

Sturdevant to Select Foods Committee

Robert Sturdevant, chairman of the All-University Foods Committee, will appoint members to his committee, All-University President Jesse Arnelle said yesterday.

Confusion over who was to appoint the committee members arose when Sturdevant was commissioned to appoint his committee at about the same time that Donald Bell,

Debate Ban Is Attacked By Senator

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D.-Ark.), Sunday declared the decision of the Army and Naval academies to ban the intercollegiate debate topic was "indicative of the low estate to which we have fallen where freedom of expression is concerned."

"I think they should be allowed to debate it," Fulbright said, in speaking of the debate topic "Resolved: That the United States should extend diplomatic recognition to the Communist government of China." He continued, "I think there's no great merit in ignorance."

West Point explained the withdrawal of cadets from debating the topic in a statement declaring:

"It is the Department of the Army policy not to have U.S.M.A. cadets involved in debate on such a controversial subject on which, in any event, national policy has been established."

West Point suggested as an alternative topic "The Merits of Agricultural Subsidies."

President Dwight D. Eisenhower, one of West Point's most prominent graduates, in a press conference last week agreed with Fulbright that he personally would not have banned the debate topic.

Eisenhower said he felt the United States system "could stand on its own feet and would be upheld in the face of open and exhaustive debate."

The Navy took the stand that debating the affirmative side of the topic would be tantamount to upholding "the Communist philosophy and party line."

It stated that debating the affirmative would also make them liable to misrepresentation as well as "providing the Reds a tremendous propaganda device."

Meanwhile the Princeton University Debate Panel sent a telegram to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles appealing to him—as a graduate of Princeton—to take a stand "against the supervision of topics in the service academies."

Earlier, at the University, Forensic Council passed a resolution protesting the ban of the topic. It sent a copy of the resolution to the Speech Association of America, which selects the intercollegiate debate topic.

"The ban is opposed," the resolution declares, "to the best interests of the nation, debate, and the ideals of democratic free speech."

At the time four Nebraska state supported teacher's colleges banned the topic Irvin Weiner, Forensic Council president, said the ban had no rational basis.

Student Conduct At Pitt Game Is Commended

Dean of Men Frank J. Simes yesterday congratulated the student body for the conduct it displayed at the football game in Pittsburgh.

The dean said he had not received any reports of bad conduct as a result of the weekend of the Pitt-Penn State game Nov. 20.

Before the game, the dean had said he felt sure that the student body would live up to the fine conduct and good sportsmanship records it had set throughout the season.

Last year following the University of Pennsylvania football game in Philadelphia numerous complaints on student conduct were reported to the University. This year, however, no such reports were received.

Skating Rink To Be Opened Within 2 Weeks

The ice-skating rink will probably open within the next two weeks, John Miller, chief draftsman for the physical plant, said yesterday.

The rink was to open this week, but Miller said there were a number of small details to be cleaned up before skating could begin.

He said that there was some carpentry work to be completed and some painting to be done. He said also that electrical work was not quite complete and some work was to be done on the freezing unit.

The installation of the freezing pipes under the rink surface is complete, but the freezing machinery must be tested and adjusted this week.

Miller said he felt sure the rink would open sometime during the first half of December.

The first date announced for the opening was Nov. 15, but the opening was delayed at that time because the installation of the freezing unit was not progressing as rapidly as had been expected.

The opening was then set for tomorrow but was moved ahead again because of the several construction details which must still be completed.

Windy, Colder Weather Predicted for Today

Bitter winds from the west which yesterday cut across the University campus with speeds up to 50 miles per hour will continue today but at a lower velocity. The day will also be slightly colder than yesterday.

Snow flurries and partly cloudy skies, in evidence yesterday, will continue today, although the flurries will end by late this afternoon, the University weather station reported.

Name's the Same

University Students Boast 'Great' Names

A theory generally accepted is that when people graduate from a college or university, they then go out into the "big, bad world" and try to make their names well known. However many students listed in the Student Directory may not have to go through this process. They already have famous names.

Names in the directory include those of people from the political world, in the movies and the theater, in sports, and in publications.

Names listed which at some time have been prominent in politics are Charles E. Hughes, William Livengood, John Adams, John Arnold, William Townsend, Al Guenther, and Patrick Kennedy.

Even more names are found to be the same as some connected with the theatrical world. A few of them are Al Goodman, John (Johnny) Johnston, Allan Jones, Margaret (Peggy) King, Ann Miller, William (Bill) Baird, Betty (Bette) Davis, Anne Francis, Robert Taylor, and Barbara Whiting.

General Pershing Listed
James (Jim) Jeffery is a name once well known in boxing, while Robert McCormick is an active newspaper publisher. At least one general is also listed—John Pershing, while poets are represented by Robert Burns.

Two of the shortest names in the directory are Markley Au and Chang Oh, while the longest is Rgatot Soenjotoningprodjo.

Out-of-state students are from 42 states, and Hawaii, and 43 foreign countries and territories. The only states not represented are Arizona, Iowa, Mississippi, North Dakota, Nevada, and New Mexico. New York and New Jersey can claim the most out-of-state students.

Ninety-Five Foreign Students

Ninety-five students are listed as coming from foreign countries or territories, including England, Germany, France, Spain, Finland, Malaya, Vietnam, the Philippines, Venezuela, Okinawa, China, South Africa, Thailand, Indonesia, El Salvador, Puerto Rico, Australia, Ethiopia, Chile, Argentina, Canada, Iraq, India, Brazil, Mexico, West Africa, South Africa, Bolivia, Cuba, Formosa, Colombia, Jamaica, Greece, Israel, Ecuador, the Panama Canal Zone, Iran, Egypt, Uruguay, Korea, Japan, Honduras, and Jordan.

Smith is the most common name among students at the University, with 117 listed, while Miller is next with 94. Other names found

Missed Classes Are Scheduled In January

The three full days of classes missed during the Thanksgiving vacation will be made up on the last three days of the semester, Jan. 17 to 19, according to the scheduling office.

This complies with the University Senate regulations which require that classes missed during the Thanksgiving recess be made up later in the semester.

The procedure will be as follows:

1. All classes scheduled for Monday morning, Monday afternoon, Tuesday morning, Tuesday afternoon, and Wednesday morning will meet for the last time on Jan. 10, 11, and 12 respectively.
2. Classes missed last Wednesday afternoon will be held on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 19.
3. Classes missed last Thursday will be held on Monday, Jan. 17.
4. Classes missed last Friday will be held Tuesday, Jan. 18.
5. Classes missed last Saturday morning will be held Wednesday morning, Jan. 19. Last Wednesday afternoon's classes will be held in the afternoon.

All classes will be held in the regular classrooms.

Math Honorary to Meet

Pi Mu Epsilon, mathematics honorary society, will meet at 7:45 tonight in 228 Sparks.

frequently on campus are Davis, Johnson, Moore, Williams, and Wilson.

Well known expressions, such as Silver and Gold, Black and White, Summer(s) and Winter(s), House and Garden, Kitchen and Sink, Long and Short, and High and Low, are to be found among the names in the directory, as well as many unusual names.

As someone once said, the plot's no good, but what a cast of characters!

Fraternity Yule Tree Ordering Ends Today

All fraternities wishing to order Christmas trees through Interfraternity Council must place their orders with Robert Kitchel, IFC vice president, by 5 p.m. today.

When a tree is ordered, the fraternity should specify whether the tree is to be delivered this weekend or next, Kitchel said.
