STATE COLLEGE, PA., WEDNESDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 20, 1954

FIVE CENTS

Nomination Rules Set For Frosh

Freshmen may nominate themselves for positions on all student councils except the Agriculture Student Council until Friday. Elections will be held Monday and Tuesday.

Representatives on the Agriculture Student Council are elected in the spring by the clubs within the college.

Freshmen in the Home Economics college may nominate candidates by placing names in the nominations box in the lobby of the Home Economics building. The nominations should include the name, picture, and phone number of the candidates. Elections will be held in the lobby of Home Economics.

Nominees for Liberal Arts Student Council must present petitions containing the names of 25 liberal arts students to qualify for the election. The petitions should be turned into 132 Sparks. Four freshmen will be elected.

Two freshmen will be elected to the Physical Education Student Council. Students may obtain petitions at Recreation Hall or from council members who will distribute them in freshman classes.

College of Education
Freshmen in the College of Education may obtain nomination blanks at the Student Union desk in Old Main. Two freshmen will be elected. Balloting will take place in front of Schwab Auditorium.

Freshmen in the College of Engineering and Architecture may nominate themselves by signing lists available in their department offices. One freshman representative will be elected from each department and one sophomore will also be elected from the engineering science department.

Chem-Phys Council
Students in the College of Chemistry and Physics may nominate themselves by signing lists on the bulletin boards on the first floor of Pond and Walker Laboratories, and outside 111, 119, and 307 Osmond.

Two freshman representatives, one sophomore from the chemistry department, one senior from the physics department, and one senior from the pre-medical department will be elected. All nominees must turn in a picture and a list of their activities to the dean's office in Osmond by Saturday.

Freshmen in the College of Business Administration may nominate themselves by filling out nominations blanks available in 106 Sparks. Five freshmen will be elected.

Two freshmen and two juniors will be elected to seats on the Mineral Industries Student Council. Self-nominations may be made by signing the list on the bulletin board in the Mineral Industries building before 12 p.m. Friday. The elections will be held in the dean's office in Mineral Industries.

TCU Pep Rally Set for Tonight

A pep rally for the Texas Christian-Penn State football game will be held at 7:30 tonight in front of Recreation Hall.

The rally, sponsored by Mortar Board, senior women's hat society, and Androcles, junior men's hat society, will feature Samuel Wolcott, third semester arts and letters major and cheerleader, as master of ceremonies.

Rip Engle, football coach, several members of the team, cheerleaders, and the Blue Band will also participate.

The team will leave for Fort Worth, Texas, at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Interfraternity Workshops

INAUGURATING the 1954 Interfraternity Council workshop program, representatives of fraternities met in nine sessions last night to discuss mutual problems. The program, which ends today, is aimed at solving the problems facing all officers of fraternities. Left to right, William Rother, Phi Kappa Sigma, Edwin Seiling, Joseph Barnett, both of Phi Delta Theta, Peter Bond, Alpha Gamma Rho, and Ronald Johnson, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, discuss questions which social chairmen must solve. Barnett, workshop leader, will report at the workshop banquet at 5:45 p.m. tomorrow at the Nittany Lion Inn.

Cabinet Approves Interviewing Group

The Cabinet personnel interviewing committee was approved by All-University Cabinet Thursday night.

According to the approved plan, the CPIC will interview all committee members appointed by the all-university president.

Under the new system, the committee shall interview all applicants for cabinet appointments, except chairman, judging them on the following criteria: ability, as shown through previous committee work; interest, as stated in the application for appointment and in the interview; experience, which may be of any nature, regardless of time or place; time, which will take into consideration the student's schedule, academic record, extra-curricular activities, and health; and miscellaneous.

The last category provides that the committee shall be free to consider any factors other than those specifically listed.

All interviews for a stated category shall be completed at least two weeks prior to the announced

Froth Out Today; Political Stories To Be Featured

Froth will touch on the world of campus, state, and national politics when it makes its monthly appearance today.

A report on All-University Cabinet by Byron Fielding will comprise one feature story and another will concern the manly art of political speech-making. Letters from a student on a summer cruise through Europe will be the basis of a fiction article by Allison Munn.

Groundbreaking May Be Feb. 22 For Proposed All-Faith Chapel

Ground may be broken for the construction of the proposed All-Faith chapel on Feb. 22, according to President Milton S. Eisenhower.

In a speech before the faculty yesterday in Schwab Auditorium, President Eisenhower expressed the hope that ground could be broken for the chapel in conjunction with the University's centennial birthday party to be held Feb. 22 in the Hetzel Union Building.

He also said the nuclear reactor may be dedicated at the same time.

In his speech, President Eisenhower also said that cooperation between students, faculty, and administration was the best of anywhere in the country. He cited this year's student encampment as proof of the degree of cooperation.

"We have a more enlightened and more responsible group of student leaders than ever before," he said.

First Plans Approved

University architects are now working on final plans for the chapel. Preliminary plans were approved at last spring's meeting of the Board of Trustees. University officials have announced that final plans for the chapel may be given to the board for approval "within the next few months."

Plans for the chapel have been under consideration for more than a year. Several styles of architecture were considered, including modern, before the Georgian style was finally approved.

The chapel will be located in Hort Woods, near Curtin Road. Originally, the chapel was to be built on the library side of Curtin Road. However the site was changed at the June meeting of the trustees.

Arrangement in U-shape

The chapel will be built in three units: a small meditation chapel, the main chapel, and a connecting unit between the two chapels. The units will be arranged in a U-shape around a large reflecting pool.

The first unit to be constructed is the meditation chapel, which will provide seats for 120 people.

It will provide facilities for private devotions, weddings, and other small religious services.

The main chapel will provide facilities for approximately 2000 people, with a choir loft which will accommodate 100 people. The meditation chapel will also have a smaller choir loft.

The connecting unit will be a two-story structure. The ground floor will house the chaplain's office, space for clerical help, and a social room. The second floor will contain smaller rooms for religious counseling.

The original plans called for a basement, but because of the change in location, the basement had to be discarded.

Chapel Gets Funds From Alum Drive

The All-Faith Chapel has received approximately $33,000 of the $134,000 pledged by 7900 University alumni to the 1954 Alumni Fund, conducted by the Penn State Foundation.

About $38,000 has been pledged this year to the memorial scholarship funds.

The remainder of the $134,000 will be divided among the following: designated scholarships, $14,000; class funds, $7500; UCA, $4700; colleges and departments, for research and equipment, $5700; University Library, $1100; Hetzel Union Building furnishings, $1600.

The Chapel has received $73,000 in contributions to the two Alumni Funds conducted last year and this year. About $56,000 has been designated for HUB furnishings.

A third fund, to be called the Centennial Alumni Fund, will be launched early in the Spring, Bernard P. Taylor, executive director, has announced. Contributions will be labeled "birthday gifts to Penn State" and an extensive campaign program is being planned. The program will include nine visits to alumni soliciting groups by President Milton S. Eisenhower.

Fifteen freshmen have received the first Alumni Memorial Scholarships, awarded to outstanding high school seniors selected by members of district alumni groups.

Final Showings Of IFC Movie To Be Tonight

The Interfraternity Council will present the final showings of the movie, "A Toast to Our Brothers," at 7 and 8 tonight in 119 Osmond, John Russell, IFC rushing chairman, has announced.

The movie was prepared by the IFC as the opening of the rushing program to arouse interest and orient freshmen and new students to the fraternity system, Russell said.

The second phase of the program will be the meeting of freshmen, their dormitory counselors, and a fraternity man in the dorms tomorrow night. At the meeting, the IFC Rushing Magazine and fraternity preference cards will be distributed.

The rushing program will conclude with a series of fraternity open houses, the first of which is scheduled for 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Dietrich to Lecture

Ray Dietrich, former University student and resident manager of the Carlton House in Pittsburgh, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Penn State Hotel Greeters to be held at 8 tonight in the cafeteria of the Home Economics Building.

Any hotel administration major may attend.

Sex Emphasized in Sheppard Trial

CLEVELAND, Oct. 19 (AP)—The defense heatedly charged today that sex in the person of pretty, young Susan Hayes is the heart of the murder case against Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard.

"Some people consider a sexual crime or sex deviation even worse than murder," said defense attorney William J. Corrigan in an argument over his examination of prospective jurors.

However, Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin disagreed and told the lawyer:

Principal Question

"Sam Sheppard murdered Marilyn Sheppard, that's the principal question. We're not trying anyone for any sex offense here."

Inflection of the judge's voice indicated he intended the first sentence as an inquiry rather than a statement of fact.

"Oh, yes we are," replied Corrigan, his voice rising.

Sheppard, 30, is on trial for his life. He is accused of bludgeoning to death his blonde, pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31, after a love affair with Miss Hayes, 24, a technician who formerly worked with Sheppard in his family's osteopathic hospital just outside Cleveland.

Has Plead Innocent
Sheppard has pleaded innocent to murder.

Corrigan called Miss Hayes the "star witness in the case." The defense was trying to determine if any prospective jurors might be unduly influenced by testimony of adultery between Miss Hayes and Sheppard.

The defense lawyer questioning a juror to be seated in the case, Edmund L. Verlinger, 29, a combat veteran and hardware store manager:

Objectionable Questioning
"Did you ever hear of Susan Hayes?" asked Corrigan.

"Not until just recently," replied Verlinger.

"You read it in the papers?"

Corrigan continued.

"Yes," Verlinger said.

"Suppose," Corrigan asked, "evidence is produced that the defendant had affairs with another woman, or women, would that produce in you . . . a feeling of ill will towards the defendant that would prejudice you?"

The state objected, and Judge Blythin halted that line of questioning.
