Coeds to Use Pollock Road To Reach Rink

Women students may use only Pollock road in reaching the University ice skating rink, according to a Women's Student Government Association regulation revision announced yesterday by Patricia Ellis, WSGA president.

The regulation previously prohibited women students from any part of the Nittany and Pollock dormitory areas.

The revision, formulated by Miss Ellis and Nancy Ward, acting Judicial chairman, is effective now but will be subject to review by WSGA Senate at its next meeting, Miss Ellis said.

The revised rule is as follows: "Pollock Circle and Nittany Dormitories are out of bounds for women students. Women students using the ice skating rink may go to and return from the rink only by way of Pollock road. Cars driven by women students or those in which they are riding may be parked only in the skating rink parking lot which is located east of Nittany dorm 34 and north of the skating rink."

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young manufacturing expert pioneers in automation at General Electric

In 1964, our greatest shortage may be working people. This country's demand for electrical goods will be 100% greater than it is today. But there will be only 11% more workmen. How can production per man be boosted enough to close the gap?

For one answer, 31-year-old P. H. Alspach, Manager of Manufacturing Development at G.E., is exploring automation.

Automation: Continuous Automatic Production

Automation is a way of manufacturing based on the continuous-flow concept. Products will be made, inspected, assembled, tested, and packaged by a series of integrated machines in one uninterrupted flow. As industry evolves toward greater automation, more workmen will become skilled machine specialists or maintenance experts able to control complex systems.

Phil Alspach and the men under him now draft layouts for automatic systems, tackle the engineering problems involved, design automation equipment, and even build some.

23,000 College Graduates at G.E.

This is a big and important job. Alspach was readied for it in a careful, step-by-step program of development. Like Alspach, each of G.E.'s 23,000 college-graduate employees is given his chance to grow, to find the work he does best, and to realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: When fresh young minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, and the country.

PHIL ALSPACH joined G.E. shortly after graduation from Tulane (B.S. in M.E., '44), has completed G.E.'s Engineering Program, Class of 1945, and its Creative Engineering Course, 1949.
