

Bloodmobile Exceeds Goal By 70 in Two-Day Drive

By INEZ ALTHOUSE

The blood drive completed yesterday exceeded its 300-pint goal by 70 pints.

Three hundred seventy pints were collected by the Johnstown Bloodmobile in the two-day drive yesterday and Wednesday in the Temporary Union Building.

"It was a wonderful visit," Benjamin A. Whisler, chairman of the blood program for the State College Chapter of the American Red Cross, said last night. "We ran way over the quota both days. I was very pleased to see the students turning out like that."

One hundred seventy-two pints were collected Wednesday, exceeding the daily goal of 150 by 22 pints. Yesterday's goal was exceeded by 48 pints, with a total of 198 pints.

Yesterday's totals showed that of 120 donors scheduled, 99 appeared to give blood. Walk-ins for the day totaled 127. Twenty-six persons were rejected. Of the 200 persons who donated yesterday, 90 were first-time donors.

One student told attendants yesterday he was giving a pint of blood to replace one received by his mother in an emergency in a Reading hospital.

Fall Colds Keep Infirmary Full

The increase in the number of patients in the infirmary may be attributed to the usual siege of colds which afflict many people in the fall, Dr. Herbert R. Glenn, director of the University Health

The infirmary has been treating one case of chicken pox. The Health Service is always on the alert for epidemics, Glenn said.

The University has not experienced an epidemic since two years ago when German measles besieged the campus from December to June.

representative of the State College unit, said last night he was "grateful for the number of walk-ins, for they were the ones who actually made it so successful."
