

Undefeated Lions Host Orange Booters Today

By ROY WILLIAMS

A rivalry that has been dead for four years will be revived at 10 a.m. today when Penn State's undefeated soccer team tangles with Syracuse University in the first of four home games.

During the three years before the inter-school competition ended, Penn State held a three-year win streak over the Orange.

In 1950—the last time the Lions met the New Yorkers—Penn State tripped a tough Syracuse squad, 2-0. Syracuse also dropped the 1948 and 1949 encounters to the Lions, 6-1, and 5-1.

Although the Orange have not met Penn State in four years, the name of Lion Coach Ken Hosterman rings a familiar tune to the New Yorkers.

Ken Hosterman rings a familiar tune to the New Yorkers.

In 1948 and 1949—when Syracuse was mauled by Penn State—much of the credit for the two wins went to a halfback by the name of Hosterman.

The All-American right halfback who helped the Lions trample Syracuse more than five years ago was Ralph Hosterman, brother of Penn State's present coach. Hosterman is handling the Lion squad for his second year.

Hosterman Broke Leg

Ken Hosterman was in school when the Lions chalked up their wins over Syracuse in 1948, and 1949, but was watching the game and his brother from the sidelines. A broken leg suffered in a 1947 contest forced him to give up the booting sport.

Syracuse Coach Andrew Coccarri piloted his team, which posted a 4-2-1 card last season, to a 2-0 win over Colgate—the only mutual opponent on the two team's schedule last season. Penn State had to rely on an overtime boot to clip the Raiders 1-0 last fall.

Lions Have 19 Goals

Syracuse will have to brew a potent formula for today's contest if it expects to knot Penn State's offensive patterns which have racked up 19 goals in two games.

And the Lions defensive play also promises to serve as a big headache for Coach Coccarri and his eleven-man squad. Junior goalie George Geczy has been scored on only once in each of

Yankees Start Rebuilding

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—The New York Yankees began rebuilding for 1955 today by purchasing the contracts of four of their farm hands, including Negro catcher Elston Howard. Howard is the first Negro to be placed on the Yankee roster.

Howard was brought up from

Kansas City, which owned his contract, along with two right-handed pitchers, Ed Cereghino and Tom Sturdivant. Also, third baseman Leon (Buddy) Carter was bought from Binghamton of the Eastern League, another Yankee affiliate.
