WDFM to Celebrate 1st Birthday Monday

Campus radio station WDFM will celebrate its first year of broadcasting Monday.

Last year on Dec. 6 after six weeks of dry-runs—a process of going through the motions without actually broadcasting—the first three hour evening of programming was broadcast.

Since that time the station has been on the air every night from 7:30 to 10:30 except during vacations and in the summer.

The station came into being through gifts from the classes of 1951 and 1952 which provided for setting up the station and buying equipment. Operating expenses are borne through a fund which is supported in approximately equal amounts by student assessments and the administration.

Radio Guild

The Radio Guild, an organization set up as a training device for students, was the founding movement. The guild, although a separate organization, was enthusiastic about the idea of a radio station and pushed the movement. Several of the personnel of the station are also members of the guild.

Station WDFM is student operated, with programs produced and directed by students. Station manager Ted Bair is head of a staff which includes the following departments: program, production, announcing, business, traffic, community and campus service, music, music library, sports, dramatics, continuity, special events, special services, office, news, and promotion and public relations.

Department Heads

Students on WDFM begin as candidates, then become staff members, and finally may become department heads.

The station often works in conjunction with departments of the University as an aid to students. Last year, for example, a program called "Horizons Unlimited" was produced in cooperation with the Student Employment Service—and featured company representatives who told what they sought in an employee. This year "This World of Music" follows the Music 5 course and is designed to give students more information concerning the course.

During final examinations last semester, the radio station broadcast music interrupted only by announcements.

Monday evening the station will broadcast "The Best of WDFM"—shows which are considered the best done during the year. These repeat shows will be broadcast either in their entirety or in part. Monday's programming will also include some of the history and development of the station.

brought out of a remote Welsh countryside especially for this play, and certainly no one else could have been better selected.

Jeannie Risler turned in her usual exceptionally fine performance as the laughable servant-cook of the schoolteacher, likewise having been saved from a life of sin, and both Betty Rice and Peter Cooper found roles that brought out the best they could offer.

However, in the midst of this praise the point must be brought up that at times it was rather difficult to hear the lines of the actors. Granted that the TUB has poor acoustics, it still seems that this could have been better remedied if the cast had spoken louder, and it is doubtful that this would have detracted in any way from the merit of the production.

Director Warren S. Smith, with "The Corn Is Green" and its Welsh setting complete with Welsh songs, has given University theatre-goers what is probably the best and most entertaining show to be seen here in many years, and it is a treat to witness such a fine bit of drama.

She became interested in a position as a fraternity housemother shortly after her second husband died, Mrs. Bailes said. Ralph Yeager and L. G. Balfour, executives of the Balfour Co. and both active in fraternity circles, were the two men who planted the idea of such a position with her, she said.

She came to the University to interview several fraternities and chose Delta Chi following her inspection, Mrs. Bailes said.

Mrs. Bailes said she is very well satisfied with her position.

"I wouldn't trade my boys for anything," she said.

Unlike the majority, however, she became an immediate stage success, and appeared in "Scarlet Pages," "All the King's Horses," "Courage, Soldiers and Women," and other plays. She also made numerous radio appearances with Beatrice Lillie, Bert Lahr, Al Pearce, Bob Hope, and Fred Allen. Her first movie was "Citizen Kane," as one of Orson Welles' Mercury Players.
