

State, Lion Parties Will Pick Class Candidates Tomorrow

Lion and State Parties will hold elections for class clique officers and nominate and elect candidates for class officers at 7 p.m. tomorrow.

The elections for class clique officers in both parties last week were declared illegal by the elections committee in conjunction with the party clique chairmen.

The elections were disputed because of ballot box stuffing.

Clique chairmen of both parties agreed to use uniform official ballots for the elections tomorrow.

Lion Party

Lion Party will renominate and vote for all but eight of the class clique officers and make final nominations and elect freshman and sophomore candidates for class officers at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 121 Sparks.

The elections for State Party class-clique officers last Sunday were declared illegal by the elections committee.

Because they were unopposed and were automatically elected, the election of eight class clique officers will stand despite the discrepancies.

Nominees so far for sophomore class president candidates are Robert Gellman, John Kirsh, Augustus Mercurio, Adolph Seidensticker, and Samuel Wolcott.

The freshman nominees for class president are John Robb, Robert Shannon, and George Willis.

Candidates for senior class clique chairman are Charles Bradner and Sidney Goldblatt; sophomore class clique chairman, Robert Howe and Robert Spidaro; and freshman class clique chairman, Craig Kaufman, Edward Long, and Charles Rusk.

The ballots will be printed on a uniform ballot and numbered to prohibit stuffing the ballot box.

Students will be admitted to the meeting only if they bring their matriculation cards and have already signed the clique membership list.

Grotto Sends 5 To Convention

Five members of the Nittany Grotto, spelunking organization, will attend the meeting of the Mid-Appalachian section of the National Speleological Society this weekend at Shippensburg State Teachers College.

Making the trip are Jack Stellmak, James Walczak, David Fenstermacher, Karl Francis and Paul Fisher.

At the meeting the students will present scientific papers of the local club's explorations, and Fenstermacher will compete to retain his liars championship. The winner of the contest will receive a brass spittoon.

Nittany Grotto meets every second and fourth Thursday in Mineral Institute Building.

Open Houses Set By Fraternities

Fraternities will hold open houses from 2 to 5 p.m. tomorrow for all freshmen.

John Russell, Interfraternity Council rushing chairman, said yesterday the open houses will enable freshmen to compare fraternities and enable fraternities to meet the freshmen.

Russell urged the freshmen to visit as many fraternities as possible. He said freshmen should be sure to find out the cost of the fraternities in which they are interested.

Freshmen will be given fraternity preference cards Wednesday. Russell said. They may either mail these to the dean of men's office or hand them in at the office.

Conference to Receive Sinclair's Practice Bill

Benjamin Sinclair, seventh semester arts and letters major, will present a practice bill to the Intercollegiate Conference on Government Monday. The group will meet at 7 p.m. in 108 Willard.

A report on the recent state executive committee meeting in Harrisburg will be given, according to Robert Dennis, president.

Prexy to Be Contributor To Magazine

President Milton S. Eisenhower will be one of the contributors to "American Heritage," a magazine which will trace the development of the American historical heritage.

The magazine will be published every two months in hard-cover book form. The first issue will appear in December.

The magazine will be sponsored by the Society of American Historians and the American Association for State and Local History. Bruce Catton, noted historian and Pulitzer Prize winner, will edit the publication.

Other contributors include Elmer Davis, noted news commentator; Adlai Stevenson, Democratic candidate for president in 1952; Henry Steele Commager, noted author and historian, and Bernard De Voto, political critic.

Eight Changes Made Among Staff Members

The Board of Trustees has announced eight faculty and staff changes.

Patricia A. Kelley was named assistant professor and assistant 4-H leader of the home economics extension in Lawrence County; Francena L. Nolan was named assistant professor of home management and rural sociology; William F. Johnstone was named associate professor of agricultural economics extension.

June A. Waterhouse was named associate extension home economist; Carolyn E. Lyon was named assistant State home economics extension leader and associate professor of home economics extension.

Delmer P. Duvall was named production manager of the Motion Picture and Recording Studio; Leslie P. Greenhill was named associate director of the Instructional Film Research Program; and Charles McIntyre was named coordinator of research for the program.

Ag Council Picture

The Agriculture Student Council LaVie picture will be taken at 8:55 p.m. Tuesday at the Penn State Photo Shop. Men should wear dark suits and ties, and women should wear white blouses and dark skirts.

State Party

State Party will elect freshman and sophomore clique officers and make final nominations for freshman and sophomore class officers at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 10 Sparks.

Voting was held on freshman and sophomore clique officers last week, but the ballots were declared illegal by Rae Delle-Donne, clique chairman.

Preliminary nominations for the class officers were also held last week.

Nominees for sophomore class president were Joseph Enyedy and Thomas Law. Nominees for freshman class president were Darryl Wright, Thomas Kessinger, James Kistler, Arthur Schravensande, and Benjamin Williams.

Nominees for freshman class clique chairman were David Faust, David Tressler, Daniel Revie, and Frank Jaxheimer.

The four nominees for sophomore class clique chairman are Robert Heck, Steven Jordan, William Miller and Robert Whitmore. The State Party steering committee will meet at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow in 108 Willard.

Junior Talent Show Tryouts to Be Held

Tryouts for the Junior Class Talent Show will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. Monday and Tuesday in 405 Old Main.

The show will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 3 in the Temporary Union Building under the chairmanship of Michael Rosenfeld.

Tryouts are limited to juniors and prizes will be awarded to winners.

Bunche Tickets Ready Thursday

Students other than business administration majors will be able to hear Ralph Bunche speak on Nov. 4. About 500 tickets will be available at the Student Union desk in Old Main beginning Thursday. Matriculation cards must be presented for tickets.

About 500 business administration students will also be able to receive tickets Thursday in 106 Sparks. They must also present matriculation cards to receive tickets.

Tickets will be honored only until doors are opened to the public at 7:45 p.m. Bunche will speak at 8 p.m. in Schwab Auditorium.

Cabinet OK's Request for Course

All-University Cabinet Thursday night approved a recommendation that a course on international understanding be established which would be open to every student at the University.

The report also recommended that the scheduling committee in each college be strongly encouraged to explore the possibilities of integrating such a course as a requirement.

The recommendation was included in a report of the cabinet academic policies committee, presented by Patricia Ellis, president of the Women's Student Government Association.

The recommendation must now be approved by the University Senate.

Originally, the report recommended that a course on international understanding be required by every student before graduation.

However, the resolution was amended by Joan Packard, Leonides president, due to objections registered by representatives of the technical schools.

Barbara Foss, president of the chemistry and physics student council, said her group felt that because of the limited opportunities for scheduling extra hours in the technical schools, it would be impossible to make such a course required.

George Yingling, substituting for George Kulynych, president of the engineering student council, expressed the same feeling.

The report also recommended that a one-day study period be provided for, between the end of classes and the beginning of final examinations. Miss Ellis pointed out that the extra day would not lengthen the exam period.

Cabinet also approved the es-

'Mr. State' To Highlight 'Belle Ball'

The crowning of Mr. Penn State will highlight the annual Belle-Hop Ball sponsored by the Hotel Greeters Club tonight from 9 to midnight in Recreation Hall. The five finalists are Jesse Arnelle, John Carpenter, Robert Homan, Robert Rohland, and Ronald Weidenhammer.

One of the decorations on the main table will be a large, carved, ice bell hop. The 300-pound cake of ice is being carved by Mark Wallace, fifth semester art education major.

The theme of a South American fiesta will be carried out in the decorations and settings. Bowls with dahlias, chafing dishes with Spanish food, and waiters with outfits of cummerbunds, open shirts, and scarves will all blend into the Spanish atmosphere.

Included in the decorations throughout the room are gourds, empty wine bottles, and Spanish figures on the wall. To add to the festivities, coat checkers will be dressed for the occasion.

Mr. Penn State will be chosen by student applause. Franklin Moore, manager of the Penn Harris Hotel of Harrisburg, and president of the Inter-American Hotels Association, will crown the winner. Moore will also serve as master of ceremonies.

Music for this informal dance will be provided by Lee Vincent and his orchestra.

Tickets selling for $2.50 may be obtained at the Student Union desk in Old Main, from members of the Greeters Club, or at the entrance to Rec Hall.

The person having the winning coat check stub will be given a free tie.

State Sociology Group to Meet

The Pennsylvania Sociological Society will hold its annual meeting today at the University.

Registration will be held at 10:30 a.m. in 123 Sparks and the opening session will be held at 11 a.m. in the Mineral Science auditorium.

Robert E. Clark, associate professor and acting head of the department of sociology, will welcome the delegates. Jessie Bernard, professor of sociology, will speak on "Observations of a Sociologist on a European Itinerary."

A luncheon will be held at the Autoport Restaurant and the business session will follow at 1:30 p.m.

Richard DuWors, chairman of the department of sociology at Bucknell University, will speak at the afternoon session at the Autoport. His topic will be "Jeffersonian Democracy in Action."

W. Virginia to Get Letter on Trophies

Edward Pollock, assistant to the dean of men in charge of fraternity affairs, said yesterday the dean of men's office is going to write to the dean of students at the University of West Virginia in an effort to recover the trophies stolen from fraternities Saturday.

Delta Upsilon and Lambda Chi Alpha have reported thefts. Pollock said he has received no reports of theft from other fraternities.

Seven trophies were stolen last year from Delta Upsilon during the West Virginia weekend. Five of the trophies were returned through the dean's office at West Virginia.

BusAd Council Gets Request For Old Texts

The Business Administration Student Council recently received a letter from Stillman University in the Philippine Islands requesting used books from students at the University.

The appeal was made as a result of a fire at Stillman which badly damaged its library and College of Business Administration. The request was made especially for books used in business courses.

Business majors who wish to contribute may bring used books to 108 Sparks.

Eight new business organizations have been elected for representation on the Business Administration Student Council. The groups are Chi Theta, women's honorary business sorority; Delta Sigma Pi and Alpha Kappa Psi, businessmen's professional fraternities; the Marketing Club, Accounting Club, Insurance Club, Management Club, and Delta Nu Alpha, transportation fraternity.

December Draft Call

State selective service headquarters will draft 1507 men during December, the Associated Press has reported.

December Draft Call

State selective service headquarters will draft 1507 men during December, the Associated Press has reported.

The committee will work with the encampment academic policies committee.

It was also recommended that a system of evaluation sheets for use in each college be prepared by the college student councils in cooperation with the deans and faculty in each college.

In other cabinet action, Nancy Gray, fifth semester arts and letters major, was appointed personnel manager of the Penn State Book Exchange. The appointment was made by All-University Vice President, John Speer, in the name of All-University President Jesse Arnelle, who was with the football team.
