

Lions Top Tartans, 91-75

Saylor Tabs Gridders 4th In East

Spunky Carnegie Tech, listed as a dark horse for district basketball honors this season, made a strong bid for its second area win against Penn State Saturday night, but finally bowed after a first half point-for-point battle, 91-75, at Rec Hall.

The Tartans, fresh from a convincing win against Pitt Wednesday, kept the pressure on until well into the second half of the contest and then fell behind when the Lions, led by Jesse Arnelle, increased their scoring tempo to move away with ease.

Arnelle, who started slow in the opener against Dickinson and picked up considerably against North Carolina State, went on a personal scoring binge Saturday to lead the Nittanians with 35 points. It brought his total for three games to 65, a 21.7 average. Fast stepping guard Bobby Hoffman trailed Arnelle with 18 tallies and guard Ron Weidenhammer accounted for 17 more Penn State points.

Once again the Lions were hurt by foul points. The scrappy Tartans went to the free throw line 55 times and made good on 33 attempts. Foul shooting, along with some excellent rebounding, kept the smaller Pittsburgh club within reach of the Lions until the final ten minutes of the contest.

The Lions, using a pressing defense to break up an attempted Tech stall in the early part of the first half, started slowly and trailed coach Mel Cratsley's club until five minutes had passed. Midway through the period they led 16-14, and held a 38-37 edge at intermission. The lead changed hands several times in the second half and at one point Tech moved into a 54-49 lead—its largest of the game.

Lions Move Ahead

Then Arnelle opened up. (He scored 23 of his points in the second half). The big center began cutting his hook shot, and with Hoffman and Weidenhammer hitting from outside, the Lions moved ahead to stay.

Tech's Bill Dosey, who finished second in the scoring department behind Ralph Boyd (19 points), opened the scoring with a set shot early in the contest and then kept the Tartans out in front for five minutes before Weidenhammer hit from outside to put the Lions ahead, 10-8.

For the rest of the first half it was nip-and-tuck, with Earl Fields, Arnelle, and Weidenhammer carrying the brunt of the Penn State scoring strength. Weidenhammer had 10 of his 17 points before half-time.

Dosey Opens Scoring

Then Tech jumped back into the lead as the second half opened. Dosey cut the nets from the side to put them in front, 40-39. Arnelle countered with a hook from the pivot. Ed Moker made good on two foul tries but Hoffman scored from the backcourt to give the Lions the lead again. Then Tim Frank scored from underneath and Hoffman hit again on a fast break, and the Lions led, 46-45.

Two Carnegie foul points and Ron Weidenhammer's charity toss knotted the score and then Tech tallied twice to go ahead, 54-49.

Marisa, Hartnett Close Gap

Rudy Marisa and Joe Hartnett accounted for two quick Penn State baskets and Hartnett's foul point put the Lions back in front, 55-54. After that the Tartans never regained the lead but they stayed within reach until midway in the half.

The Lions go after their third win of the year tomorrow night in the second of a four-game home stand at Rec Hall. They battle Colgate tomorrow and then meet Gettysburg Friday and Rutgers Saturday.

Penn State is rated fourth in the East in the Roger B. Saylor standings compiled today for Eastern college football.

Top spot went to bowl-bound Navy, followed by Army and Pitt in that order. Boston College is fifth.

The Nittany Lions finished behind Pitt despite their 13-0 conquest of the Panthers because of the intricacies of the Saylor system under which strength-of-schedule is the prime consideration.

As Saylor points out in his ratings, Pitt played six of the nation's top 25 teams and beat three of them, including West Virginia (24th), an earlier conqueror of the Nittany Lions.

West Virginia, incidentally, was the only team in finish in the first 25 which appeared on the Penn State schedule.

Of the second 25, the Lions defeated Pitt (27th) but lost to Texas Christian (37th).

Moreover, to demonstrate the elasticity of the system, an elasticity borne out by the week-to-week results—Penn State finished ahead (33rd) of Texas Christian even though defeated by the Horned Frogs.

Duke, for the same reason, finished a step ahead of Army (22nd) in the national ranking although beaten by the Cadets.

Saylor, in compiling his standings, ignores comparative scores and lays major stress on the caliber of the opposition.

It is interesting to note, in this regard, that Pitt played three teams which finished in the first 25, five which finished in the second 25. Navy played three in the first 25, two in the second 25. Army played two in the first, two in the second.

Saylor's final Eastern standings:

	W	L	T	Rating
1. Navy	7	2	0	473
2. Army	7	2	0	460
3. Pittsburgh	7	2	0	438
4. Penn State	7	2	0	431
5. Boston College	8	1	0	405
6. Brown	6	2	1	397
7. Boston U.	7	2	0	386
8. Colgate	5	2	2	382
9. Yale	5	2	1	378
10. Cornell	5	4	0	369

West Virginia, as the highest ranking team to oppose the Nittany Lions, finished 24th in the national standing. Pitt was 27th, Penn State 33rd, and Texas Christian 37th.

Here's a complete list of Penn State opponents:

Brain Injuries Result In Sanders' Death

BOSTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—The body of heavyweight boxer Ed Sanders started its tragic plane journey to Los Angeles tonight.

Sanders died from brain injuries yesterday, some 18 hours after being knocked out in the 11th round of a New England heavyweight championship bout with Willie James of Boston. Sanders, who underwent a delicate four hour operation, never regained consciousness.

The body, going by a commercial freight line, will be followed tomorrow by Sanders' widow, Mary, her 17-month old son, Russell, and Manager Nuno Cam of Boston.

Los Angeles is the home of Sanders' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hays Sanders.

Former Olympic Champ

Memorial services will be held tomorrow at the Navy Building in South Boston where Sanders was stationed as a storekeeper. Fighting on his own time, Sanders, 217 pound, 25-year old Negro and former Olympic heavyweight title-holder, was the only active professional boxer in the Navy at the time of his death.

A standard inquest following an accidental death was expected but whether a routine technical charge of manslaughter would be lodged against James remained undetermined.

Commission Meets

Commissioner Henry Lamar of the Massachusetts State Boxing Commission reported that the tragedy had been brought up in today's meeting but that it was now out of the commission's hands.

The death was the sixth in the ring this year and second within three days. Featherweight Ralph Weiser died Friday night at Klamath Falls, Ore., after a knockout by Teddy Hall of Vancouver, B.C.

Moore Chosen On All-America

Lenny Moore added another honor to his growing collection today when he was selected on the first team of Jet magazine's all-America squad.

The Negro news magazine placed Ralph Guglielmi, Notre Dame, Bobby Watkins of Ohio State and Alan Ameche, Wisconsin, alongside Moore in the backfield.

In a letter to Jim Coogan, assistant director of public information at the University, the magazine's editors said, "Jet has just completed the selection of its first all-America, and we are pleased to announce that your great star Lenny Moore has been chosen team halfback."

This is the first time that a Negro publication has selected an all-America team.

The all-America line is as follows:

Ends: Max Boyston, Oklahoma and Ron Beagle, Navy; tackles: Art Walker, Michigan, and Jack Ellena, UCLA; guards: Tom Bettis, Purdue and Cal Jones, Iowa; center: Kurt Burris, Oklahoma.

2 Lions on All-Pitt Team

Roosevelt Grier and Earl Shumaker both won positions on Pittsburgh's all-opponent team. Grier was placed at the right tackle slot and Shumaker at left guard.

Ohio State led in the balloting with three men on the squad. The team consisted of:
LE—Ron Beagle, Navy

LT—Bruce Bosley, W. Va.
LG—Earl Shumaker, Penn State
C—John Damore, Northwestern
RG—Gene Lamone, W. Va.
RT—Roosevelt Grier, Penn State
RE—Dean Dugger, Ohio State
QB—Ralph Guglielmi, N. Dame
LH—Bob McNamara, Minnesota
RH—Bobby Watkins, Ohio State
FB—Hubert Bobo, Ohio State
