

Five Students to Appeal AIM Judicial Decisions

Five of six students whose cases will be presented to the Senate subcommittee on discipline this afternoon will appeal the recommendations of the Association of Independent Men's Judicial Board of Review.

Four of the men have already indicated their indications in writing, while the fifth said he would appeal, Harold W. Perkins, assistant dean of men, said yesterday.

The judicial board recommended disciplinary probation for four first semester students who were involved in a water and shaving cream battle in McKee Hall. These four will appeal.

"Line Cutting"

The board also recommended disciplinary probation for a student in the Nittany-Pollock area who struck another student for dining hall "line cutting," and recommended office probation for the student accused of line cutting.

The student who was accused of line cutting will appeal.

The recommendations must be approved today by the disciplinary subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Student Affairs before they take effect. They must also be approved by the dean of men's office.

A notation regarding disciplinary probation is placed on the student's transcript but may be petitioned off after a year's lapse.

Water Battle

The water battle in McKee took place following the Pitt-Penn State football game and was reported by the resident dormitory counselor. In addition to recommending disciplinary probation for one calendar year, the board also recommended that letters be sent to the parents of the four boys.

In the Nittany-Pollock area case, the assaulter said he had seen the second student cut into line and had asked him twice to return to the end of the line. The first student said that the fight broke out after the second student twice refused to return. The fight continued until the two men were separated by the dormitory counselor.

Assaulter

The assaulter said he had observed the problem of line cutting for some time and when it seemed to him that nothing was being done about the problem, decided to do something about it himself.

The Judicial Board of Review set up a committee to initiate action with the dean's office, Nittany and Pollock Councils, and resident counselors to stop line cutting in that area. The line cutting fight developed the evening of the dining hall special Thanksgiving dinner. Because of the added features of that meal, the Nittany-Pollock dining hall lines were forced to remain open until 6:40 p.m., it was reported to the AIM Board of Governors.

Fraternities May Obtain Below Grade Reports

Fraternities may secure lists of below grades for both members and pledges from the dean of men's office, 109 Old Main, Edward O. Pollock, assistant dean of men in charge of fraternity affairs, has announced.

A fraternity desiring reports should submit typed forms listing the names and colleges of their members and pledges, Pollock said.

Nittany Council to Meet Tonight

Nittany Council will meet at 6:45 tonight in Nittany Dorm 20.

FOR BEST RESULTS USE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

ONLY 13 MORE Shopping Days 'till Christmas in State College

5 Finalists Announced For Mil Ball

By SALLY SYKES

Five Military Ball queen finalists—three imports and two coeds, the same ratio as last year—have been selected by Cadet First Captain Lee D. Olvey, West Point Brigade Commander, and his staff. One of these will be chosen to reign over the Military Ball next Friday.

The finalists were chosen from 20 entries and are sponsored by members of the Reserve Officer Training Corps.

Finalists are Dorothy Bastidas, Mary Brown, Lois Nissley, Sara Williams and Betsy Wurst.

Miss Williams, a third semester education major, is a Chi Omega pledge and will be escorted by John Fink, seventh semester electrical engineering major, a member of both the Air Force ROTC and the Arnold Air Society.

Miss Nissley is a third semester applied arts major. Her escort is Fred Owlett, seventh semester psychology major. He is in the Navy ROTC and a member of Scabbard and Blade.

Miss Bastidas is an import from Pittsburgh and will be escorted by Gerald Schumann, fifth semester electrical engineering major, an Army cadet who is a member of Scabbard and Blade.

Miss Wurst is a third semester business administration major at Temple University and a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha. Robert Thomas, seventh semester arts and letters major, an Air Force Cadet, will escort Miss Wurst.

Miss Brown will be escorted by Francis Rice, seventh semester psychology major, a member of the Navy ROTC.

Riding Club to Sponsor Yuletide Party Dec. 11

The Penn State Riding Club will sponsor a Christmas party for members and guests Dec. 11 at Himes Barn.

The group will meet at 8 p.m. in front of McElwain Hall. Transportation will be furnished. Dress will be informal.

Waring Wed Second Time

Fred Waring, a member of the University Board of Trustees and a famous band leader, yesterday married a pianist in his musical organization.

He and Mrs. Evalyn Nail Waring were divorced Wednesday in Las Vegas, Nev.

Waring, who listed his age as 54, and Virginia Morley, who listed her age as 39, were married in a private ceremony in Indianapolis, Ind.

Two of Waring's children, Dixie and Frederick Jr., are students at the University. The former Mrs. Waring was awarded the custody of them and another son, William, 16.

Student Is Winner Of Garden Contest

Marian Ludwig, fifth semester home economics major, was named a national winner in the home garden contest at the 33rd National 4-H Congress in session in Chicago this week.

Miss Ludwig was awarded a $300 scholarship by the national sponsor of the contest. Congress officials said the award, along with a number of other 4-H achievements, mark her as one of the outstanding club members among the more than 1000 delegates from the different states and U.S. possessions.

Psych Test Results Explained to Coeds

By JACKIE HUDGINS

Fourteen first semester women crowd into "the last room to the left" at the Psychological Clinic every week to hear the results of their psych tests.

James Whalen, graduate student in psychology, explains the findings of the psych tests, vocational in nature, which were taken during orientation week. These tests are made on the basis of interest, aptitude, personality, training, and opportunity.

Students may visit the clinic in the basement of Woman's Building for personal interviews or to take vocational tests.

The young women are perhaps just as interested in the punch on their IBM cards that indicate their probable all-University average as they are in their vocational interest rating.

Whalen explained that the predicted average is based on the student's high school class standing as well as on test results. Whalen said it is easy for an average to fall below the test prediction, but fairly difficult for it to be higher.

Many of the freshman women, a bit leary about taking a psych test, blush when they discover that they are best suited to be housewives.

Stability, self-sufficiency, and dominance are rated individually on the card. Whalen said that an average mark, around B, is most desirable. For instance, he said, if a person is highly unstable he is likely to become so upset over little problems that he will be completely lost when forced to face major problems.

On the other hand, he continued, the too-stable, or self-satisfied student, probably lacks the necessary motivation to get things done.

Whalen explains the Division (Continued on page eight)

Pipe Dream...

A TWELVE MILES of pipe, part of the freezing mechanism of the new ice skating rink, has been installed as work advances on the construction of the rink. The building in the background will house the freezing machinery and a snack bar for skaters. The rink may be opened by the end of next week.

Cabinet Installs Two, Gets Election Report

By NANCY FORTNA

The new freshman and sophomore class presidents were installed at last night's meeting of All-University Cabinet, and the election in which they won their posts came under the scrutiny of Cabinet members.

Ernest Famous, chairman of the All-University Elections Committee, presented a report of the freshman and sophomore class elections to Cabinet.

Robert Dennis, president of the Association of Independent Men, asked Famous if the financial statement for the Lion and State parties had been filed since it was not included in the report.

Famous said the financial statement had been filed with George L. Donovan, director of Associated Student Activities. He consented to a request from Dennis that the financial statement be presented to Cabinet at a later date.

Diehl McKalip, chairman of the Board of Publications, asked Famous if the parties had any trouble meeting expenses with the $150 given to each party for campaign purposes.

Famous answered that there was less publicity in the Borough this year because the parties did not feel they had enough money to spend in a better campaign there.

Famous told Cabinet that he questions the need for decentralized voting. He said the percentage of students voting in the past two years when decentralized voting has taken place is approximately the same as three years ago when voting was centralized.

With regards to violations of the Elections Code, Famous said a complaint had been filed with the Elections Committee, but it had been withdrawn. He said the committee felt there were no vio-

Deposits Are Due For Caps, Gowns

Students expecting to graduate in January in business administration, chemistry and physics, and mineral industries, may sign up for caps and gowns at the Athletic Store today and tomorrow.

The deposit for seniors on the cap and gown is $5.00. The cap, gown and hood deposit for graduate students is $10.00. When ordering caps and gowns, it is necessary to give the hat size. Students who expect to graduate in military uniforms should not sign up for caps and gowns.

Invitations and announcements are ten cents each and may be ordered at the Student Union desk in O.J. Main on the same days as stated above.

The report of the Elections Committee was filed.

Arthur Schravessande, freshman class president, and Samuel Wolcott, sophomore class president, were sworn into office by All-University Vice President John Speer. They took the seats on Cabinet formerly held by James Musser and Hugh Cline.

The report of the Junior Week Committee, presented by Earl Seely, chairman, was also filed. No recommendations were made by the committee. The net income of Junior Week was estimated at $2394.75.

Our gift to you! Absolutely Free

We give you a beautiful box of Christmas cards with every $3.00 dry cleaning order!

(Limited Time Only)

LAUNDERETTE and SUNWAY CLEANERS 210 W. College Ave.

Bet you can't beat our crested Knight-in-Armor Sterling Bar Pin

for Christmas

Nowhere but

Balfour's

at the "A" Store