

55 Chosen for Angel Flight; To Co-Sponsor Mil Ball

Group Will Organize Tonight; Mrs. Riva to Be Adviser

By ALICE GRUBB

Fifty-five coeds have been selected for Angel Flight, women's auxiliary sponsor corps for the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps, David Hiestand, supervisor of the group, announced yesterday.

The members, who were judged on the basis of appearance, poise, interest, and personality, are:

Elizabeth Barieri, Nancy Bird, Camelia Blount, Carol Brady, Carol Braun, Cassandra Brown, June Conway, Virginia Coskery, Patricia Duval, Janet Easley, Joan Flinn, Beverly Fish, Polly Graham, Lyn Grant, Patricia Ann Grimshaw, Susan Gropper, Diane Hallock, Jean Hartley, Mary Hartzell, Shirley Kerr, Barbara Kin-

Members of Angel Flight will hold an organizational meeting at 7 tonight in the Armory, Hiestand has announced.

Virginia Plantz, Margaret Remley, Shirley Reynolds, Barbara Richards, Jeanne Ripley, Anne Robertson, Carole Richards, Carol Ruff, Joyce Savage, Janet Scheider, Patricia Schoonmaker, Margaret Selig, Beverly Smith, Mary Stahl, Barbara Summers, Elizabeth Ward, Joan Wilent, Clare Yenny, and Colette Zlotucha.

The Angel Flight will appear during intermission at the Military Ball.

Members will serve as hostesses at the Arnold Air Society Conclave on campus and Air Force open houses and participate in Armed Forces Day.

The Angel Flight will be a self-running organization, as a separate unit of the Air Force under the direction of co-advisers Mrs. Josephine Groesbeck, secretary to President Milton S. Eisenhower, and Mrs. Daniel Riva, wife of the commanding officer of the Air Force unit on campus.

David Hiestand, Area Commander of Air Force ROTC, who brought the idea to Penn State from the University of Omaha where the Angel Flight originated, is supervising the organization of the group.

"The Angel Flight will serve to emphasize the position of the Air Force ROTC as part of the total academic and social functioning of the University," Hiestand said.

Fishkin Brothers, military outfitters, who became interested in the Angel Flight, will partly finance uniforms for the group. The University ROTC detachment will underwrite the remainder of the cost for the uniforms which include a dark blue skirt, white blouse, white cape, and a hat similar to those worn by airline hostesses.

Fashion Show Will Preview Winter Styles

A fashion show of the latest winter styles will be given at 7:15 p.m. Thursday in the Home Economics Living Center by the staff of News and Views, home economics magazine.

Approximately 15 home economics students will model clothes donated by six town stores for the audience, who will be seated in a semi-circle. Accessories worn with the outfits will be selected for their suitability as Christmas gift suggestions.

After the formal showing, models will mingle with the audience while refreshments are served by Home Economics Club members.

Mrs. Lillian B. Larson, assistant professor of clothing textiles, is advising the show.

Tickets are 50 cents and may be purchased at the door.

Engagements

Gotlib-Mamolen

Mr. Daniel Mamolen of Philadelphia announces the engagement of his daughter Ruth to Philip Gotlib, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gotlib of Bangor, Maine.

Miss Mamolen is a fifth semester French major and a member of Alpha Epsilon Phi.

Mr. Gotlib was graduated from the University of Maine where he was a member of Tau Epsilon Phi.

Tezekjian-Hedges

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Hedges announce the engagement of their daughter Jacqueline to Edward Tezekjian, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Tezekjian of the Bronx, N.Y.

Miss Hedges, a private secretary at Liberty Mutual Insurance Company in New York City, resides at Fort Lee, N.J.

Mr. Tezekjian is a seventh semester engineering major and a member of Phi Kappa Tau.

Party Line

Fraternities and sororities scheduled several social events recently.

Beta Sigma Omicron held a Founder's Day tea Saturday in honor of its national president, Mrs. Isabel Kerner. The sisters and pledges entertained the local alumnae chapter at a party in the suite. Slides of formal rushing activities were shown.

The Alpha Gamma Delta pledge class was entertained at a formal dinner dance Friday at the Nittany Lion Inn. Music was furnished by Peter Kiefer and his orchestra.

Sigma Pi entertained members of the Alpha Chi chapter from the University of Maryland and were victorious in a football game with them.

Kappa Sigma entertained Zeta Tau Alpha at a square dance.

Delta Sigma Phi entertained Phi Beta Phi. The pledges provided a skit and refreshments were served.

Phi Gamma Delta entertained Alpha Chi Omega. Sigma Pi was recently entertained by the sorority at the chapter house.

Delta Zeta entertained Delta Chi at the chapter house with a skit by the pledges.

A mock fashion show was the entertainment provided for members of Phi Gamma Delta by Alpha Omicron Pi at the fraternity chapter house.

Alpha Chi Sigma entertained Alpha Xi Delta with a dinner at the chapter house.

Leonides Plans Caroling Party

Special eleven o'clock permissions have been granted to independent women who go Christmas caroling with Leonides and the Association of Independent Men on Dec. 15, Joan Packard, Leonides president, announced last night.

The group will meet at 6:30 p.m. in front of Old Main. Following the caroling refreshments will be served to the group in Simmons lounge.

Loretta Hunter and Judith Pendleton will represent Leonides at the National Independent Student Association executive meeting, Miss Packard also announced.

Norma Talarico and Martha Hardy will attend the convention of the National Student Association in Philadelphia Dec. 10 and 11.

Faculty Luncheon Club Hears Philippine Report

A report on the Philippine Islands' progress since independence was given to the Faculty Luncheon Club yesterday by Anthony S. Luchek, associate professor of industrial relations in extension.

In discussing the Philippines, Luchek drew on his observations while serving there as labor education and labor relations adviser to the Philippines with the United States mission for foreign operations administration.

To help develop sound labor organization and an understanding of economics in the new republic, Luchek worked through the colleges, government administration, and labor management groups.

In commenting briefly on each of the three mediums, he said colleges in the Philippines are greater in number per capita than in the U.S., though many of them may be termed "diploma mills".

In government, the Philippines have achieved a certain amount of stability, Luchek said. However, most government officials lack a willingness to delegate authority and show a lack of decision, he said. This may be attributed to a shirking of the responsibilities of their offices, he said, or merely to the uncertainty of the infant nation's first steps. However, Luchek noted responsible leadership in trade union movements. At the present there is no middle class in the Philippine income bracket, and it seems the nurture of pressure groups would go far to remedy the rich or poor situation, he said.

The stability of Philippine economy is tied to the foreign aid of the U.S. and to veteran's benefits programs, and should the U.S. withdraw financial aid, Philippine economy would surely face a crisis, he said.

MISS MARNIE SCHENCK

Okay, Joe?

Marnie, a 19-year-old Journalism major, hails from Mefuchen, New Jersey. Incidentally, she's unattached.

Keep your eyes on the OK Joe girls. We're going to be much more particular this year, which means that the girls selected for this column will really be the cream of the crop.

About half a dozen more openings left for Christmas portraits . . . and that's it.

And then there's always that poor guy who gets a tie for Christmas.

Sincerely, B.C.
