

General Extension And Players Group Will Share TUB

General Extension and The Penn State Players will share the use of the Temporary Union Building following the opening of the Hetzel Union Building, Adrian O. Morse, Provost, announced yesterday.

The Players will have the use of the TUB Friday and Saturday nights as recommended by the students at encampment. The TUB, however, will be under the jurisdiction of General Extension which will use it as a meeting place for off-campus groups.

New Town Constitution Wins Praise

Association of Independent Men President Robert Dennis yesterday expressed great satisfaction with the town meeting provision of the proposed new constitution for town independent men.

Town Council Monday night unanimously approved the first reading of the new constitution which would make all town independent members of the body and change its name to Town Independent Men.

"Good Idea"

"I have not been able to see a copy of the new constitution yet, but generally I think it's a very good idea," Dennis said.

He said that he felt the town meeting system would be a vast improvement over the present Town Council set-up which calls for council members to be elected from each of 28 wards.

Majority Vote

Under the proposed constitution delegates at large to the Association of Independent Men's Board of Governors would be elected by a majority vote of TIM, following the election of the council officers. At present the delegates at large are elected by Town Council.

Dennis said the change in selection of delegates would probably necessitate a change in the present AIM constitution. However, the AIM constitution is presently being revised and, according to Dennis, will be presented to the board early next month.

Town Council must approve the constitution a second time before it becomes effective.

Arnelle's High Scoring Featured in Magazine

Jesse Arnelle, Nittany Lion basketball co-captain, is featured as one of the two outstanding centers in Air Force Reserve Officer Training in the January issue of "The Reservist."

According to the AFROTC official publication, Arnelle was chosen on the basis of last season's scoring record. His single season average for 1953-54 was 21.1 points per game.

The decision, Morse said, was made by President Milton S. Eisenhower who acted on recommendations offered by a committee composed of C. S. Wyand, executive assistant to the President, W. H. Wiegand, director of the department of the physical plant, and Morse, chairman. The decision must be approved by the Board of Trustees before it can become effective.

Morse said that a building that could be used 12 months of the year by off-campus groups has been needed for some time. Previous to this fall, arena-type plays were presented by the Players at Center Stage, Woodman Hall on Hamilton avenue, which was unavailable this year.

The late Arthur C. Cloetingh, who was professor of dramatics, said that the use of the TUB would force Players to make improvements on their arena type productions and it would put the theatre in an area easily reached by most people. Another advantage of the TUB was its larger seating capacity.

The shows are presented in the center of the TUB floor and not on the permanent stage. The seats are arranged circularly around the stage area. This semester, Players have presented two arena productions in the building, "Bell, Book, and Candle" and "The Corn is Green." Two more productions are scheduled for next semester.

Driving Warning Issued by Court

Traffic Court gave warning Monday that campus traffic rules will be strictly enforced by the Campus Patrol during the semester examination period.

At the court's meeting, six violators were found guilty of rule infringement and were ordered to pay a total of $16 in fines.

One student was charged with second and third infractions and was directed to pay $8 and another was fined $3 for a second violation.

Third Party to Be In Spring Elections

By DON SHOEMAKER

Editorial on Page Four

A new third party, the third one this semester, made its appearance on the campus scene last night, when John McMeekin, former vice clique chairman of State party officially announced the birth of the Campus party.

The announcement ended several weeks of speculation among the student body as to who was behind the rumored third party.

At the same time he announced the Campus party, McMeekin officially resigned his State party post.

McMeekin outlined three purposes of the new party:

1. To propose and promote participation in student government.

2. To provide student leaders to fill positions of responsibility in student government.

3. To provide all students with a democratic opportunity for representation in student government.

McMeekin justified the existence of his party on the need for more democratic student government.

We of the Campus party feel that student opinion has voiced a need for a more democratic political system on campus and we believe that by fulfilling our purposes we can satisfy this need," McMeekin said.

First Clique Meeting

The first clique meeting of the new party will be held Feb. 13, in 10 Sparks. At that meeting, clique officers will be elected.

Until then, all official business of the party will be handled by a board of 10 members, chaired by McMeekin.

McMeekin declined to name the 10 members of that board last night, saying he had been committed to withhold release of the names until after the party has received a charter from the University Senate.

McMeekin said he intends to present a copy of his constitution to Ross B. Lehman, chairman of the Senate Committee on Student Affairs subcommittee on organization control, by Friday.

Constitution to Senate

The constitution will be presented to the party for approval at the first clique meeting, provided it is accepted by Senate, McMeekin said.

The constitution was drawn up by the 10-member board.

McMeekin said he will definitely run a full slate of candidates in the spring elections, but declined to name them.

2 Students Disciplined By Senate

One student was suspended from the University and another was placed on disciplinary probation by the University Senate subcommittee on discipline yesterday for planning to siphon gasoline from trucks parked in the lot between the Forestry building and the Stock Judging Pavilions Jan. 11.

The two students admitted that they planned to siphon the gasoline. They were stopped when campus patrolmen appeared in the lot while investigating another disturbance. The next day, while still investigating the original incident, Captain Philip A. Mark, head of the Campus Patrol, visited one of the students and was told of the gasoline siphoning plan.

One student, who previously was suspended from the University in April and readmitted in September on probation, will be suspended indefinitely at the end of the semester. Readmission will be considered only under extraordinary circumstances, the subcommittee stated.

The other student will be placed on disciplinary probation at the end of the semester if he remains in school. If he is dropped under the 50 per cent rule (of courses failed) next semester, he will be placed on disciplinary probation for one year if he returns during a later semester.

Forster Presents Paper To History Association

Dr. Kent Forster, professor of history, presented a paper before the recent meetings of the American Historical Association in New York City.

Dr. Forster's topic was "Stability Versus Instability in French Society Before 1914." He said the instability that characterizes France today has not been a steady and continued growth since the defeat by Prussia in 1870.

Red Forces Bomb Yikiangshan Island

TAIPEH, Formosa, Jan. 19 (AP)—Chinese Red forces invaded Yikiangshan Island yesterday behind a curtain of bombs and naval fire, placing the vital Tachens eight miles to the south in great peril.

The Defense Department in Washington said it received official word the island had fallen.

Fears rose that the Tachens, 200 miles north of Formosa, would be next on the Red time table as the Peiping radio trumpeted that tiny Yikiangshan was "liberated" in less than two hours of fighting.

The Defense Ministry, however, insisted the garrison still was putting up resistance late last night and claimed the invaders suffered heavy losses.

The ministry said the thin line of guerrilla defenders of Yikiangshan, a rocky island of little more than three square miles, sank six motorized junks and one gunboat of the invasion fleet and damaged another gunboat. It added that ground fire shot down two Russian-made planes.

Throughout the day, Nationalist warplanes from Formosa flew over the area harassing the invasion fleet. The air force claimed two Red warships were damaged in dive bombing attacks.

Anxious watchers in the Tachens, which screen the northern invasion approaches to Formosa, saw great fires blaze on the tiny island.

The chief value of Yikiangshan is as a stepping stone to the Tachens, which are within easy reach of long-range guns. There were reports the Reds already were lobbing shells into the Tachens.

In the tense atmosphere, President Chiang Kai-shek scheduled conferences with his top military leaders. The feeling persisted in unofficial quarters that the Reds might strike at the Tachens at any time.

In Washington, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles appeared to rule out the possibility that the U.S. Seventh Fleet, which guards Formosa from invasion, would become involved. He said that neither Yikiangshan nor the Tachens were vital to the defense of Formosa.

Cabinet Oath Administered To Profs

The oath of office was administered yesterday to two University professors who will serve in Governor George M. Leader's cabinet.

Dr. William L. Henning, head of the department of dairy husbandry, was sworn in as Secretary of Agriculture, and Maurice K. Goddard, director of the School of Forestry, was installed as Secretary of Forests and Waters.

The new cabinet members will assume their government posts immediately. They have been granted indefinite leaves of absence from the University.

Also participating in the inaugural ceremonies were five political science professors from the University who were part of a special advisory committee to assist in the orderly and constructive changeover to the new administration yesterday.

The five are Dr. Harold F. Alderfer, Dr. R. Wallace Brewster, Dr. M. Nelson McGeary, Dr. Elton Atwater, and Dr. Charles F. Lee-Decker.

Scattered Snow Flurries To Continue This Week

The weather will continue partly cloudy and cold with scattered snow flurries for the next few days, the University weather station has reported.

High today will be between 28 and 30. The low tonight is a predicted 15 to 20.

Registration Plans Remain Unchanged

Spring Semester registration procedure through Recreation Hall will be the same as that used last semester, registration officers announced. Registration will be from Feb. 2-5.

The alphabetical listings printed on the timetables will be strictly observed in admitting students to Rec Hall. No exceptions to the alphabetical schedule will be made, and no student will be permitted to register early.

All students, regardless of class standing, whose last names begin with Fas-McD will register Wednesday, Feb. 2. Those whose last names begin with McE-Urb will register on Thursday, Feb. 3, and those whose names begin with Urc-Far will register Friday, Feb. 4. Special students and college employees must register Feb. 5.

Students should report to their advisers at least 24 hours before they are scheduled to report to Rec Hall. At this time students will pick up their registration envelopes and fill out forms contained in this envelope. A trial schedule should be made and kept up to date while being processed through registration, because students receive no other listing of their courses.

Students will enter Rec Hall first from the north exit, opposite the Nittany Lion Inn. Admittance will be made only at the time designated on the registration envelope. A matriculation card, bursar's receipt for fees, and an official registration form (card No. 2 from the envelope) with advisor's signature are required for admission to Rec Hall.

The bursar's receipt is obtainable upon the payment of the registration fees which may be done anytime prior to registration in the basement of Willard. Students who have lost their matriculation cards must report to 109 Willard where a temporary card will be issued. A $1 fee will be charged.

Before last semester students registered alphabetically according to their class standing with juniors and seniors registering first.
