

Marterie Will Play At Mil Ball Tonight

Approximately 1000 couples will dance to the music of Ralph Marterie from 9 to 1 tonight at the Military Ball in Recreation Hall. Five women and their escorts will have even more than the usual "big dance" excitement as they wait for one of them to be crowned Military Ball Queen and receive the traditional trophy and roses.

The five finalists were chosen by Lee Olvey, Brigade Commander of the United States Military Academy, and his staff on the basis of photographs sent to West Point.

Five Finalists

The five finalists are Dorothy Bastidas, Mary Braun, Lois Nissley, Sally Williams, and Betsy Wurst.

Miss Bastidas, from Pittsburgh, will be escorted by Jerry Schumann, Sergeant First Class in the Army ROTC and a member of Scabbard and Blade.

Miss Braun is a seventh semester elementary education major and a member of Alpha Chi Omega. She will be escorted by Frank Rice, Midshipman First Class in the NROTC.

Miss Nissley, third semester applied arts major, will be escorted by Fred Owlett, Ensign in the NROTC and a member of Scabbard and Blade.

Miss Williams is a third semester business administration major and a pledge of Chi Omega. She will be escorted by John Fink, major in the AFROTC, and a member of Arnold Air Society.

Miss Wurst, third semester business administration major at Temple University, is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha. She will be escorted by Robert Thomas, Cadet Major in the AFROTC.

Not Always A Big Dance

The Military Ball was not always in the classification of big dances on campus, but was given this status last year. Under student regulations, dances not classified as "big dances" are not permitted to be held past midnight and coeds do not receive late permissions for them. Some of the determining factors in giving the Military Ball this classification were the attendance, having a name band, the price of tickets, the place held, and the people invited. Although the number of tickets sold is limited, anyone is permitted to attend.

Behind the scenes, three military honor societies are helping with preparations. Scabbard and Blade was the first honor society and was founded in 1903. Members are chosen from all advanced ROTC units. Pershing Rifles, also including all units, was founded on campus in 1932.

Members of both groups will serve in the honor line.

Arnold Air Society is sponsoring the Angel Flight, women's group who will make their first appearance at the dance.

it takes into consideration the history of past wars, he said.

In answer to a question regarding a reported Christian movement in Russia, Emelanyov said the people are atheistic and are being educated on the basis of the science of Lenin and Marx. In the Soviet constitution, he said, there is a special article for freedom of religion, and there are some groups who believe in God and go to church. The Soviet state does not interfere with their going to church, he said.

350 Attend Faculty Tea Wednesday

Approximately 350 faculty members and women students crowded Simmons lounge Wednesday night for the junior-senior faculty reception, sponsored by the Women's Student Government Association.

Guests were greeted by a receiving line in the small upper lounge. Receiving were Gail Smith, senior WSGA senator; Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs; Mrs. Kenworthy; Pearl O. Weston, dean of women; Jean H. Dubois, and Edith G. Zinn, assistants to the dean of women; Patricia Ellis, president of WSGA; Mildred McGowan, president of Women's Recreation Association; and Nancy Ward, temporary judicial chairman, acting in the absence of Joyce Shusman who is student teaching.

Christmas Trees

Red candles, poinsettias, and greens decorated the refreshment table. A large Christmas tree stood at the far end of the lounge, while a smaller one decorated with snow and blue lights was placed at the entrance to the lounge. Members of Mortar Board and Scrolls, senior women's hat societies, and Chimes, junior women's hat society, served as hostesses.

Proxy Attends

President Milton S. Eisenhower was among the guests. He had declined an invitation to stand in the receiving line as he felt he could meet more of the guests if he were free to mingle with the crowd.

Joan Fishburn, eighth semester music education major, and Holly Hildebrand, third semester psychology major, played a number of violin duets with Jane Patton, fifth semester music education major, as piano accompanist.

Oliver will speak to the military honorary society on international relations. The banquet will be held at 7 tonight at the Nittany Lion Inn.

Town Meetings To End Sunday

The final session of the Hillel Town Meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Hillel Foundation Auditorium, 224 Locust Lane. The topic will be "How Can We Protect Our Security Without Losing Our Freedom?"

Speakers for this week are Dr. Elton S. Carter, associate professor of speech; Dr. Macklin E. John, professor of rural sociology; and Dr. Morris Mendelson, associate professor of economics.

The issue of free speech, touching on the recent controversy in inter-collegiate circles over the refusal of some debating teams to discuss the issue of admission of Communist China to the United Nations, will be one of those covered by the speakers.

Following the talks will be a question period for audience participation. The meeting is open to the public.

Grads to Discuss UN

Serge Scher, graduate instructor in French, and Carolyn Allen, Danforth graduate student, will discuss "Students Evaluate the United Nations" and give impressions of their recent trip to the UN at a meeting of the Graduates' International Fireside at 7:30 p.m. Monday in 304 Old Main.

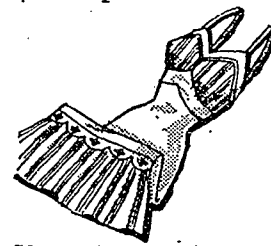

The meeting is open to the public.

Correction

Sorority representatives planning on going to Briary Manor should meet in front of McElwain Hall at 1:45 p.m. tomorrow and not Sunday as erroneously reported in the Daily Collegian. A bus will leave from in front of the dormitory at 2 p.m.
