

Faculty Club Names Steering Committee

Faculty Luncheon Club members voted for a new steering committee of three men and two women yesterday in the State College Hotel. Results of the election will be announced at the next meeting. Following the election, Arthur W. Einstein, associate professor of marketing and retailing, spoke on "Professional Education in Norway." Einstein taught at the Norgeshandelshoyskole University in Bergen, Norway.

Two Receive New Positions In Education

Two former faculty members of the University will assume important posts in higher education this year.

Dr. John R. Richards, vice-chancellor of the Oregon State System of Higher Education will become chancellor of the system on July 1. Dr. David D. Henry, executive vice-chancellor of New York University, will become president of the University of Illinois on Sept. 1.

Dr. Richards received his B.A. from the University in 1929 and his M.S. in 1931. He received his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago in 1936.

He served at Penn State as instructor in engineering extension and later as assistant to the dean of the College of the Liberal Arts and director of Arts and Science Extension.

Dr. Richards will become the chief executive officer of the Oregon State System which incorporates all state higher education.

Dr. Henry received his B.A. in 1926 from the University and later won advanced degrees. He served on the faculty from 1926 to 1929, first as an instructor in engineering extension, and later as instructor in English literature. He is a former president of Wayne University in Detroit.

Mademoiselle Fiction Contest Deadline Set

The deadline for Mademoiselle's annual college fiction contest, open to all undergraduate women under 26, is March 1.

The writers of the two best stories entered in the contest will receive $500 for serial rights to their stories, which will be published in Mademoiselle. Runners-up will receive honorable mention and the magazine will reserve the right to buy their work at regular rates.

According to contest rules, entrants must be enrolled in a degree-granting college. Stories that have appeared in undergraduate publications are acceptable if they have not been published elsewhere.

Stories should be approximately 2500 to 5000 words. Entries must be typewritten double-spaced on regulation size typing paper. All work must contain the writer's name, age, home address, school address and school year. An 8½-by-11-inch manila envelope, self-addressed, should be enclosed with all entries.

Stories will be judged by Mademoiselle editors, and winners will be announced in the August issue of the magazine.

Entries should be mailed to College Fiction Contest, Mademoiselle, 575 Madison Avenue, New York 22, N.Y.

'Chest' Featured In NSA Bulletin

Articles on Campus Chest drives and foreign travel are featured in the latest issue of the National Student Association student government bulletin.

A copy of the pamphlet, received on campus yesterday, has been placed in the NSA files in 204 Old Main, Helen Sidman, acting NSA coordinator, said. The files are open to students, she added.

The article on Campus Chest drives discusses these drives as a means of educating students philanthropically. The foreign travel feature includes money saving tips.

High Standards

Extremely high standards are necessary for entrance into the University, he said. This may be attributed to the small need for professional experts in Norway, as there would not be enough positions to offer a large number of graduates, he said.

Einstein said Penn State students, though not so carefully selected, would not be so far under the Norwegian students if they too were given academic freedom.

In Norway students have as much academic freedom as faculty members. They are not compelled to attend a lecture if they don't think it will be worthwhile. Consequently, a professor's lecture must have more careful preparation to hold an audience, he said.

Courses Not Broad

However, Einstein said, the Norwegian University's curriculum doesn't offer such broadening courses as psychology or sociology to students in professional fields. Nor is there a close relationship between faculty and students. A student will rarely go to talk to a professor in his office as students are encouraged to do at Penn State, he said.

Norwegian professors are the third best salaried class in Norway, Einstein said. No professor may teach without a PhD degree in Norway, he said.

High Hopes Held For Swedes' Visit

The visit of the Swedish team is a good opportunity to further international understanding in American colleges and universities, Gene Wettstone, gymnastic coach, said recently.

The Swedish team will make 32 stops with the women's team included on the tour. The Swedes enjoyed the 1954 trip and are anxious to return in 1955, Wettstone said.

The Swedes will be accompanied on their tour of the United States by Henry Allard, member of the Swedish Parliament and Erik Linden, veteran coach who were both on last year's trip.

The women's team will be coached by Carin Delden, famed gymnastics teacher.
