

Centennial Stamps Will Go on Sale

Plans call for three-cent stamps commemorating the 100th anniversary of the University and Michigan State College to be on sale at the borough post office Sunday.

Borough Postmaster Robert J. Miller said the stamp window at the post office would remain open for several hours Sunday if enough persons seem interested in buying stamps.

Eisenhower To Receive Law Degree

President Milton S. Eisenhower will be awarded the honorary LL.D. degree by Michigan State College at its Founder's Day Convocation on Saturday.

The degree will be one of 13 conferred by President John A. Hannah at the Convocation scheduled for 3 p.m. Michigan State begins its centennial celebration with this program.

President Eisenhower will speak Saturday morning at a program to mark the issuance of the special Land-Grant commemorative postage stamp which honors both Michigan State and Penn State as the first land-grant college and university.

The citation to be read for Dr. Eisenhower reads:

"Milton Stover Eisenhower—Leader of a great sister land-grant institution sharing in the commemoration of a hundred years of education progress, you have epitomized in your life and in your university the land-grant ideal of service to the nation and the world. In many labors, within and without the college walls, at home and abroad, you have given your humanity no less than your technical training to all who needed them. As educational leader and public servant, you have led us all towards the future wherein none shall hunger for bread or light or beauty."

Penalty Given To MI Student

A seventh semester Mineral Industries student has been placed on disciplinary probation for two semesters after being found with crib notes during a final examination.

The student will be allowed to remain enrolled in extra-curricular activities, Frank J. Simes, dean of men, said yesterday, but he will not be allowed to hold executive positions in any club or organization or work on any committees.

A record of the student's academic violation will be made on his permanent transcript, Simes said.

The probation was set by the Senate Committee on Academic Affairs, composed of four faculty members and three students.

The probation will continue until the student's graduation in February, 1956.

Group to Advise Acquisition of Art

President Milton S. Eisenhower has appointed a committee to advise on the acquisition of works of art by the University.

The committee will advise the President on all matters pertaining to selections, acceptances, and presentations of works of art.

Francis E. H. Slop, associate professor of fine arts, has been named chairman of the committee. Other members are Richard C. Maloney, assistant dean, College of Liberal Arts; Sybil D. Emerson, associate professor of art education; and George S. Zoretich, assistant professor of fine arts.

From June to September, 1863, the University was closed because the students enlisted to repel the Northern invasion of General Robert E. Lee, commander-in-chief of the Confederate forces.

3rd Party May Ratify Constitution

The Campus Party will outline its purposes, and may ratify its constitution and elect clique officers at its first clique meeting Sunday night.

The party is open to all students, regardless of their past political affiliations.

Purposes and reasons for forming the third party, according to John McMeekin, an organizer of the party, are:

1. To propose and promote participation in student government.
2. To provide capable student leaders to fill positions of responsibility in student government.
3. To provide all students with a democratic opportunity for representation in student government.

McMeekin said yesterday that he felt student government should take a more active part in campus issues and that party candidates should have a chance to be elected on what they intend to do and their capabilities, rather than on a platform of planks such as "no Saturday classes."

The party has submitted its constitution for approval by the Senate Committee on Student Affairs subcommittee on organizational control. Ross B. Lehman, chairman of the subcommittee, said yesterday that any group may hold organizational meetings until the time of the committee's approval.

If Lehman's subcommittee approves Campus Party's constitution it will be sent to the Senate Committee on Student Affairs. The final step in obtaining a charter will be the vote of the University Senate.

The party can not go into elections without a charter approved by the Senate.

Students Gets Fine For Dumping Trash

Quinto Torretti, eighth semester labor and management major, pleaded guilty to throwing rubbish on another's property on Jan. 24.

He was released upon payment of a fine and costs after pleading guilty to "throwing articles on the land of another" at a hearing before Squire Raymond N. Brooks, Bellefonte.

State Police of the Rockview sub-station who made the arrest, said that the previous week, Torretti threw rubbish on the land of George Hoy Harter, near the intersection of Rt. 322 and Branch road.

Former Metallurgy Professor Died Saturday at Age of 76

The retired head of the department of metallurgy, Dr. David F. McFarland, 76, 121 N. Atherton St., died at 6:35 p.m. Saturday at the Centre County Hospital.

Internationally renowned for his work in metallurgy and metallurgical education, Dr. McFarland was honored after his retirement by having an award named after him, the "David Ford McFarland Award." The award is presented each year to an outstanding University graduate student in metallurgy.

Dr. McFarland also played a large part in the discovery of the first large commercial deposit of helium near Dexter, Kan.

University Professor
In 1920 he came to the University as professor and head of the metallurgy department. He also served as acting dean of the College of Mineral Industries in 1922 and again in 1927 and 1928. He retired as professor emeritus of metallurgy on June 30, 1945.

Dr. McFarland received his BA and MA from the University of Kansas and his MS and PhD degrees from Yale University. In 1900 he began his teaching career as an instructor in chemistry at the University of Kansas. He returned there in 1903 after studying at Yale. He was appointed assistant professor of applied chemistry at the University of Illinois in 1916.

Joins Organizations
Dr. McFarland was a member of the American Chemical Society, Illinois Academy of Science, American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, British Institute of Metals, American Society for Metals, Sigma Gamma Epsilon, Sigma Xi, Phi Lambda Upsilon, and a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

He was also a member of Alpha Tau Omega and Alpha Chi Sigma, professional chemistry fraternity, and the State College Presbyterian Church.

UBA of the PENN STATE BOOK EXCHANGE

Sunday will be the first day the commemorative stamps become available anywhere except in East Lansing, Mich., home of Michigan State. The stamps will go on sale there Saturday.

Miller said he has received some requests that the stamps be made available in the borough Sunday. If enough requests are received, he said, arrangements for the Sunday sale will be made. Otherwise the stamps will not go on sale until Monday.

Miller said he has received greater number of requests for cancellations dated Feb. 22, the official anniversary of the University.

2 Million Copies Issued
Postal authorities estimate that more than two million copies of the issue will be sold to collectors and other interested people. The stamp is only the third ever issued to honor a college or a university.

Covers to Be Sold
First day covers, which are engraved envelopes with special commemorative seals, will be made available Saturday in East Lansing. These covers with the stamp affixed can be mailed to collectors from East Lansing with the first day cancellation, reading "first day issue," on each. The covers will be sold at Kellogg Center on the Michigan State campus, and in East Lansing.

Collectors desiring the first day cancellation of the new issue may send addressed covers to the East Lansing postmaster with a money order remittance covering the cost of the stamps to be affixed. Postal authorities have requested that collectors limit themselves to 10 or 15 covers.

These first day covers sent to East Lansing should contain filler of medium weight and the envelope should be tucked in or sealed. The outside cover should be addressed to the East Lansing post office and endorsed "first day cover" to facilitate mailing.
