Lions Outplay TCU But Drop 2d, 20-7

By DICK McDOWELL

If statistics could determine the outcome of a football game, Penn State might own a 4-1 record today instead of its 3-2 chart. But Saturday's frustrating battle with Texas Christian was decided on 100 yards of Texas turf and they still pay off on points scored.

The Horned Frogs 20-7 victory over Rip Engle's gridders at Fort Worth's Amon Carter Stadium has to stand as is, despite the fact that the Texans were outgained and generally outplayed by the Nittany Lions.

But it was a team that knew how to take advantage of the breaks and turned a fumble (one of five), a blocked kick, and an intercepted pass into touchdowns, while the Lions saw several scoring chances fizzle when the cards were laid on the table.

17,000 Witness Game

A partisan crowd of 17,000 held down by threatening rain, saw the favored Frogs score two quick touchdowns late in the first period and another in the fourth, while the Lions went scoreless until only 47 seconds remained in the game.

The Lions pounded the Frogs for 20 first downs during the contest, allowing only 10, and gathered in 285 yards offensively while Abe Martin's club accounted for 214.

Again it was Lenny Moore who played the biggest part in keeping the erring Lions in the game. He ran for 109 yards, bringing his season total to 574 in five games, and scored Penn State's only tally when he snagged quarterback Bobby Hoffman's 29 yard pass in the TCU endzone.

Hoffman Engineers Drive

Hoffman, who hadn't been in a game since Illinois, was another hero in defeat Saturday. He engineered a 78-yard drive late in the third period, and had charge when State finally crossed the goal line in the fourth quarter.

He, Don Bailey, and Milt Plum, combined for 12 pass completions in 23 attempts for 125 yards in this season. Hoffman hit on four of five tosses.

But, even with all their ground power and passing prowess, the Nittanians didn't have it when it counted Saturday, and in the meantime, they handed the Frogs their scores.

The cause of the deaths has not yet been determined, according to Centre County coroner John Weber. An autopsy was ordered performed on the three victims, but as of late yesterday evening the cause was still unknown.

Police said all members of the family were reported to have suffered from a virus illness recently. Mrs. Hall had been absent from work most of last week. Mr. Hall was reported to have left work early Friday.

A half-holiday for Saturday's football game with the University of Pennsylvania was declared by special action of the University Council of Administration yesterday, Lawrence Dennis, secretary of the council and administrative assistant to the president, announced.

As a result of this action, there will be no classes Saturday morning.

The half-holiday action grew out of a recommendation from All-University Cabinet last Thursday night. In declaring a half-holiday,

Over 2700 tickets are still available for Saturday's Penn State-Pennsylvania football game, according to Edward Czekaj, athletic association assistant business manager. Twenty-five hundred seats, which are allocated to the University, are located in the lower north stands, running goal line to goal line. Two-hundred and forty are in the west stands. The latter were made available by special request of the ticket office.

Today, the council noted with approval the stipulations that were incorporated into the cabinet proposal. These were:

1. There will be no other appeal from cabinet this semester regarding football holidays.
2. Class hours will be made up as specified by the individual instructor.
3. A series of steps will be taken by various student leaders and organizations to assure orderly conduct by University students attending the Penn game in Philadelphia.

Only Half-Holiday

In regard to the first stipulation, there will be no possibility of obtaining another half-holiday for the game with the University of Pittsburgh, the only other away game. It was brought out in cabinet before the Penn half-holiday was recommended that the holiday be requested for the Pitt game instead.

Class hours must be made up at the discretion of the individual instructors. In previous half-holidays, students were not required to make up the classes.

Request Orderly Conduct

Steps will be taken by various student leaders and organizations to assure orderly conduct by students at the game, John Speer, All-University vice president, said. Speer stated that appeals to the students for orderly conduct in Philadelphia this weekend will be made through Thursday's pep rally, the Interfraternity Council, and editorials in the Daily Collegian.

The football half-holiday was declared for the Pitt game last year. The holiday was dropped this year because of the calendar (Continued on page eight)

Defense Plan OK Predicted by Dulles

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, speaking at the first televised presidential Cabinet meeting in history, tonight predicted ratification of the new Western Europe defense plan and forecast failure for Soviet attempts to smash it.

Reporting in intimate fashion to President Dwight D. Eisenhower, other members of the Cabinet and the nation at large, Dulles said the Paris conference which produced the alliance agreements had to succeed "because the price of failure had become prohibitive."

With Eisenhower seated at his side in the White House Cabinet room, Dulles—just back from Paris—expressed confidence that each of the nations which signed the agreements will ratify them through their parliaments.

Dulles flatly ruled out any new Big Four talks with the Russians about Western European problems until the Allies have further closed ranks to create new strength.

"Then there may be a new basis for discussions which doesn't exist at the present time," he said. The precedent-setting nationwide TV-radio session from the White House was a chatty, intimate sort of thing with the American people getting their first look into the stately Cabinet room while the meeting actually was in progress.

Dulles said he thought European integration and unity under the new agreements would be "quite comparable and equally effective" with what would have been achieved under the old, ill-

Lonergan Refutes Financial Charges

Approximately 200 members of Local 417, Building Service Employees International, Friday night heard Robert P. Lonergan, international representative, refute the charges leveled by members of Local 67, State, County, and Municipal Employees International.

Martin Hellz, chief accountant for the State, County, and Municipal Employees group, reported that $2218.22 in union funds was unaccounted for during the first seven months of this year.

He based his charge on five points:

1. During the period from January to July, the union deposited on account $3404.07. According to Hellz' figures, deposits should have totaled $4271.50. He based his figures on the dues and membership fees which should have been collected during this period. Lonergan called the difference "perfectly logical" because of the fact that during the months of June, July, August, and most of September, there is no school and the union membership is cut almost in half.

Deposit of $44.40

2. During September, the union's income showed a deposit of $44.40. Hellz said that assuming the union operated normally during September, $572.25 should have been collected. He based his estimate on dues which he said should have been collected from 375 members, the average for the past seven months.

Lonergan said the reason only $44.40 was collected during September was because a large part of the membership had paid their dues after it had been voted to disaffiliate with Local 67. He said it was voted to use the money collected during September to pay dues to the Building Service Employees organization.

Bonds Found Missing

3. After the split in the union, at least $500 worth of government bonds were found missing. Lonergan said that the bonds "supposedly" missing were purchased during 1943, 1944, and 1945. He said they had all matured and the funds were re-deposited to the account of Local 67.

4. The expenditure of union (Continued on page eight)
