Gridders to Seek Fourth; Capacity Crowd Expected

By DICK McDOWELL

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 23—Penn State, a winner of the midwest, east, and the south, tries its hand at the southwest today when it battles Texas Christian's Purple Horned Frogs at Amon G. Carter Stadium here on the TCU campus.

The Lions invade this section for the first time since 1948, when coach Bob Higgins took his team to the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

Spurred by the late rise of the Frogs, a near capacity crowd is expected at the 36,000-seat stadium to see these two teams meet for the second time in history. The Frogs were a Lion victim last season at Beaver Field.

Radio Station WMAJ will carry the play-by-play of the game with Bob Prince at the microphone.

Game time is 3 p.m. EST. Coach Rip Engle's Lions, ranked in the nation's top ten teams until they lost to West Virginia last Saturday, will be looking for their fourth win of the season.

And from all indications, it won't be an easy job. Coach Abe Martin owns a quartet of talented backs and they will be running behind a 210-pound line that has been a rock of granite in three TCU victories.

Physically the Lions are at their lowest ebb since the season began, with fullbacks Bill Straub and Chuck Blockson, and center Don Balthaser on the injured list. Mentally, however, Engle's team couldn't be sharper. They're anxious to jump back on the winning side after last week's loss to West Virginia.

Big Powers Plan Talks On Controls

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 22 (P)—In their first unanimous action on disarmament since 1946, the big Western Powers, Canada and the Soviet Union today agreed on a plan for new secret talks on disarmament and prohibition of atomic and hydrogen bombs.

It appeared certain that the 60-nation Political Committee of the UN Assembly will approve the resolution laid before it by the delegations of the United States, Britain, France, Canada and the Soviet Union, and the talks will begin soon among these powers. Everyone agrees, however, that these negotiations face a long and hard road, with no guarantee of eventual agreement between East and West on these tremendous problems.

David M. Johnson, Canadian delegate, voiced this feeling in a speech announcing the agreement and warning against "hasty or irresponsible optimism."

He said the gap between East and West, especially on a method of control of any disarmament system, remains very wide and deep. But he said it is important that the five powers have agreed to co-sponsor the resolution and hailed this as an "acceptable next step" in the negotiations on disarmament.

James J. Wadsworth, United States delegate, said the United States welcomes the agreement on sponsoring the resolution and pledged the continued efforts of his government to work for achieving disarmament.

Wadsworth said the deliberations of the sub-committee will "test the extent of Russia's good faith" on this problem.

Grants Approved For Eng Research

Two research grants totaling $23,500 for supporting work in the Colleges of Engineering and Architecture have been approved by the Board of Trustees.

The National Science Foundation has provided a grant of $20,000 for support of a project to be directed by J. Norton Brennan, assistant professor of engineering research.

The Pittsburgh Corning Corporation will grant $3500 for research to be conducted by Frank A. Joy, professor of engineering research.

High School Bands Accept Invitations

Approximately 60 high school bands have already accepted invitations for the University's fifth annual "Band Day" at the Holy Cross football game, Nov. 6.

The bands come to the campus as guests of the University. They will march through borough streets in a pre-game parade and assemble on the football field for a half-time mass display.

$200 Damage Reported In Two-Car Collision

Two cars, one operated by James Babinetz, third semester student, collided Thursday at the intersection of South Allen street and Foster avenue.

John Byers, State College, was driver of the other vehicle. Police reported the cars collided when Babinetz stopped to park. Total damage was estimated at $200.

Cabinet to Discuss New Forum Fee

An All-University Cabinet committee will investigate the possibility of assessing each student between 50 cents and $1 for Community Forum, cabinet decided Thursday night.

Kirk Garber, chairman of the Student Encampment committee on cultural and social aspects, recommended that cabinet take positive action toward including an assessment for Community Forum in the student activity fee.

Garber said all students would have opportunity to hear forum speakers if this assessment were made. He said if the facilities in Schwab Auditorium were not sufficient to accommodate all students attending, Recreation Hall could be used.

Cabinet also agreed to make suggestions to a committee of 13, appointed by President Milton S. Eisenhower, concerning religion-in-life.

The committee is composed of two students in each of the Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish faiths; one faculty member of each faith; one clergy member of each faith; and Luther H. Harshbarger, University Chaplain.

The suggestions were that each of the three faiths provide a special program for the campus; that the three faiths provide a non-credit curriculum in religion which would be promoted on an inter-religious basis; that the committee provide a year-round program of firesides in the living units; and that the committee plan a brotherhood program with inter-religious, inter-racial, and international emphasis.

Cabinet also accepted another part of this report which asked cabinet to present to the University committee on space allocation that Players be given the use of the Temporary Union Building after the Hetzel Union Building is opened.

Garber also recommended that the committee on social and cultural aspects be dropped from future student encampment agendas.

Hugh Cline, sophomore class president and chairman of the encampment committee on freshman customs, reported on the two-weeks fall customs period.

He said that all the 2200 dinks were sold at the Book Exchange by the end of the first week of classes. Cline reported that 121 students violated customs and most of them had been required either to parade before the Penn State-Virginia football game or wear placards.

Cline said 85 partial exemption cards had to be issued to frosh who had lost their dinks or had them taken by high school students.

Scholarship Established

A $500 scholarship designed to encourage outstanding high school seniors to enroll in ceramics has been established at the University by the Garfield Refractories Co., of Bolivar.

$3550 Given By Foundation

Fourteen students enrolled in foundry courses at the University were awarded a total of $3550 in scholarships Thursday night.

The awards were made at a dinner held at Nittany Lion Inn by C. D. Galloway 3d, advisory chairman of the Foundry Educational Foundation.

Students who received $250 scholarships for the fall semester are John Bitner, William Happersett, Ivan Kahn, George Kulynich, John O'Hara, Robert Osborne, Joel Peabody, Thomas Petrecca, John Redmond, Robert Solomon, Joseph Steffanelli, and Michael Wallacavage.

Two graduate students, Roger Yard and John Leaman received scholarships of $350 and $200 for the fall semester.

ACS Elects Wotring

Dean Wotring, fifth semester ceramics major, has been elected president of the American Ceramic Society. Other officers elected are Edwin Tocker, vice president, and Robert Kowalczyk, secretary-treasurer.

Students enrolled in ceramics may attend the next meeting Nov. 30.

New Classroom Building

MODERNISTIC brick and glass classroom and office building, as the architect envisions it, will look like this. Plans for the building, to be constructed north of Pollock Road, across from the Hetzel Union Building, and east of Osmond Laboratory, have been approved by the executive committee of the Board of Trustees.

The main entrance at right leads to the three floors of offices which form the front of the structure and to the large L-shaped wing with its four floors of classrooms. Sixty-one classrooms with seats for 2134 students, and 102 office with facilities for 113 faculty members will be housed in the building. The General State Authority will construct it.

5 Probing Journ Plans For School

The five-man committee, appointed several weeks ago by President Milton S. Eisenhower to establish a School of Journalism at the University, has been meeting weekly to draw up policies and objectives for the Journalism school. Lawrence Dennis, administrative assistant to the president, said yesterday.

Members of the committee are Ben Euwema, Dean of the College of the Liberal Arts, chairman; Richard C. Maloney, Assistant Dean of the College of the Liberal Arts; James W. Markham, associate professor of journalism; Donald W. Davis, professor of journalism; and Dennis.

The first meeting of the committee with President Eisenhower was "purely organizational," Euwema said.

After the first meeting, Euwema said there is a possibility the school will be established before the end of the year.

The committee has been discussing the possibility of establishing a School of Journalism and Communications, to include all communication media study at the University.

Euwema said yesterday that when plans are completed by the committee, they will be submitted to President Eisenhower for final action. He added that nothing definite has been drawn up yet.

Chem Group to Hear Research Supervisor

Walter D. Celmer, chemical research supervisor for the Charles Pfizer Co., Brooklyn, N.Y., will speak at an open meeting of the central Pennsylvania section of the American Chemical Society at 8:15 p.m. Monday in Osmond Laboratory.

No Action On Holiday

No action was taken yesterday on the recommendation that classes be dismissed on Saturday, Oct. 30 to allow students to attend the football game between Penn State and the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, as the University Council of Administration did not meet.

The council, which will meet Tuesday morning, according to Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs, must give final approval to the proposal before the half-holiday is allowed. The action was initiated Thursday night, when All-University Cabinet passed a motion calling for the half-holiday providing that classwork be made up at the discretion of instructors.
