

AIM Reviewers Ask Probation For Six Frosh

The Association of Independent Men's Judicial Board of Review recommended disciplinary probation for five first semester students and office probation for another first semester student at a special session Monday night.

Two students involved in a fist fight concerning line jumping at a Nittany dining hall waiting line received recommendations of disciplinary probation for one and office probation for the other, with both probations to last one calendar year.

Four students residing on the first floor of McKee Hall received recommendations of disciplinary probation for one calendar year and letters sent home to their parents for being involved in a water and shaving cream battle.

Must Be Approved

All recommendations must be approved by the dean of men's office while the disciplinary probations must also be approved by the Senate Committee on Student Affairs Subcommittee on discipline. The latter may be petitioned off the student's transcript following a year's lapse.

The board heard that a student standing in an evening meal line outside the Nittany dining hall on November 18 saw another cut into the line with some friends. The first student said he asked the other to go back to the end of the line and when he twice refused to move he struck him and continued throwing blows until separated by a residence hall counselor.

The assaulter said that he and some of his friends had been disturbed by the amount of line jumping he had seen and they had inquired into whether something couldn't be done about it. Since it seemed to him that nothing was being done about the problem he took it upon himself to do something when he saw the student whom he had seen jump the line before, break in the line.

Disciplinary Probation

The board recommended disciplinary probation for the assaulter and office probation, involving the reporting to the dean of men for a set period of time, for the line jumper.

The board set up a committee to initiate actions with the dean of men's office, Nittany and Pollock Councils and residence hall counselors in an attempt to stop all line jumping in this area.

If necessary, Edward Stoops, chairman of the board, said definite action will personally be taken by members of the board regarding the matter.

4 Students Involved

Regarding the second case, four first semester students were involved in a water battle on the first floor of McKee Hall following the Pitt-Penn State football game. Their floor counselor reported that water had run beneath one door and some shaving cream was splattered over one door and a participant.

The board recommended that the students receive disciplinary probation for one calendar year and that letters regarding the board's action be sent home to their parents.

The transponder installed on the second floor of McAllister Hall early in October is not in working order at present.

The reception of converted AM waves is not consistent over the whole dormitory where the transponder is installed. The reason for this has not been determined.

Another problem which may hold up the installation of more transponders is the trouble the engineers are having with the commercially built FM sets used in the transponders.
