

Men to Debate On Red China

The Men's Debate Team will send four members to the Marshall-Wythe Tournament at William and Mary College on Friday and Saturday.

Nearly 30 colleges and universities will take part in the tournament.

The question will be: "Resolved: That the United States should recognize the Communist government of China."

Taking the affirmative side for the University will be Sidney Goldblatt, eighth semester pre-medical major, and Benjamin Sinclair, eighth semester arts and letters major. On the negative side will be David Meckler, eighth semester pre-medical major, and Jonathan Plaut, fourth semester industrial engineering major.

To Accompany Team

Dr. H. J. O'Brien, assistant speech professor and coach of the debate team, will accompany the men to the tournament.

The team will send two men to debate at the Federal Prison at Lewisburg on Feb. 17. Taking the affirmative side on the question of Communist China will be Irwin Weiner, eighth semester journalism major, and Jerry Donovan, eighth semester labor management major. The negative side will be taken by two men from the prison.

To Continue Debate

On Feb. 15 the debate team will send two men to Mount Mercy College to continue the debate begun at Penn State. The question will be: "Resolved: The housewife should have one day a week free."

Robert Hawk, seventh semester arts and letters major, and Otto Hetzel, seventh semester arts and letters major, will argue the negative side. Two women from Mount Mercy will take the affirmative side.

20 Colleges to Be At Air Conclave

Twenty colleges from North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, and Pennsylvania will attend the Arnold Air Society District Conclave from Feb. 25 to 27.

Members of Angel Flight, Women's Auxiliary Corps, will greet the representatives at the Armory and provide stenographic and other services for the members during the conclave.

Ann Lederman, Flight leader, announced a mixer with the Arnold Air Society to be held at the March meeting.

Recent appointments in Angel Flight include, Virginia Coskery, historian; Diane Hallock, public relations officer; Carole Ruff, publications officer; Donna McCrimmon, refreshment committee chairman.

Angel Flight will meet on Feb. 22 in the Armory. Members are requested to bring their dues of $2.50 to the meeting.

Independents Plan to Hold Farewell Party

Leonides and the Association of Independent Men will hold a farewell party for the Temporary Union Building on Feb. 22. The party will be held, appropriately, in the TUB.

Joy Oram has been appointed by Leonides president Joan Packard, chairman of a committee to prepare a calendar of independent student activities for the semester. Other members of the committee are Judith Pendleton, Loretta Hunter, Helen Spagnolo, Jackie Mulcey, Martha Hardy, and Christine Forte.

Miss Packard has announced Leonides pins are available for independent women and may be obtained from unit representatives or the dean of women's office.

Miss Packard also announced that a joint meeting of the Leonides and AIM executive boards will be held next Wednesday, to discuss national projects of the National Independent Student Association and the NISA convention to be held at Colorado A and M College April 11 to 14.

Members of Leonides will usher at the Penn State Club talent show to be held Feb. 25.

Sweetheart Ball To Be Feb. 19

The Sweetheart Ball, annual dance sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association, will be held Feb. 19. The ball, a boy ask girl affair, will feature Al Wyand's Orchestra. Tickets will be $1.75 per couple.

Mildred McCowan, WRA president, announced last night that invitations have been sent.

Delta Delta Delta was awarded the participation cup by WRA. The cup is awarded each semester to the team which has had the greatest participation in intramural sports.

This is the second successive semester that Delta Delta Delta has won the cup. Kappa Delta placed second and Alpha Kappa Alpha, third.

Seventeen students will participate in Lycoming Sports Day Feb. 26 at Lycoming State Teachers College. The events will include swimming, bowling, badminton, and basketball.
