

IM Boxing Tourney Nears 2nd Round

By JOHN LAWRENCE

Intramural boxing neared completion of its first round of action last night as ten men advanced to quarter final competition, including Nick McChesney, former 125 and 135 pound king.

The 128 pound bout of the evening was stopped in 50 seconds of the first round, when Arnold Hoffman, Beta Sigma Rho, defeated Bob Bingaman of Phi Sigma Kappa. Hoffman dropped Bingaman with a left-right-left combination and followed this with a flurry of punches that produced a second knockdown and the end of the fight.

In unlimited action, Russ Mandeville, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, captured a free swinging contest from Jim Henry of Delta Sigma Phi and Charles Yarbrough, Phi Kappa Sigma, managed to stay on top of Lloyd Eddings, of Theta Xi, to receive the winners nod.

The 175 pound bout was stopped in the third round when Sidney Grobman, Pi Epsilon Phi, scored heavily with a two-fisted attack over Pete Donovan of Kappa Sigma. Grobman landed continually with a left hook-right cross combination and had Donovan in trouble when the bout was stopped.

Clarence Remaley, Phi Delta Theta, came off the floor to wrap up his 135 pound scrap over John Gilleland with a strong finish. Gilleland floored Remaley in the second round, but Remaley captured the decision on the strength of an effective right hand and a last ditch rally.

Three Thrillers Highlight IM Basketball Card

One fraternity and two independent thrillers highlighted the intramural basketball program Friday night.

In the fraternity match, Alpha Epsilon Pi had to fight until the last second to hold onto a 17-13 halftime lead over Alpha Gamma Rho. AGR spurred by Doug Moorhead and George Ridge, outpointed the winners in the second half, 13-10, but could not catch up. Jay Rotberg and Bob Pearlstein led the AEPi scoring with nine and eight points.

Wesley Five outpointed Cody Manor, 24-23, and Dorm 27 defeated Dorm 34, 27-25, in the closest independent frays. Art Pharaoh netted 10 points for the Wesley Five and Don Cresswell topped Dorm 27 scorers with 13 points. In both games the winners led by one point at halftime.

Dorm 40's Floyd Zimmerman hooped 16 points to lead his team to a 30-16 victory over Jabberwocky. Zimmerman tied for high scoring honors of the night with Samuel McKibben of Phi Kappa Tau.

In other contests, the Engineers smashed the Crusaders, 26-8; Sigma Alpha Epsilon defeated Phi Kappa, 19-11; Phi Kappa Tau outscored Phi Kappa Psi, 22-17; and Dorm 3 and Delta Theta Sigma received forfeit victories over Dorm 12 and Alpha Phi Delta.

Freshman Cagers Win First, 64-55

Penn State's freshman basketball team, jumping to a 14 point lead in the first quarter, defeated a fighting junior varsity five, 64-55, in the preliminary game at Rec Hall Saturday night.

The JV's fought back in the second quarter behind the deadly shooting of Nick Musulin, who led the scorers with 17 points, to pull within a one point margin at half time.

But the combined shooting of freshmen Don Chapman and Sid Grinberg proved too much for the JVs and the frosh pulled away to a commanding lead early in the fourth quarter and went on to victory.

a three-round decision over Joe Vilseck at 145 pounds and Don Amos, Kappa Sigma, received the nod over Dave Myerson, Alpha Zeta, in a 165 pound attraction.

AP Pre-Season Poll Places Cagers 19th

The Associated Press

The LaSalle Explorers, who won the NCAA basketball tournament last spring, and Kentucky's Wildcats, who went through the 1953-54 season undefeated but didn't play for the national title, are tabbed to finish 1-2 in the current court campaign.

At least they're picked in that order by the sports writers and broadcasters participating in the Associated Press pre-season poll, with Duquesne a good third.

The experts, asked to rate the top 10 teams on the basis of how they expect them to do in the full season, put LaSalle on top by a big margin.

Penn State's basketball quintet was rated 19th in the nation in the AP's pre-season poll. Oklahoma A&M, St. Louis, UCLA, Wichita, Utah, Wake Forest, and Duke were picked in front of the Nittany Lions in the second 10 in that order. Western Kentucky drew the No. 20 slot.

LaSalle, with 34 firsts and 17 seconds, piled up an imposing total of 543 points on the usual system of counting 10 for each first place vote, nine for second, and on down. Kentucky, whose votes were somewhat more scattered, drew 343 points for second place. Duquesne had 288 points for third place and Iowa 255 for fourth.
