

Hat Women to Run Carnival, Ball, Sing

Mardi Gras weekend, Nov. 12 to 14, for the first time will be jointly sponsored by the women's hat societies. The weekend will include a New Orleans mardi gras, a formal dance, and an all-University sing.

Mardi Gras carnival, sponsored by Mortar Board, senior women's hat society, will be held from 8 to 11 p.m. Nov. 12 in Recreation Hall.

Scholarship Fund

Proceeds from the carnival and booths will go to the Charlotte E. Ray Scholarship Fund, a project of Mortar Board. Miss Ray is a former dean of women at the University.

Finalists for Mardi Gras king will be selected at the carnival by penny-votes made at the booths of sponsoring organizations. Booths will be sponsored by sorority and independent women's groups.

The king will be crowned at the Mardi Ball on Nov. 13, sponsored by Chimes, junior women's hat society, from 9 p.m. to midnight in Rec Hall. He will be chosen from the three finalists by applause from the audience.

May Sponsor Candidate

All women's groups entered in the Mardi Gras carnival may sponsor one candidate. Pictures of the candidates should be submitted to the Student Union desk in Old Main by 5 p.m. Thursday. Pictures must be 5 inches by 7 inches with the name, semester, and curriculum of the candidate on the back.

The final event of Mardi Gras weekend will be the all-University Sing at 2 p.m. Nov. 14 in Schwab Auditorium. The sing will be sponsored by Scrolls, senior women's hat society, and Chimes, junior women's hat society.

Research Club Reorganizes, Holds Elections

The organization is now the University Research Club.

Officers of the new club are Norris D. Blackburn, associate professor of economic entomology, president; Jesse Bernard, professor of sociology, vice president; John E. Nicholas, professor of agricultural engineering, secretary-treasurer.

The new president named Haskell B. Curry, professor of mathematics, Ralph W. McComb, University librarian, and P. F. English, professor of wildlife management, as a committee to draft a constitution which will broaden the scope of activities to include faculty and graduate students engaged in research and others interested in research.

The University Research Club will meet monthly. New officers, comprising the temporary executive committee, meet this week to arrange a program for the fiscal year's operations.

Dating Code Adjustments Announced

Women guests may remain in fraternity houses until 2 a.m. Saturday this weekend according to the latest adjustments in the Interfraternity Council dating code made by the Senate Committee on Student Affairs, Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs, has announced.

The amended code states: "On Friday and Saturday evenings, women guests may remain in fraternity houses until 1 a.m., and on the four nights of designated big weekend dances until 2 a.m., if the intention to have such guests under proper chaperonage is registered with the Dean of Men and the Dean of Women."

The other change in the code states that if full-time resident housemothers are employed and present, women guests may be entertained at the following times: "Monday through Thursday, noon until 8 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, noon until the hour each woman student is due in her dormitory, but in no case shall any women guests be in the house later than 1 a.m. except on the four nights of designated big weekend dances when the hour shall be 2 a.m., and as approved by the Dean of Men for special occasions."

Previously, the code required all women guests to be out of fraternity houses by 1 a.m. This regulation conflicted with women's dormitory hours as they had 2 a.m. permissions the night of All-University dances and Nittany Ball. Kenworthy said that there was no argument against allowing women to remain in houses until 2 a.m. and that it was overlooked when the code was revised last spring.

Tanabe Will Do Calling At UCA Square Dance

Tsunco Y. Tanabe, assistant professor of dairy husbandry, will be the caller for the University Christian Association square dance to be held from 7 to 9 tonight in the Temporary Union Building.

Kevin Gelderman, fifth semester business administration major, will teach the basic techniques of square dancing at 6:45 p.m. Folk and square dancing will be included on the program.

Androcles to Meet

Androcles, junior men's hat society, will meet at 7:30 tonight at Acacia.

Players to Present 'Mister Roberts'

Players' production of Thomas Heggen's "Mr. Roberts" will open its Junior Prom weekend run in Schwab Auditorium with a late show at 9:45 p.m. Thursday and will also be presented at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday nights.

Players are presenting a late show on Thursday so that no conflict will result with an 8 p.m. speech by Ralph Bunche in Schwab Auditorium. Coeds will receive late permissions to attend the Thursday night production but must present their ticket stubs when they return to their dormitories.

Tickets for the reserved seat Schwab show are available at the Student Union desk in Old Main. Tickets cost $60 for Thursday night's production, and $1 for the Friday and Saturday night shows.

Fonda in Original Role

Henry Fonda was the original Mr. Roberts in the New York production which opened on February 18, 1948. Harvey Lembeck, the movie and original "Animal" of "Stalag 17," played Insignia; Ralph Meeker was seen as Mannion; and David Wayne, the star of the New York production, "The Teahouse of the August Moon," was Ensign Pulver. Jocelyn Brando, sister of Marlon Brando, was the sole woman member of the cast, as Lieutenant Ann Girard.

Received Well By Critics

"Mr. Roberts," which was staged by Joshua Logan, has been called the "most successful war play of the American theatre since 'What Price Glory?'" John Mason Brown, the critic, called it "tough-fibered, muscular, and exuberant in its animalism," and "wonderfully unromantic and unorthodox" in its realization "that boredom is one of the chief conditions and horrors of war." At the same time it is appealingly romantic as a tribute to the young officer-hero who was eager to see active service instead of navigating constantly on a supply ship from "apathy to tedium and back again."

Marriages

Mr. and Mrs. Abraham B. Karp of Altoona announce the marriage of their daughter Janet to Lawrence Mahrer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Mahrer of Cleveland, Ohio.
