

Today's Weather—
Clear and Colder

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

Student Conduct
See Page 4

VOL. 55, No. 58

STATE COLLEGE, PA., FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 10, 1954

FIVE CENTS

Cowles, Look Editor, To Give Graduation Talk

By DON BARLETT

Dr. Gardner Cowles, publisher and editor of Look magazine, will give the Commencement address on Jan. 31, in Recreation Hall. The program will be open to the public and no tickets will be required for admission.

Cowles was born in Algona, Ind., on Jan. 31, 1903, into a journalistic-minded family. His father, Gardner Cowles, Sr.,

State Post Considered For English

Dr. Pennoyer F. English, professor of wildlife management, mentioned Wednesday as a possible choice for secretary of forests and waters in Governor-elect George M. Leader's cabinet, said yesterday that the post had not yet been offered him.

Dr. English was recommended for the cabinet position by Rep. Harris G. Breth (D-Clearfield) who previously had been thought a likely choice for the job.

Bruce N. Stover, Centre County democratic chairman, said Wednesday night he knew nothing about Dr. English being considered for the job. He said, however, that several University men are under consideration as possible members of the new cabinet.

Others mentioned for the forests and waters position are John Torquato, Cambria County democratic chairman, and R. D. Tonkin, a former timber specialist.

Dr. English has been active in the forestry field since 1934 when he received his Ph.D. from the University of Michigan. While at Michigan he also worked for the Michigan Game Commission until 1935.

In 1935 Dr. English went to the Connecticut State College, now the University of Connecticut, where he headed the forestry and game management department.

He came to the University in 1938 and has directed the wildlife graduate program since then.

Dr. English received a B.S. degree from Oregon State College in animal husbandry and agriculture in 1919, and an M.S. from the Agriculture and Mechanical College of Texas in 1924. From 1924 to 1931 he taught zoology at A&M of Texas.

Players Will Present 'Corn Is Green' Tonight

Players will present Emyln Williams' drama of life in a Welsh mining town, "The Corn Is Green," for the second time at 8 tonight at Center Stage in the Temporary Union Building.

Elizabeth Ives, third semester arts and letters major, and Edwin Grove, fifth semester arts and letters major, have leading roles in the play. Tickets are available for unreserved seats at the Student Union desk in Old Main or at the door for $1.

Last Day Today To File Conflicts

Today is the last day students who have two final examinations scheduled for the same time or three on one day may file conflict cards in the scheduling office, 2 Willard.

Positively no one can register after this time as they have other years, R. V. Watkins, University scheduling officer, said.

A student who is absent from a final exam cannot have his grade deferred unless he has an excuse judged valid by his dean.

began his newspaper career with the purchase of the town's weekly newspaper—the Advance. Shortly after this his father purchased the Des Moines Register and Leader, followed closely by the purchase of the Tribune. In 1908 the Register and Leader became the Register and Tribune.

During this time, Cowles, Jr., had been graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy, in 1921, and received his A.B. degree from Harvard in 1925. Upon his graduation he assumed the position of city editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune. In 1926 and 1927 he served as news editor and in the latter part of 1927 he was made managing editor—holding this position until 1931. From 1931 until 1939 he served as the paper's executive editor. From 1939, Cowles served as associate publisher and since 1943 he has served as president of the Tribune and Register Co.

Airplane Coverage

As managing editor of the paper he initiated the use of the airplane in covering news stories and for taking pictures in Iowa and the middle west.

Cowles later purchased the Minneapolis Star. After this venture, another new addition to the journalism field was being contemplated.

Launched Look

The younger Cowles chose the Look publication because Life magazine—started at the same time—was going to be primarily a news magazine, and Look was after mass circulation. He was convinced that pictures should be chosen because they are interesting—not because something had happened last week or the week before. The first press run of Look was 400,000 copies but within ten days there was a demand for 835,000 copies.

During the war years, Cowles was named Deputy Director of

(Continued on page eight)

Clear, Cold Weather Predicted for Today

The freezing rain and snow which made roads and sidewalks slick yesterday morning will be absent today according to the University weather station which has forecast clear skies and slightly colder weather for the day.

High today will be about 34, four degrees above yesterday's maximum of 30, while the low tonight will be the same as last night, 16 degrees.

U.S. Korean War Allies Ask Action to Help Free Airmen

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., (AP)—The United States and its 15 Korean War allies pressed today for speedy action on their bid to throw the moral weight of the UN Assembly behind their campaign to free 11 U.S. airmen jailed by Red China on spy charges.

The Assembly's ready agreement to debate the case despite Soviet delaying tactics indicated the Allies' stand would win strong support.

Day and night sessions were scheduled today on a 15-nation resolution denouncing the jailing and demanding the airmen's release.

Launching the debate last night, Chief U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said an overwhelming

Clique Constitution Revisions Ordered

By DON SHOEMAKER

Lion and State parties will have until Jan. 13 to revise their constitutions.

This was disclosed yesterday after the Senate Committee on Student Affairs subcommittee on organization and control met to review the charters of the two parties. The Senate must charter the parties because All-University Cabinet decided several weeks ago it did not have the power to do so.

According to the All-University elections code, parties were to have been chartered by Cabinet.

Sophomore Committee Appointed

A new means for student leaders to keep in touch with students has been established by Samuel Wolcott, sophomore class president. Wolcott recently named an unofficial sophomore class advisory committee.

He said, "The purpose of this committee is to advise and aid me and also to co-ordinate their respective living units with me."

Members of the committee represent almost every living unit occupied by sophomores. Qualified students from living areas not represented will be selected later, he said.

The committee members are Atherton: Nancy Scholl, Suzanne Scholl, Mariana Roth, Susan Brainerd, Claire Ganim, Marian Weaver, Judith Hance, Virginia Hance, Suzanne Capper, Frances Hoffman, Miriam Jones, Joan Fry, Anne Beebe, Nancy Marshall, Barbara Hendel, Carolyn Davis, Carolyn Wetterau, Alwilda Van Atta, June Koziar, Margaret Boyd, and Eleanor Kosarowich; Simmons: Marjorie Blank; McElwain: Meredith Miller; Grange: Judith Tame.

Nittany-Pollock representatives are Edward Fegert, David Scott, Thomas Dye, James Thompson, and Harold Schatz.

Fraternity members are Richard Jamieson, Samuel Kahn, Jack Dimler, Robert Segal, Thomas Brown, and Robert Gellman. Donald Genhart represents independents living off campus.

"This is an official committee of my own choosing subject to elimination at any time," Wolcott said.

'Who's In News'

The deadline for returning biographical forms to "Who's in the News at Penn State" has been extended to Thursday, Philip Austin, editor, said yesterday.

Approximately 250 forms have been received, Austin said. Approximately 480 students were mailed forms for the publication.

The committee itself could make no official statement on the meeting, pending a report of their findings to the Senate Committee on Student Affairs. The student affairs committee must make the final decision on the chartering of the political parties.

In its report to the political parties, the subcommittee said the constitutions of the two parties were vague and full of loopholes.

Dictatorial Practices

According to an unofficial source, the report cited this vagueness as an evident design to locate the clique power in the clique chairman, leading to a dictatorial setup within the parties.

Some of the general questions raised by the subcommittee about the constitutions included the following:

1. What are the aims and procedures of the political parties?
2. How do the parties select nominees in All-University elections?
3. How are class and clique officers elected?
4. What are the parties' financial provisions?
5. What is the delineation of power within the parties?
6. Provision for bylaws.

Specific Recommendations

The specific recommendations made for the revision of the constitutions were said to have included:

1. A clause containing the tenure of office for clique officers.
2. That the parties' steering committees be composed of a majority of elected members, although provision for some appointed positions is feasible.
3. Party finances should be supervised by Associated Student Activities.
4. This is already provided for under the elections code, but is not included in the party constitutions.
4. A clause providing for the removal of clique officers.
5. A clause stating parties must be bound by the elections code and elections committee as prescribed by student government regulations.
6. A clause clarifying that party officials are responsible for the proper conduct of their parties, both internally and in campaigns.

(Continued on page eight)

14 Delegates To Attend NSA Talks

Fourteen students will leave today to attend the National Student Association regional convention at Rosemont College, Philadelphia.

Those attending as delegates and their sponsoring organizations are Dorothea Koldys, Panhellenic Council; Leonard Richards, Association of Independent Men; Myron Feinsilber, the Daily Collegian; Martha Hardy, Leonides; George Kulynych, All-University Cabinet; and Helen Sidman, National Student Association.

The alternates will be Joan Bianchi and Jane Cameron, Panhel; Norma Talarico, Leonides; Carole Hite, Women's Student Government Association; Rudolph Lutter, Liberal Arts Student Council; Nancy Scofield, Education Student Council; Stephanie Sills, Business Administration Student Council; and Janice Holm, N.S.A.

Assistant Dean of Men Harold W. Perkins also will attend.

Workshops on four topics and two plenary sessions are scheduled for the convention, which will last until Saturday noon.

Workshop topics, adopted at a regional executive meeting early in November, are racial integration, problems relating to international students on college campuses, student-faculty relations, and the relations of the college newspaper to the administration.

One of the plenary sessions will be devoted chiefly to the N.S.A. sponsored student tour program.

Miss Holm is the University N.S.A. coordinator, and Miss Sidman is acting coordinator while Miss Holm is student teaching in Coatesville.

Cosmopolitan Club To Hold Social

The Cosmopolitan Club will sponsor a "Reindeer Drive" at 7:30 tonight at the Episcopal Parish House. A cabaret dance will follow.

Members may bring a friend whom they feel would be interested in furthering closer international relations.

Theatres Will Show Color Film About Army

"This Is Your Army," a feature-length documentary color film, will be shown in State College theatres in January, Capt. William M. Haller, assistant professor of military science and tactics, announced Wednesday.

ONLY
7
MORE
Shopping Days
'till Christmas
in State College