin nominations for class officer candidates at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 10 Sparks.

Positions to be filled tomorrow night are freshman and sophomore class chairmen, vice chairmen, secretaries, treasurers, and secretariats. Preliminary nominations for the posts were made last week.

Following the class clique elections, nominations will be open for candidates for freshman and sophomore class presidents, vice presidents, and secretary-treasurers. Only first semester freshmen or third semester sophomores are eligible for these posts, according to the new permanent elections code.

Nominated for freshman class clique chairman last week were David Faust, Dennis McArber, Frank Jaxheimer, David Tressler, and Daniel Revie.

The three sophomore class clique chairman nominees are Robert Heck, Steven Jordan, and Robert Whitmore.

GOP Farm Program Praised by President

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 15 (AP)—President Dwight D. Eisenhower said tonight his administration has gone far toward building a "foundation of enduring prosperity" for American agriculture, and he asked for a Republican Congress to help him carry out his policies.

The President made an open bid for farm votes in the congressional elections in a speech prepared for a meeting at Butler Field House sponsored by the National Institute of Animal Agriculture.

THE BROWSE

WELCOME! WELCOME! We love you all. State College is like the weather. The only calm period with a few mild changes occurs in the summer time. With the opening of the University in September, people pour in town in a fury. Then on football weekends and Alumni Days it is like a hurricane. This year even Hazel is with us.

As in the past, our door is open in order that you may take refuge from Hazel. (We don't mean the girl who clings to you who might be of the same name.) After the game, Saturday night, THE COLLEGE BOOK STORE is open for your enjoyment. Hours of pleasure are yours from just browsing around our store. The shelves are full, the wall bulging, with new books, cards, and the most unusual gift lines you will find.

We might even go so far as to say Saturday night can be your rare opportunity. Here is your chance to buy that hard-to-find Christmas gift—something you are not likely to find in your little town, or even your big city. Look over our many lines of out-of-the-way Christmas cards. We'll send you your order.

It's fun to come to THE COLLEGE BOOK STORE. It should be a part of your weekend visit to State College. So remember us after the game or Saturday night. We are open to please you. If you just look, you are more than welcome. If we can help you with a problem, we are happy to do what we can. If you find something you want to buy (and we think you will), you'll hear the cheers of the cash register.

We love you all.
