

Orange Cast Uncertain For Saturday Mat Test

When it comes to trying to name the most likely lineup that Penn State's matmen will encounter when they travel to Syracuse Saturday, only two things are safe to say: Syracuse will show up for the match and coach Joe Daniel will name an eight-man team to handle the Orange wrestling chores.

But whom Daniel will choose for what particular weight to face the Lions is like picking not only all the winning horses in a day's racing, but also naming which horses will run in what race before the scratch sheet is released.

Daniel, whose Orange squad has a 2-1 record, has juggled 12 men into different weight classes for his squad's last three matches; but at the same time, Daniel has used four of his men in no less than ten different combinations.

In grabbing wins from Temple, 22-8, and finally Army, 16-14, after losing his opener to Cortland, 18-16, Daniel has stuck with only two men as starters in three matches.

Fink Only Unbeaten

Don Clark, 123-pounder with a 2-1 record, and heavyweight George Fink, only man on the squad with a 3-0 record, have seen action in Syracuse's three matches.

In the remaining six weights the list of Syracuse matmen is nothing but a puzzle of names that changed with each of the meets.

Daniel has indicated with repeated changes that he has been experimenting to seek the best combinations in his 147-, 157-, 167-, and 177-pound classes.

Rooney Tried Two Weights

Ron Marinello and Ed Rooney hold the honors for moving around in weights. Both men have wrestled in three different weights in as many matches. Marinello has worked the 147-, 157-, and 167-pound weights for a 1-2 record; his teammate, Rooney, was first moved from 157 pounds to 177 pounds for the Temple match and then to the 167 class against Army. Rooney, however, in facing Cortland, Army, and Temple, has won each of his matches.

Bob Smith and Tom King also have been shifting between two weights. King wrestled his first two matches against Cortland and Temple. He won both but then lost when he replaced Bill Torres at 137 pounds against Army. Torres had lost his first two matches against the Owls and the New York school.

Smith first wrestled at 177 pounds and won against Cortland. Then he shifted to 167 pounds against Temple and won again. For the Army match he was shift-

Detroit Gathers Outfield Wealth

DETROIT, Feb. 9 (AP)—Watch for the "left field sweepstakes" at the Detroit Tigers' training camp this spring. It should make quite a race.

With fleetsters Al Kalline and Bill Tuttle holding down two-thirds of the outfield positions, the left field post is wide open.

Manager Bucky Harris, fortunate man, will have four players to choose from—veteran Jim Delsing and rookies John Phillips, J. W. Porter and Chick King. For old times sake, you can toss in the Tigers' veteran of veterans, 35-year-old Steve Souchock.

Frick Issues Warning

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick has warned all major league executives he will consider loose talk about expansion "detrimental to baseball" until the time has come for specific action.

Frick's order, sent privately to all major league clubs as "Notice No. 5, Re: League Expansion" was aimed at buttoning the lips of baseball men who name minor league cities and expansion dates in public.

ed back to the 177-pound class where he won his third straight.

Daniel's most successful combination thus far has been Clark (123), Charlie Root (130), King (147), Marinello (157), Rooney (167), Smith (177), and heavyweight Fink.

But with this combination Daniel will be weak at the 130-, 137-, and 157-pound classes with Clark, King, Rooney, Smith, and Fink carrying most of the burden in the search for a win.

Cagers Among Hopefuls For NIT Bid

Penn State's basketball team was listed as one of 11 quintets under consideration for a bid in the National Invitation Tournament last night, according to an Associated Press release. The tourney will be held March 12-19 at Madison Square Garden.

This year the rules will prevent a team from playing in both the NIT and NCAA tournaments. Regional playoffs for the NCAA start March 7, and the finals will be held March 19, in Kansas City.

Last night's victory over West Virginia—the Lions' second win against the Mountaineers—moved the Nittanies' record up to 14-5, with six games remaining.

Penn State played in the NCAA tourney last year, moving into the semi-finals before being eliminated by LaSalle. The Lions then rebounded to whip Southern California in the consolation game to finish third.

John Eglil, in his first season as Lion basketball coach, will lead his team against Washington and Jefferson, Colgate, Syracuse, and Rutgers in four straight road tussles before bringing the team back to Rec Hall to face Pitt and Penn.

Pollard, Perry OK, Will Run Saturday

Sprint star Art Pollard and ace hurdler Rod Perry probably will be able to see action in Saturday's four-way indoor track meet with Michigan State, Missouri, and Ohio State, Lion coach Chick Werner said yesterday. However, Ollie Sax, who has used up his eligibility with the Lions and who has been running for the New York Athletic Club, will be out of action for the remainder of the campaign.

Pollard, Perry, Werner, and Sax were among those injured in a two-car collision Sunday night.

Nine Independent Teams Advance in IM Contests

Independent teams started intramural basketball bouncing again Tuesday night after their vacation delay. Nine games were played.

In the night's leading game, the Mibs upset the previously unbeaten Skyrockets, 18-16, to cast the League H lead into a three-team deadlock. The Skyrockets, along with Town Council and the Deltasigs, now own a 4-1 win-loss record since the latter two teams both won their games.

The Deltasigs and Town Council had easy times with their opponents. Led by Larry Gershman, who had one of his lowest scoring nights with nine points, the Deltasigs tormented the Atherton Men, 29-15. Town Council had even less trouble whipping the McElwain Men, 26-8.

Two unbeaten teams continued their winning streaks to keep the League G lead at a stalemate. In the first game Hamilton Six defeated the Giraffes, 29-25. The losers' one-two scoring punch of Herb Bouquin and Bob Beamer with 11 and 10 points was more than offset by Hamilton Six's teamwork and James Capone's 11 points.

In the other League G battle, the Snorks kept pace by eeking out a 24-21 victory over the Irvin Aces.

The highest scoring game of the night saw the House of Davis win a tight 29-27 decision from the Cougars. The contest featured a scoring duel between Ron McGrainor of the winners and Bob Thomas. The Cougars won the private duel, at least, since Thomas outscored his opponent, 14-12, to gain individual high-scoring honors for the night.

In other games, the Helenic Club beat the Penn Club, 25-23; the Watts Warriors defeated the Gophers, 27-19; and the Setters walked away with a 28-13 decision over the Hyfliers.

4-Way Battle Looms In Saturday's Meet

Top milers for the Tigers are Keith Bacon (4:23.1) and Hirshey (4:21.7). In the two-mile run it will be Tom Fort (9:58.3), Lynn Romann (9:39.3), and Charlie Williams (9:40.7).

Dave Horn is Missouri's best bet in the high jump. Last season he cleared the bar at 6'3" against Kansas and at 6'4" in the Ozark AAU meet. One of Botts' top performers on last year's freshman team was Charlie Mehrer, a 6-3, 220 pounder who has heaved the shot 48' 1 1/2" outdoors. Ron Salmons has hurled the iron ball past the 50 foot marker both indoors and outdoors and is the Tigers No. 1 weightman. Harold Brunine is the leaping Tiger of them all with jumps of 21 and 22 feet coming regularly. His best effort last season was a 22' 6 3/8" leap in a dual meet with Nebraska. Sophomore pole vaulter Carl Englund cleared 13' as a freshman and is the top vaulter for Missouri this season.

quarter in 49.5 sec. indoors and 47.5 sec. outdoors, or George Jones, a sophomore.

Bob Weadick, junior speedster, who has been clocked at 1:55 for the 880-yard run and at 4:20 for the mile, and Don Bartels, a 1:56 half miler, will be used in the half-mile race.

Guy Beretich is Snyder's second choice behind Coldren in the mile. In the two-mile grind it will be Lloyd and possibly Coldren.

Three Top High Jumpers
Snyder has three high jumpers—Willie Anderson, Keller, and Milestone—who have hit 6 feet or better. Pat Ranally and Stevenson have both bettered 21 feet in the broad jump. Joe Morgan is Ohio State's best shot-putter. He has hit 54' 1" with the 16-pound shot.

Dave Caldwell, a 12' 4" vaulter, is Snyder's lone choice in pole vaulting competition.

All four teams are strong, and where one may be weak, the other may be strong, leading to what is expected to be one of the most hotly contested indoor meets in many moons.
