

Discuss Geneva Conference

BARBARA ESTEP, seventh semester arts and letters major, and Paul Zrowka, president of the International Relations Club, discuss the Geneva Conference with Robert Oliver, head of the speech department, after his talk to the club. Oliver attended the conference in Switzerland where he served as an adviser to the Republic of Korea delegation.

Reds Winning Asia, Indo-China -- Oliver

By ALICE GRUBB

Communists are winning the cold war and taking control of Southeast Asia and Indochina, Robert T. Oliver, head of the Speech department, said, in a speech to the International Relations Club. Oliver's talk was based on his nine weeks in Switzerland at the Geneva Conference as the adviser to the Korean delegation.

Oliver said he came away from the conference feeling very depressed at the lack of unity among the democratic delegations and at the outlook for world peace.

During the conference the 16 major democratic nations held a meeting each morning to discuss their stand on issues, agreeing to support the decision as a body at the convention, he said. However, the partnership agreements were violated and the democratic delegations lost their unity, Oliver said.

Britain's Anthony Eden, one of the offenders, violated the United States' settlement proposal to have a North Korean election under the supervision of the United Nations, thus allowing the North Koreans to have a free vote. Oliver said Eden proposed an election supervised by only five nations which would be selected at the Geneva Conference.

Oliver said Eden's reply to questions from the other democratic delegations that Britain must look out for herself and follow her own policies to keep in favor with public opinion was a direct reflection of the general atmosphere at Geneva.

"All over the world," Oliver said, "the democratic governments are in control by a small majority. Peace, progress, and prosperity are the promises of both sides."

Elected officials hesitate to place their election in jeopardy by taking strong political stands (Continued on page eight)

Co-Captains Ask Good Conduct For Penn Game

In an effort to prevent a recurrence of last year's aftermath of the Penn State-Pennsylvania football game, James Garrity and Donald Balthaser, football team co-captains, have asked students, in a letter to the Daily Collegian, to conduct themselves in a manner that will be favorable to the University.

The letter stated: "No matter when or where the football team travels, the conduct of the players, both on and off the field, reflects back on the University."

"Naturally, the conduct of the students also is subject to much criticism; therefore, we sincerely hope that the action taking place this weekend at Philadelphia will be favorable."

"We know that everyone is anticipating a big weekend, but let's all have fun in a way that will not bring discredit to our University."

Library Plans Special Room On Humanities

In cooperation with the Liberal Arts College, the Pattee Library plans to open a Humanities room which will house a collection of books dealing with classics in language and literature.

The principal purpose of the room will be to make more books available to undergraduate students and to house all the books on these related subjects in one room. The use of this room is not confined to those in the College of the Liberal Arts.

Ralph W. McComb, University librarian, said although material will be added to the room throughout the semester it will not be fully equipped until the beginning of the second semester. Decisions on what the room is to contain are responsible for the delay.

The room is located on the first floor of the new left wing of the library, to the left of the open shelf room. The room originally was to be used as an extra student reading room.

The books will probably be of the circulating and non-circulating types, depending on their value.

McComb expressed the hope that students will not abuse these increased library facilities.

Cold Wave Due To Hit Campus

Yesterday's rains, the first to fall since last Wednesday, heralded a cold wave which is scheduled to send the mercury tumbling to the freezing mark this evening.

According to the University meteorology department, a cold front passed through State College yesterday afternoon followed by a large high pressure area bringing cold air down from Canada.

Today will be partly cloudy and tomorrow fair and a little colder.

Frosh Fraternity Cards

Freshmen should turn in fraternity preference cards at the Dean of Men's office today or tomorrow.

GOOD FOOD REASONABLE PRICES
Breakfast - Lunch - Dinner

SEAFOOD
Scallops - Oysters - Shrimp
CAMPUS RESTAURANT

142 E. College Ave. (Opp. Old Main)

HALLOWEEN CUPCAKES and COOKIES

You can now make your party a howling success with our delicious oven fresh cup cakes and cookies
Phone or drop in for your order today

Going to Phila.?

Why not take your hostess a box of delicious Russell Stover Candies? Go down to Griggs Pharmacy today and get her a box of assorted chocolates, assorted creams, or home-fashioned favorites for only $1.25 a pound.

GRIGGS PHARMACY

College Ave. Opp. Old Main

Ag Council Opposes NSA Appropriation

Agriculture Student Council went on record Tuesday night as opposing a $100 appropriation for National Student Association.

Last year the University became a member of NSA, which is also a member of International Student Association. Upon gaining membership All-University Cabinet voted to NSA $600 of the $1500 it holds for student councils.

The $1500 is to be divided by cabinet among the nine councils represented. Agriculture Council feels that its budget is as tight as it can possibly manage now. This, it claims, is partly due to the $600 appropriation made to NSA last year.

NSA has requested the $100 to pay its national dues in order to have sufficient additional cards for the year's activities. However, council decided that, since they are already running over their budget, they could not stand any further loss.

At present council is receiving $100 from cabinet and twenty-five cents from each student enrolled in an agriculture curriculum. This does not meet expenses so they will have need for between $200 and $300 a year from the agriculture activities fund. This fund had been in the hands of the faculty until last year when it was turned over to the council to help cover their expenses.

Cabinet Report Given

Further business of the meeting included the cabinet report by George Williams, president of the council. Williams stated that he thought the new system for making recommendations for committees would give more people from agriculture a chance to get on these committees.

Fees to be paid to council by all the clubs represented were announced. A committee report on Howdy Night was given, and improvements for next year were discussed.

Ag Hill Party Discussed

A discussion of plans for the Ag Hill Party was led by Daryl Heasley, general chairman. The party will be held in Recreation Hall November 13. Tryouts for master of ceremonies will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday in 103 Agriculture. The expected attendance for the party is 1500.

The appointment of James Justin as head of the committee for the collection of books for Silman

Hall Family Death Theory Substantiated

Further investigation into the deaths of Clyde N. Hall, associate professor of dairy husbandry, and his family, today added further weight to the theory that the deaths were caused by carbon monoxide fumes leaking from a rusty furnace pipe.

The bodies of Hall and his youngest son, James, were found Monday morning in their home in Pleasant Gap. Mrs. Hall was also found in the house in a semi-conscious condition. She died later in the day at the Centre County Hospital. She was employed as a secretary in the Alumni Association office.

Autopsies have been performed on all three victims by Dr. Carlo Bollogna of the Williamsport Hospital. Dr. Mary Willard, professor of chemistry and noted criminologist, also tested the body contents.

Analysis of blood and stomach contents brought out traces of carbon monoxide. State Police believe the gas originated from a leaky furnace pipe which was discovered yesterday.

No final verdict has been issued in the case as yet and authorities are still continuing the investigation.

The three bodies were shipped to Woodville, N.H. yesterday afternoon, where funeral services will be held today or tomorrow.

Language Examination

Language reading examinations for candidates for advanced degrees will be given from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday. French and Spanish will be given in 316 Sparks and German in 228 Sparks.

University in the Philippines was approved by the council.

PROM TIME!

The smartest looking couples at the Junior Prom will be those who've been to Balfurd's. Only at Balfurd's do your clothes receive a personalized dry cleaning and pressing, fit for the extra special Prom date. Bring or send your party clothes (and all those other clothes) to Balfurd's.

Balfurd

Dry Cleaners - Tailors

307 W. Beaver

AD 7-7861