THEIR FINEST HOUR

Rip Engle has collected four big wins against Pitt in his five year tenure at Penn State but probably none was so pleasing as Saturday's 13-0 victory.

"This is a helluva great football team." Engle said after his Lions had scored their third straight shutout against the Panthers. "By far the greatest I've ever coached, and I think it's the best in the east."

"They played their best game of the year today and Pitt was easily the best team we faced all season."

The smiling Lions coach, who watched 13 seniors play their last game for him at Pitt Stadium, claimed all season that the 1954 team was his best, and has already expressed fears that the Lions might not be as strong next year.

But, that's for another day. Right now the Grey Eagle is a happy man. New worries will come next spring, or before, but until that time there's still seven fat victories to look back on—and of course, two losses.

Those two frustrating weeks in the middle of the campaign when the Lions lost to West Virginia and Texas Christian are the only black marks on the Lion record—tops since 1949 when Bob Higgins' team lost only one.

One of those losses was partially cancelled out Saturday. The Lion win deadlocked the Penn State-West Virginia-Pitt round-robin. The Mountaineers beat the Lions, lost to Pitt, and then the Panthers, in turn, bowed to Penn State.

THE BOWLS

Penn State has been mentioned in a whisper behind a more audible calling for West Virginia, Florida, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, and Auburn, as a possible selection to meet Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

However, there haven't been any direct queries to University officials from the bowl committee. Of the six teams mentioned, only Penn State and the Mountaineers have lost two, the rest have three defeats on their records.

However, Texas Christian's quick fold in the late stages of the Southwest Conference race hasn't helped Penn State chances. Victor over Southern California, and near winner against Oklahoma early in the season, the Frogs have been frequent losers since Penn State gave them a gift win five weeks ago.

That won't speak well for the Lions despite the fact that Abe Martin's outfit got every break in the book against the Pennsylvanians, while the Lions played the worst game of the season.

A QUICK GLIMPSE

As far as I'm concerned Jesse Arnelle had a better season this year than two years ago when he led all pass receivers and was making the headlines. This just wasn't an end's year this time. Arnelle converted to a rugged blocker and invulnerable defenseman behind an accentuated running game. Was a steady competitor all season... Dan Balthaser's performance Saturday was best of the season for him. He was a take-charge guy when chips were down... Arnelle's candid comment on Lenny Moore: "I never saw Grange or any of those guys play, but this Lenny won't take a back seat to any of them."

Williams Tops Swamies

Daily Collegian sports writer Roy Williams emerged the top swamie in the Collegian's weekly grid prediction contest by calling them at a 10-5 pace in Saturday's ninth and final outnig.

However, the champion soothsayer had to be comfortable with a ride in the back seat in Saturday's action, as assistant scribe Herm Weiskopf steered himself to a 11-4 performance for the day's top honors.

Williams' crystal ball antics came to a total of 93 correct picks and 42 wrong choices to bring his season total to a .689 average. Williams led the quartet of predictors for eight straight weeks.

Weiskopf clicked on 84 selections, while going astray on 51 decisions to account for a .622 percentage—good for second honors.

Dick McDowell, chief executive around the local sports desk, contributed 83 positive picks and 52 wrong choices to end the upstart season in third place on a .615 average.

Rip Engle, representing the Lion coaching staff Saturday, was unsuccessful in an effort to remove the mentors from their seven-week cellar position, managing only a 9-6 slate. The coaches wound up their share in the weekly prediction classic seven points short of the .600 mark on 80 correct picks and 55 negative choices.

COLLEGE SMOKERS PREFER Luckies—and by a wide margin—according to the largest and latest coast-to-coast college survey. Once again, the No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. They taste better because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. The pleasure you'll get from Luckies' better taste is vividly depicted in the Droodle above, titled: Modern artist enjoying Lucky while glancing in mirror. See the ecstatic smile? Well, you, too, can be happy. Just go Lucky!
