

President Honored By Traditional Name

By INEZ ALTHOUSE

To students here at Penn State the name "Prexy" has become a traditional part of the campus, and is as honored as the man who now holds it.

President Milton S. Eisenhower, more familiarly known as "Prexy" to the students, received the title during the Honors Day ceremonies on May 2, 1951. But let us look at the history of the name before we describe that ceremony.

Alpha Delta Sigma To Hold Initiation

Alpha Delta Sigma, national professional advertising fraternity, will hold its fall initiation at 6:30 p.m. Sunday at Lambda Chi Alpha.

Richard Dew, associate manager of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publisher's Association, and Earle Holdren, a partner of Ed Wolff and Associates, advertising agency of Rochester, N.Y., will attend the ceremonies.

Undergraduates to be initiated are David Hubert, Robert Hoffman, John Healy, Thomas Garret, Gerald Fried, John Craig, Martin Kumer, Fred Siepert, Martin Hornung, and Stephen Capin.

23 Are Pledged By Phi Mu Alpha

Phi Mu Alpha, music honorary and professional fraternity, has pledged 21 students and two faculty members.

Student pledges are Nester Austin, David Andre, Donald Fought, Robert Dombeck, Roy Clark, James Miller, James Valone, Carson Rothrock, Charles Harner, Jere Fridy, William Hartman, Thomas Monito.

James Lessig, Charles Torrence, James Hartz, Alan Wyand, Richard Brown, Frank Podleiszek, Hummel Fishburn, Jack Hocutt, and John Redmond.

Froth Circulation Staff

Froth circulation staff junior board will meet at 6:30 p.m. Sunday in 312 Sparks. Members of the staff who were not at last night's meeting may sign up at 6:45 p.m. Sunday in 312 Sparks.

have to appear in the publication. Approximately 250 paid publications must be received in order for the publication to meet publication and mailing expenses, Austin said.

Promote Activities

"The profits from the publication are used by Sigma Delta Chi, national men's journalism fraternity, to promote the annual Gridiron Banquet in the spring and other activities of the chapter," Austin said.

Richard McDowell, president of the group, said "Who's in the News at Penn State" was started at the suggestion of the late Arthur R. Warnock, then Dean of Men at the University, in 1946.

Supplement 'Who's Who'

Warnock encouraged starting the publication because of the large number of student leaders who deserve to be honored, McDowell explained. He said Warnock maintained more than the dozen or so formerly picked from the University were deserving of being included in an honorary directory, and thus urged that a campus booklet be printed to supplement "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

"It is definitely an honor to be selected," McDowell said. "To be one of 470 students in a university enrollment of 12,000—singled out for campus leadership—certainly is an honor."

175 Applications

McDowell explained that although 175 applications have been returned, 35 of those are "gratis." Members of Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism honorary fraternity, as well as members of the selections committee for the booklet do not pay to have their names included.

In past years almost all students selected for the booklet returned their applications. In 1951, 420 nominated were included. The 1952 totals were 418 of approximately 450. Figures were not available for the 1953 record.

Radio Guild to Meet

The Penn State Radio Guild will meet at 7:30 tonight in 312 Sparks to discuss radio continuity. The meeting is open to the public.

house that was unfinished. Funds were available to finish the job, but the problem was finding someone to finish building the new additions before State College got its first heavy snow.

The men at the ORL decided they could finish Dr. Tindal's job for him in their "spare time." The house would be finished for Mrs. Tindal and the children when they returned from Cleveland.

And that is what they did. A dozen men donated materials, tools, and time for eight nights to finish the job that Dr. Tindal would have done before his death except for the demands made on his time. The men spent Thanksgiving working on the house and it was finished when the family returned.

The men of ORL finished Dr. Tindal's job for him as a tribute of appreciation to the work that he had done.
