

Stealing Charges Denied By Dixon

Kenneth Dixon, president of Local 417 Building Service Employees International, denied yesterday he had ever taken money illegally from Local 67, State, County and Municipal Employees.

Dixon was president of Local 67 before over 300 members voted to leave the established union and affiliate with the

ICCB Agrees To Screen For Cabinet

Inter-college Council Board agreed last night to serve as the screening committee for All-University Cabinet committee applicants except chairmen, as was recommended by cabinet last week.

The screening committee will be known as the cabinet personnel interviewing committee. It will accept applications for committee posts, interview applicants, and submit its recommendations to All-University President Jesse Arnette two weeks before appointments are to be made. The president, however, will reserve the right to make the actual appointments.

Candidates must turn in applications to the committee two weeks before appointments. Committee chairmen must give the names of their committee members to the CPIC a week in advance of this date so that they may be mentioned in the Daily Collegian.

Applicants will be interviewed on the basis of ability, interest, experience, and time available for committee work.

Elections of freshmen to college student councils will be held Tuesday and Wednesday instead of Monday and Tuesday as was formally mentioned in the Collegian, the Board decided. An exception to this rule will be Engineering and Architecture Council elections, which will be held Wednesday and Thursday.

An estimated 530 tickets for the career day speech of Ralph Bunche will be available to persons other than business administration majors at the Student Union desk in Old Main beginning Thursday, it was announced. Tickets will be distributed upon presentation of matriculation cards.

Five hundred tickets for business administration students will also be distributed Thursday in 106 Sparks. Matriculation cards must be presented.

Tickets will be honored at the speech only until 7:45 p.m., at which time the doors will be opened to the public.

Sigma Delta Chi, men's national professional journalism fraternity, will hold its 27th annual initiation banquet at 6:30 p.m. Sunday at the Hotel State College.

Philip Heisler, managing editor of the Baltimore Sun, will speak at the banquet. President Milton S. Eisenhower and Ben Euwema, dean of the College of Liberal Arts, will be guests.

Seven undergraduate members and six professional members will be initiated before the banquet. Sigma Delta Chi will present its first annual $30 scholarship for outstanding freshman work in journalism to Michael Moyle, third semester journalism major.

Building Service Employees. Both unions are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

"I am not guilty of taking any money from Local 67 illegally," Dixon said.

He said he had been getting compensation from the union for work and trips during his term as president. "I did work that Robert A. Callahan should have been doing anyway," he said. Callahan is the international representative for Local 67 in this area.

Result of Bitterness
Dixon said the charges made Wednesday by international representatives of Local 67 were the result of bitterness over the break. "These boys are hurt because they lost a very ripe plum which netted them $5000 to $6000 a year in per capita tax," he said.

The per capita tax is a percentage of the dues of each union member which is sent to the international union.

$2218 Short
Accusations were made Wednesday that $2218.22 in union funds was unaccounted for during the first seven months of this year. One of the points included in the charge was that Dixon had received a payment of $100 for the month of September instead of the regular $10 compensation.

The shortage in the funds was presented in a report by Martin Hellez, chief accountant for the State, County, and Municipal Workers International. It was implied that the former officers of local 67 had held back the funds. The officers were among those who left the local to affiliate with the Building Service Employees International.

Dixon said that he had filed a counter-bond to the writ of replevin action which was filed by Local 67 to regain the minutes and correspondence of the union. Since the split two weeks ago, all minutes and records of Local 67 have been in the possession of the new organization. Dixon said he now has the records back in his possession.

Robert Lonergan, international representative for Local 417, issued a blanket denial of all charges made by Local 67.

A meeting of Local 417 has been called for 8 tonight in the IOOF Hall.

CBS Confused On Location Of University

The publicity department of the CBS Television Network is just as confused as Herb Shriner about the location of the Pennsylvania State University in a town called State College.

The department's release on the appearance of the McCloskey triplets on Herb Shriner's show "Two for the Money" said that the girls were freshmen at the Pennsylvania State "College."

When Shriner interviewed the girls he asked them whether they were attending the University of Pennsylvania. When Jeanne, Julie, and Joyce replied that they were attending the Pennsylvania State University in State College, he commented:

"I see. You are going to two different colleges. Is that the idea? I'm a little mixed up . . . it's a confusing setup."

Stewart Proposes Unemployment Aid

By ANN LEH

Immediate and positive action to end unemployment in the state was advocated last night by John R. Stewart, Democratic Congressional candidate for the 20th district, speaking to the Young Democratic Club.

In attacking the Republican contention that the nation is now in a "leveling off" period, Stewart cited the unemployment situation in his native city of Altoona, saying: "Those 45,000 people on food relief there know this is not merely a recession but a depression."

"With several hundred thousand high school and college graduates and returning servicemen flooding the employment markets each year, we can't afford to level off. We must create new jobs," he said.

To create these new jobs, Stewart listed public works projects as well as means for attracting new industries to the area. Public school construction, reforestation, stream rehabilitation for flood prevention, and dam construction are vitally needed, he said.

Build Plants
Showing how new industries could be attracted, Stewart proposed that "we lift some industrial taxes and construct plant facilities to be leased to the new firms."

Under the program he outlined, the buildings would be state financed, then leased to the concerns for 15 years. The rentals would pay for the buildings in this time and they would then be company property.

"In the meantime," he said, "the payrolls would bring millions of dollars to the state each year."

Stewart called Republican charges on Communism in government a "numbers game" saying "They have not convicted one known Communist since they have been in office."

Known Communists Tried
Before the Republicans came into power, he said, all known Communist party leaders were tried under the Democrat-passed Smith Act.

"The Republican Party would like the public to think the 6000 'security risks' recently discharged from the government were subversives," he said. He claimed the security risk dismissals include persons who drink too much, talk too much, or whose morals may not be the best.

Name Change:

Both Sides Confident Of Victory

Chairmen of the opposing factions in the controversy over the borough name change expressed confidence yesterday that the State College voters would back their groups' views at the polls Nov. 2.

Edward Dill, chairman of Friends of State College, and John McLucas, chairman of the Committee of 50, were asked for their opinions on the Daily Collegian poll published yesterday.

Dill said he felt that the majority of voters are opposed to the name change. He said he thought the poll results definitely indicate the proposed name of Mt. Nittany will be defeated.

McLucas said he expected such a result at this time. He said enough voters will probably change their minds by the voting date to swing the election in favor of the new name.

He also said that when his committee started the move for the name of Mt. Nittany, the borough residents were opposed to it about ten to one.

The Daily Collegian poll showed that of 485 voters contacted, 145 favored the change to Mt. Nittany. 75 favored a change but did not like Mt. Nittany, 239 opposed any change, and 29 were still undecided as to how they will vote.

Dill said he questioned the conclusions drawn by the Daily Collegian.

Results of the poll indicated to the Collegian that the issue would probably be decided by the voters who have not made up their minds or by those who do not like the name Mt. Nittany.

Past polls conducted by the Centre Daily Times and University psychology students revealed a much greater percentage of borough residents opposed the name change.

Blood Donors' Pledge Forms Are Available

Pledge forms for students who wish to donate blood during the two-day visit of the Johnstown Bloodmobile Nov. 10 and 11 are available at the Student Union desks in Old Main and Waring Hall.

The forms must be returned by Thursday to provide time for scheduling donors. Containers for the completed forms have been placed at the two student union desks, in the Temporary Union Building, and in women's residence halls.

The Bloodmobile will be at the TUB between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. during the two-day drive. The quota for the drive is 300 pints.

Students should indicate their free hours on the pledge forms. A two-hour period is necessary to allow proper time for processing.

Donors will be notified by mail of the time they will donate. Students under 21 who wish to donate blood must have a release form signed by their parents.

Four hostesses will be present each hour to serve refreshments to donors and help with registration.

Juba Reports Trophy Theft

State College Police Chief John R. Juba said Wednesday that a complaint had been received concerning trophies stolen from fraternity houses over the weekend, and that an investigation will be started.

Marshall Dawsey, president of Delta Upsilon, reported that three trophies were stolen from the chapter house. Seven trophies were stolen from the Delta Upsilon house last year during the West Virginia weekend. Five of them were returned through the Office of the Dean of Men at West Virginia.

that the Democratic party was a war party, Stewart, who lost his right arm fighting in World War II, said: "The bill to declare World War II was passed by every member of both houses of Congress."

It was not, he contended, a Democratic economic measure, for "At that time we were well on our way to economic stability."

As far as the United States' entrance into the Korean War was concerned, Stewart said it could have been prevented by the passage of the Korean Aid bill in May, 1950. The measure, which would have granted Korea $60 million, was defeated by a 192-191 vote just a month prior to the U.S. entry into the war.

"My opponent (James Van Zandt, Republican incumbent) voted against the bill," he said.
