Wurst Is Selected Queen of Mil Ball

By SALLY SYKES

Betsy Wurst was crowned queen of the 1954 Military Ball last night by Ralph Marterie before approximately 1000 couples in Recreation Hall. Miss Wurst, in a shrimp evening gown, was escorted by Robert Thomas, a cadet Major in the AFROTC. She received a crown, an engraved crown and roses. Miss Wurst is from Philadelphia where she is a third semester Business Administration major at Temple University. Miss Wurst, a five foot, five-inch brunette, is interested in swimming and horseback riding and is active in the Secretarial Club and the Riding Club at Temple.

The other finalists included Dorothy Bastidas, Lois Nissley, Mary Braun and Sally Williams.

Miss Bastidas, from Pittsburgh, wore a white gown. She was escorted by Jerry Schumann, Sergeant First Class, in Army ROTC and a member of Scabbard and Blade.

Miss Braun, dressed in a shrimp gown, was escorted by Francis Rice, a member of Scabbard and Blade.

Miss Nissley, attired in a white gown, was also escorted by a member of Scabbard and Blade, Fred Owlett.

Miss Williams, escorted by John Fink, wore a white evening gown.

The runners-up all received roses and trophies with Military Ball finalist engraved on it.

Cold snowy weather, the usual Penn State answer to big weekends, did not dampen the spirits of all the coeds and roads leading to the University were not as dangerous as they have been on other big weekends.

Leonard Tarnoski was master of ceremonies for the intermission ceremonies.

A military theme of red, white, and blue decorations was carried out, with a large replica of the Statue of Liberty on a blue backdrop at one end of the room. Hundreds of varied colored formals and military uniforms added to the color for the evening. Ralph Marterie mixed jazz and danceable music in his selections for the night.

2 Students Receive Metallurgy Scholarships

George Gorniak and Dorothy Oldham, first semester metallurgy majors, have received Co-operative Program Scholarships carrying $225 grants. Both students were runners-up in the Westinghouse Talent Search Contest held recently.

Books Mailed To Philippines

Fifteen boxes of books have been sent to Silliman University in the Philippine Islands by the College of Business Administration student council.

The books, totaling about 320 pounds, will be used to help rebuild the Silliman University library, which was wiped out during World War II. They were collected by the council during a month-long drive in November.

The University has made other contributions to Silliman, according to the department of public information. Collections taken during chapel services were sent there.

No Hillel Tea

The film and tea sponsored by the Graduate Club of Hillel Foundation will not be held at the foundation on Sunday, as reported in yesterday's Daily Collegian.

Campus Chest Solicitation Campaign Ends

No more solicitation campaigns will be conducted for the benefit of Campus Chest, Ellsworth Smith, general chairman, said last night. However, he said, special events will be carried on throughout the year to make money for the chest.

Approximately $500 has been collected since Monday when the total stood at $4000, almost 50 per cent under the $7250 goal.

Joseph Cutler, special events chairman, said the Ugly Man Contest, a part of Spring Week, will be a source of income for the chest.

In his report on the chest to Cabinet, Smith said he would recommend the following changes to be made in next year's drive.

1. That religious groups not be given so much. (They will receive 35 per cent of this year's total amount.)

2. That Red Cross be deleted from the list of national welfare organizations to receive Chest funds. (Much criticism was received from students on Red Cross activities.)

3. That solicitors be chosen in a different manner.

Smith said money may still be turned in to the Student Union desk in Old Main.

Brunner Re-named Head of Committee

Henry S. Brunner, head of the department of agricultural education, was re-elected chairman of the national committee on research in agricultural education at the sessions of the American Vocational Association last week at San Francisco.

As chairman, Dr. Brunner will coordinate research activities in agricultural education for the four regions of the nation and will direct a study on a nationwide basis designed as "An experiment in the development of Young Farmers classes in vocational agriculture."

Weather to Behave For 'Big Weekend'

Aside from a few snow flurries last night and this morning, the weather has been and will continue to be fairly pleasing to those Penn Staters enjoying Mil Ball weekend.

Temperatures during the day will hover above freezing, reaching a high of 38 to 40 this afternoon. Tonight's low will be about 26, equaling last night's low of 26 to 28, the University weather station has reported.

The weekend will continue partly cloudy although tomorrow night may see some sort of precipitation, probably snow.

Evergreens Removed From Forestry Plots

Damage to the University school of forestry's experimental evergreen trees has been reported due to the removal of trees from the plots by unauthorized persons.

Maurice K. Goddard, director of the school, asked the cooperation of all to prevent the destruction of these trees since it takes many years to grow them and the data obtained can not be duplicated in any way. Christmas tree seekers are blamed for the damage to the research project.

Withdrawals from School Total 266 for Semester

The number of students who have withdrawn from the University so far this semester is 266, not 37 as was reported in The Daily Collegian earlier this week.

One hundred and eighty-one students who were enrolled on campus have withdrawn, and 85 have withdrawn from centers.

The main reasons given for withdrawing were personal, financial, and illness.

Lehman Says Party Charters Are Not Control

Ross B. Lehman, chairman of the Senate Committee on Student Affairs subcommittee on organization control, said today that the chartering of political parties by Senate is not an attempt to control them.

"The committee is not trying to control political parties or remove the element of politics," Lehman said.

"It is surveying the parties in the same way that it would survey any other student organization. It is interested only in making student organizations responsible to student government or constituent groups. It is surveying the parties in the same way that it would survey any other student organization. It is interested only in making student organizations responsible to student government or constituent groups. It is particularly interested in seeing that student organizations give their constituents a voice," he said.

No Statement Made

The subcommittee could still make no official statement on Monday's meeting to review the constitutions of the Lion and State parties, pending a report of its findings to the Senate Committee on Student Affairs. The student affairs committee must make the final decision on the chartering of the political parties.

Lehman did say, however, that the subcommittee made "recommendations" to the parties for the revision of their constitutions. He did not elaborate.

The parties have until Jan. 13 to revise their constitutions. If the subcommittee finds them in order at that time, it will report to the Senate Committee on Student Affairs. If it decided that the constitutions still need revising after the Jan. 13 deadline, it will make further recommendations.

Eight Recommendations

An unofficial source told the Daily Collegian of eight specific recommendations made by the subcommittee to the parties at Thursday's meeting.

These recommendations were said to have included:

1. A clause containing the tenure of office for clique officers.
2. That the parties' steering committees be composed of a majority of elected members, although provision for some apportionment was suggested.

Schraivesande Names Frosh Dance Heads

Freshman Class President Arthur Schraivesande announced yesterday his appointments for committee heads for the Freshman Dance to be held Feb. 12.

Jack Spangler, vice president of the class, was named head chairman for the dance.

Schraivesande said that a complete list of persons selected for committee positions will be announced at a later date.

A meeting of all chairmen has been scheduled by Schraivesande for 4 p.m. Tuesday in 204 Old Main.

The committee chairmen are:

Orchestra: Richard Moon, chairman, Gail Smith, vice-chairman; decorations: Lynne Kinnier, chairman, Michael Piedmonte, vice-chairman; ticket: Rosa Demidio, chairman, James Robson, vice-chairman; publicity: Robert Nurrock, chairman, Beverly Dunbar, vice-chairman; entertainment: David Tressler, chairman, Phyllis Hodges, vice-chairman; and coronation: Robert Guy and Margaret Gray, co-chairmen.

Deadline Is Extended For 'Who's In News'

Applications for "Who's In the News at Penn State" will be accepted until Thursday, Philip Austin, editor, has announced.

Approximately 240 students have returned applications so far, he said.

Graduate Exam Forms

Bulletins and application blanks for the next Graduate Record Examination to be held Jan. 27 are available in 117 Buckhout. The deadline for submitting these applications to the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, N.J., is Jan. 13.

UN Condemns Chinese For Jailing of Airmen

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Dec. 10 (AP)—The United Nations General Assembly by the smashing vote of 45-5, today condemned Red China for jailing 11 American airmen as spies.

It appealed to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to do his utmost to obtain their release and that of hundreds of other UN personnel captured in the Korean War and still detained by Peiping.

Hammarskjold immediately accepted the responsibility, saying, "I will do all in my power to serve the interests of the organization."

He already had set in motion the machinery of his office but he declined to indicate what steps were being taken. It is known that he regards this case as perhaps the greatest challenge ever to face the secretary general since the UN began work in 1946.

Stubborn Soviet bloc resistance to the resolution and its repeated claims the airmen were "spies" who got what they deserved indicated the Red Chinese, as of the present, will ignore the UN action. An Indian attempt on a tentative basis to see what could be done has been firmly rebuffed by Peiping.

Hammarskjold conferred after the vote with Henry Cabot Lodge

Jr., U.S. delegate, and Anthony Nutting, British minister of state. Then he saw separately Jacob A. Malik, Soviet delegate, and Arthur S. Lall, India's permanent delegate to the UN. These four would be primarily concerned in efforts to free the men and it was believed here his talks dealt with that case. No one would comment.

Later, the Assembly's Special Political committee rejected Soviet charges that the United States was committing aggression against Red China and had seized the island of Formosa. The vote was 5 in favor of the Soviet bloc and 39 against. This was the second item affecting China being considered today by the UN.

Only the Soviet bloc members voted against the condemnation, which was contained in a resolution put up last Monday by the United States and its 15 UN partners in the Korean War.

Chapel Choir to Present Yule Candlelight Service

The seventh annual Candlelight Service will be presented by the Chapel Choir at 10:55 tonight in Schwab auditorium. Students who leave parties early in order to attend the yearly worship service may come in evening wear, Willa C. Taylor, choir director, said.

As a prelude to the choral concert a Brass Choir directed by James W. Dunlop, Blue Band director, will play a group of Bach Chorales.

Ninety two members will enter the dimly lit auditorium dressed in white robes; carrying electrically lighted candles. As they take their places in the aisles while the house lights are low they will join the congregation in singing three familiar Christmas hymns.

They then will proceed to the stage where Mrs. Taylor will direct them in singing the following anthems and carols:

"Let All Mortal Flesh Keep Silence," French melody arranged by G. William Henninger; "Lo, How a Rose e'er Blooming" and "Psallite," Praetorius; "O Magnum Mysterium," Vittoria; "The Echo Carol," French carol arranged by Whitehead; "Bring a Torch, Jeanette, Isabella," French carol; "Upon My Lap My Sovereign Sits," Peerson; "Divinum Mysterium," 13th century plain song; "As Joseph Was A-Walk-
