

Gittlen Is Crowned Mardi Gras King

TPA, AOPi Awarded Trophies

Warren Gittlen, seventh semester arts and letters major and varsity golf captain, was crowned Mardi Gras king at the Mardi Ball Saturday night in the Temporary Union Building.

Gittlen, sponsored by Alpha Epsilon Phi, was crowned by Patricia Dickinson, president of Chimes, junior women's hat society. Gittlen is a member of Druids, sophomore men's hat society, and Phi Sigma Delta. He was chosen from two other finalists by audience applause.

Show Awards

Theta Phi Alpha and Alpha Omicron Pi won the circulating gold cups for show and open game booths selling the most tickets at Friday night's Mardi Gras.

Theta Phi Alpha's show, "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes," received the show award. The sorority received the same award last year for their show "Blondes Prefer Gentlemen." Alpha Omicron Pi's "Casino" won the open game booth award. This is the first year two trophies have been awarded in the carnival. Formerly one trophy was awarded for the show or game which sold the most tickets. It was won for the past two consecutive years by Theta Phi Alpha.

Collects $1400

Mardi Gras, sponsored by Mortar Board, senior women's hat society, grossed $1400 from the king contest, refreshments, and 28 show and game booths sponsored by sororities and independent groups, according to Polly Moore, Mortar Board treasurer.

Profits from Mardi Gras go to the Charlotte E. Ray Scholarship fund, a project of Mortar Board.

Gift Certificates

The king received a $15 gift certificate from Jack Harper's men's store. Finalists William Wismer, seventh semester forestry major, sponsored by Alpha Chi Omega, and John Greiner, seventh semester business administration major, sponsored by Gamma Phi Beta, each received $5 gift certificates from Jack Harper's.

Fraternity Chaplains Will Meet Tonight

The Interfraternity Council of Chaplains will meet at 8 tonight at Phi Kappa, James Parmiter, chief of chaplains, has announced.

Leaders of faiths represented at the University will discuss the duties of a fraternity chaplain, the importance of fireside chats, and the importance of religious advisers to fraternities.

Impressions--

warm. In others, heat lamps are used.

This brought to mind the claim that you can tell campus squirrels from town squirrels because of these tunnels carrying steam lines. It seems the campus squirrels live in these tunnels and the heat keeps them healthy and their coats glossy throughout the cold winter.

PERSONALITY--

Today there are two. First is Arthur Schravessande, the newly elected freshman class president. He is currently causing much mental anguish around the offices of the Daily Collegian since his name is too long to fit comfortably in some of our standard major one-column headlines.

Second is Roy "Mooch" Williams. He is worth mentioning because he sleeps in class.

We realize that everyone does this at one time or another, especially after a hard night staying up with a sick course. But, few fall asleep at four in a one-hour class and wake up at six with the lights out and the rest of the students gone.

Christmas for Everyone Toy Collection Begins

"Christmas for Everyone" and "Can you spare a broken toy for a needy girl or boy?" are the slogans that Kappa Sigma and Alpha Chi Omega will employ in their drive to collect broken and used toys for Christmas gifts.

Ethel Beaver, county welfare secretary, will distribute the toys collected to county orphans who have been placed in foster homes throughout the county on her monthly visits to each child.

Broken toys will be repaired and used toys will be brightened up with paint if necessary. Even badly broken toys can be used for spare parts or turned over to someone who can fix them, Jerry Donovan, chairman of the drive, said.

Members of Kappa Sigma and Alpha Chi Omega will solicit toys from their hometown stores as well as the local stores and the citizens of State College.

Students who would like to help in this drive have been asked by Donovan to bring any toys they wish to donate and call Kappa Sigma or Alpha Chi Omega after Thanksgiving vacation. Members of the fraternity or the sorority will pick them up.

The orphans who will receive the toys are those who cannot attend Christmas parties and will depend on the results of this drive for the most of the Christmas toys they will receive.

Depending upon the success of this drive, it is possible that this broken toy drive may become an annual affair of Kappa Sigma and Alpha Chi Omega, Ruth Krone-wetter, president of Alpha Chi Omega, said.

UCA Square Dance

Ross Lytle will call for the University Christian Association square dance from 7 to 9 tonight in the Temporary Union Building. Kevin Gelderman, fifth semester business administration major, will teach a class in the basic techniques of square dancing before the dance at 6:45 p.m.

Panhel Will Vote On Two Proposals

Panhellenic Council will vote tonight on a proposed recommendation that second semester freshman women with a 1.5 All-University average be allowed to rush.

The council will also vote on a recommendation that the membership quota system for sororities be changed.

The program of rushing second semester women with a 1.5 all-University average was suggested by the rushing revisions committee because it felt that most scholastic averages fall in the spring semester and a woman who had only a 1.0 average would find it difficult to be active in her sorority.

Under the present ruling a woman is not permitted to rush until her sophomore year and she must have at least a 1.0 All-University average.

2 Formal Rushing Periods

The suggested recommendation would mean that formal rushing would be held in the spring and informal rushing in the fall.

It was the committee's opinion that freshman rushing could be presented to freshman women as a privilege given to outstanding women who had proved their capabilities and in this way would encourage better scholarship.

Proposed Flexible Quota

The other recommendation was the installation of a flexible quota-limitation system. A sorority presently is limited to 50 members. The suggested system would mean that every sorority, no matter how many of its members returned in the fall, would be entitled to a certain number of new pledges, even if that number brought the chapter above the present limitation.

For example, if the pledge quota were 15, and if a chapter had 40 girls returning, the sorority would still be allowed to pledge 15 girls, even though it would bring the membership to 55. However, if 30 members returned to school, the chapter would be allowed to pledge 20 girls, to bring the membership quota to 50.

Both the limitation of members and the quota of pledges would be set by Panhel women registered for formal rushing. In this way the council would be able to adapt to changing conditions without revision of the basic rushing policies, according to the committee report.

The quota system was recommended by National Panhellenic Council to permit a sorority that pledges and initiates a large chapter to bring in annually enough new members for growth and development. It will also allow smaller chapters to increase in size.

The council will also hear opinions of sororities on the separate housing proposals outlined last week.

SDX Receives Journ Award

The University chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, men's national journalism fraternity, received the Beckman efficiency, received the national convention held at Columbus, Ohio, from Nov. 10 to 13.

Out of a possible 100 points for efficiency, the University chapter placed first with 95. North Dakota was second with 82.

The University placed sixth in the Hogate contest, which is determined by the number of Sigma Delta Chi brothers who actually go into journalism work. North Dakota was first in the contest.

George Bairey, seventh semester journalism major, attended the convention for the chapter.

Professor Dunn? Which One?

If you get scheduled for an engineering class from a Professor Dunn whose class is forty miles from here, don't be dismayed.

Recheck the directory and you will be even more confused, for there are two professor Duns on the faculty and their first two names, as well as their last, are identical: William Arthur Dunn.

One is an instructor in engineering mechanics, who joined the faculty last September. The other is a professor at the Penn State Center in Altoona.

Neither has met the other, although their mail is often confused. To complicate things even further, both Duns teach engineering mechanics.

Panel to Discuss Hemingway Prize

"Why Hemingway Got the Nobel Prize" will be the subject of a panel discussion at 7:30 tonight in Northeast Atherton lounge at the Belles Lettres meeting.

Speakers are William L. Werner, professor of American literature; Dr. Frederick L. Gwynn, associate professor of English literature; and Dr. Robert V. Bauer, assistant professor of English literature.

MISS MARY LOU MOORE

Okay, Joe?

We've been thinking that the space under this picture might be used somewhat more productively than it is.

The idea of a "gripe column" sounds pretty good. So, if you people have any gripes about State College or anything in general, just drop us a note. Don't even bother signing it. Who knows, maybe airing these gripes will solve them. Make them good ones.
