

Moore Still 2nd, Gains in Rushing

Arizona's Art Lupino maintains his national rushing leadership again this week but Penn State's halfback speedster Lenny Moore is just one step behind him as collegiate football moves into its final weeks.

Lupino, who has led the running parade every week but one, has 917 yards from scrimmage while Moore trails with 843.

Lightning Lenny trailed the Wildcat ace by 175 yards before last Saturday but moved to within 74 yards of first place with a 126-yard total against Holy Cross while Lupino got only 25 against Texas Tech.

Lupino suffered a head injury Saturday and, although he is expected to play, he may see only limited duty this week. However, he has three more games to play while Penn State has only two. Arizona plays a ten-game schedule.

Ninth in Total Offense

Despite his fine yardage production Saturday, the Lion flash dropped one place in the total offense division. He is ninth in that department.

Teamwise Penn State moved up to the number six spot in rushing yardage. Their 405 yards against the Crusaders gave them a total of 1950 rushing yards and 2426 total yards gained which is enough to put Rip Engle's squad in the 15th slot among the nation's total offensive leaders.

Defensively the Lions are ninth in the nation. They've allowed opponents only 723 rushing yards. Their best day was Saturday when they held Holy Cross to a -32 on the ground.

Could Break Two Records

Moore, probably the most exciting runner in Penn State history, has a three-fold job ahead of him Saturday when Penn State meets Rutgers University in the final home game of the season. The Lion swiftness is within reach of two more Penn State records and of course, he might catch up with Lupino.

Moore needs only 188 yards more to break the Penn State total offensive mark and three touchdowns to better the touchdown record for one season. He'll probably top both eventually.

Lupino Has Edge

However, catching Lupino is a bigger job. With an extra game edge, the Arizona back appears to be a pretty good bet to hold on to his lead.

Penn State's game with the Scarlet will mark the sixth meeting between the two schools. The Lions hold a 4-1 edge in the series, which had its origin in 1918. Last year Rip Engle's team scored a 54-26 victory after trailing 13-0 at one point in the first half.

Four Teams Advance in IM Action

By FRAN FANUCCI

Two fraternity and two independent teams advanced into the intramural football semi-finals in Beaver Field action last night.

The Fireballs beat the Phantoms 13-0, McKee Barfers edged out the Iron Men in an overtime contest, 1-0, Phi Delta Theta nosed out Phi Gamma Delta in another overtime 1-0, and in the final game, Phi Kappa beat Tau Kappa Epsilon, 6-2.

By defeating the Phantoms, the Fireballs extended their winning streak to 21. The first Fireball touchdown came on a 60-yard punt return with Jim Coleman scoring. A few minutes later Walt Laska hit John Pepe on a 40-yard pass for the second and last TD of the game.

Score On 2nd Play

In the second independent game of the evening, McKee Barfers scored on the second play in an overtime period to cap a close, but hard fought victory. The so-called score came when the Barfers crossed into their opponents territory on a circus catch by Bill Gallagher.

Phi Delta Theta, showing a strong offense and a good defense, squeezed by "never say die" Phi Gamma Delta, as Frank DiSalle and Ted Potter combined to score all the first downs. Phi Delta had three first downs to the opposition's one.

Pass Good For Score

In the final contest Phi Kappa defeated Tau Kappa Epsilon on a first half TD pass from Bill Smith to Bill McCann. TKE acquired its only points when Jack Gruber caught John Kunda in the endzone for a safety.

In semi-final action tonight Delta Sigma Phi plays Sigma Pi, Dorm 27 meets Pollock 4, The Fireballs take on the McKee Barfers, and Phi Delta Theta battles Phi Kappa.

Attendance at football games at Beaver Field this season has been on the upswing. The trend of increasing crowds has prevailed throughout Eastern football circles.

Forfeit Costly To IM Swimmers

Sigma Pi and Alpha Chi Rho were all set to enter a victory-deciding final event in intramural swimming last night at Glennland Pool, when the latter was forced to forfeit, giving Sigma Pi a 25-16 win the easy way. In other meets, Phi Kappa Tau outswam Phi Delta Theta, 24-13, and Delta Sigma Phi drowned Theta Delta Chi, 30-6.

Although Sigma Pi had taken firsts in the free, back, and breast-stroke events and also in diving, Alpha Chi Rho managed to gather all the seconds and thirds and trailed, 20-16, heading into the relay. It was discovered, however, that Alpha Chi Rho did not have enough men to compete, and the event and victory went to Sigma Pi.

Forfeit wins in diving and the relay event plus first place swimming by Duke Miller and Bill Kiser led the Delta Sigs to their easy win.

Harriers Will Seek Seventh IC4A Title

Penn State's cross-country team will be gunning for its seventh Intercollegiate Amateur Athletic Association of America crown Monday at Van Cortlandt Park, N.Y.

Although the first IC4A cross-country title race was held in 1908, Penn State did not win the crown until 1926. However, the Lions won the title the next two years, and then, after losing to Penn in 1929, copped it again the following season.

Cornell won the first four runnings of the IC4A hill-and-dale championship race, and, after winning the title again in 1913, retired the first cup. A team must win five legs on the trophy in order to gain permanent possession.

Spartans Retire Cup

Michigan State retired the second cup, winning the title five consecutive seasons—1933-37.

Rhode Island, Manhattan, and Michigan State have each won three IC4A title races since the third cup was put up in 1938. Michigan State is the defending titlist this year. The Spartans copped the crown in 1952 and 1953.

Cornell has won the championship nine times, more than any other team. Michigan State is second with eight victories, and the Lions are third with six.

Penn State owns two legs on the present cup, having won in 1950 and 1951. In 1952 the Nittany harriers finished fourth, and last year they moved up one notch to third.

This season the Lions' chances of winning are dim. But Penn

State Coach Chick Werner has pointed out that the squad is better than the regular-season record of one win and four losses indicates. Werner said on Monday that the Nittany harriers have done wonders during practice sessions, but that they have not been able to perform up to par against competition.

Only two Nittany runners are back from last year's race. Doug Moorhead, who finished 23rd, and Ted Garrett, who came in 33rd, will be running again this season.

Six Lions to Run

Other harriers who will be competing for Penn State in the run for the roses are Don Mowry, Don Woodrow, John Chillrud, and Jim Pastorius. Garrett and Chillrud are seniors, Moorhead and Pastorius are juniors, and Mowry and Woodrow are sophomores.

Pitt, Cornell, and Manhattan are among the top threats to cop this year's title. All three teams defeated Penn State this season. Pitt, which has won 17 consecutive regular-season meets, is probably the team to beat.

Two Overtime Contests Highlight IM Cage Play

Two overtime contests highlighted the intramural basketball program Tuesday night.

The Helenic Club jumped off to a 14-5 halftime lead over the Mibs, but the latter squad came back strongly in the second half and caught up as the final buzzer sounded, 18-18.

In the two minute overtime that followed, Ernest Kaneshwisher the nets to give the Helenic Club a 20-18 victory.

The other game was even more dramatic. The McElwain Men bounced back from a 14-9 halftime deficit to tie the Pershing Rifles, 22-22 as regulation time ran out.

Led by John Bateman, who scored 11 points, the McElwain Men kept up with the Rifles and were deadlocked, 24-24, at the end of the first overtime. The second, or sudden death, overtime—first team to score a goal wins—sent the McElwain Men off the floor with a 26-24 victory. Andrew Logan and Charles Bowman paced the losers with six points each. The Delta Sigs were the fastest-moving and one of the highest-scoring quintets on the court. Leading all the way, the Delta Sigs waltzed off with a 47-33 decision from a strong Penn Club. Larry Gershman paced the winners with the night's scoring honors—28 points. Teammate Bob Smith hooped 13 points to round out most of the winners' scoring. Don Burris led the Penn Club with 14 points.

In other contests, Jerry Reber tallied 15 as the Watts Wonders defeated the Birds, 27-19, the Snorks overwhelmed the Hi-Fliers, who, like the Mibs, were playing their first game, 47-21. The Snorks' Bob Knapp was the evening's second highest scorer with 18 points. Hamilton Six outpointed the Irvin Aces, 31-22, and the Williamsport A.C. walloped the Gophers, 39-23.

Oscar Darlington's accurate eye led the way for the latter team's 17-9 win over Town Council. Darlington hit for 15 points. Watts outscored the Giraffes in the other game, 17-8.
