

Hepbron to Talk on Crime

Crime in the Community Will Be Forum Theme

Organized crime in the United States will come in for an airing tonight when Dr. James M. Hepbron, noted criminologist, speaks on "Hail Felon Well Met or Organized Community versus Organized Crime" before the Community Forum in Schwab Auditorium.

Dr. Hepbron's talk will begin at 8 p.m.

Kaminsky Will Play In Schwab

Max Kaminsky, noted for outstanding contributions to the jazz era, will present a concert at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium. The Jazz Club and Campus Chest are sponsoring the concert. Proceeds are to go to Campus Chest.

Tickets are $1.00 and may be obtained at the Student Union desk in Old Main, the Harmony Shop, and from members of the Jazz Club.

Max Kaminsky has been featured with such "name" bands as Tommy Dorsey, Artie Shaw, Benny Goodman, and the late Glenn Miller. He and his trumpet were featured on Tommy Dorsey's recordings of "That's A Plenty," "The Royal Garden Blues," and "Jada." Kaminsky has popularized the original Dixieland band and his recording of "Muskrat Ramble" has become a national favorite through its use by a number of radio shows as the signature theme.

Kaminsky is no stranger to college campuses. He was named "Ivy League Jazz Favorite" for his concerts at Yale, Harvard, Princeton, and Smith. After a recent concert at Smith College, one of the faculty members, a professor of music said, "Max, last night the New York Philharmonic played here with 110 men. Tonight your six men played not only almost as loud, but left me pretty impressed."

WDFM Names Executive Staff

The newly appointed executive staff of WDFM, campus radio station, includes John Stern, program director; Morton Slakoff, assistant program director; Eleanor Moran, assistant continuity director; Gerald Miller, music director; John Thornton, assistant music director; and Maurine Leonard, assistant traffic director.

New producers for radio shows are Gerald Miller on Hi-Fi Open House and James Martin on The Third Program. George Mastroianni will replace Craig Sanders on the air work of Just Out.

Science Honorary Sponsors Lecture

Dr. John F. Corso, associate professor of psychology, will speak on "Research in Hearing and Deafness" at 8 p.m. tomorrow in 119 Osmond.

The lecture, sponsored by Sigma Xi, science honorary society, will be open to the public.

Dr. Corso participated in the establishment of the psychological laboratory of the United States Army at Ft. Knox, Ky., and served as chief of the sound and vibration section, psychology branch, Army Medical Research Laboratory.

Since 1952, Dr. Corso has been directing the Human Factors Research Program in the department of psychology.

Dr. Hepbron has had wide experience in dealing with the subject.

He is special consultant and administrative assistant to the Senate Crime Investigation Committee, commonly known as the Ke-fauver committee. It was this group that investigated organized

Coeds Are Urged To Attend 'Dinners'

Coeds may still sign to go to fraternities for the "Birthday exchange dinners" on Feb. 22, Diehl McKalip, chairman of the University Student Centennial Committee, announced last night.

Lists will be posted in Simmons, McElwain, and Atherton Halls where women may sign their name and meal ticket number. The lists will be collected by the committee at noon tomorrow.

McElwain urged women to participate in this function so that the Birthday may become an all-University affair and not be limited only to the 650 guests in the banquet room of the Hazel Union Building.

ODK Endorses Plan For Local Chapter

The national body of Omicron Delta Kappa, men's leadership fraternity, has officially endorsed plans for establishing a chapter at the University.

If the Senate Committee on Student Affairs approves the constitution the chapter will be installed early in May, Arthur M. Wellington, professor of education and an ODK alumnus, announced yesterday.

Dr. Robert Bishop, Dean of Men at the University of Cincinnati and National Secretary of ODK, met with students, faculty members, and administration representatives Sunday to answer questions on organization.

Seven-Man Group Named
A seven-man committee was authorized to proceed with the selection of charter members and to continue organizational plans. The 20 students at the Sunday meeting elected Watson Leese, George Williams, Robert Dennis, and Bruce Lieske as their representatives. The University administration will be represented by Frank J. Simes, dean of men, Lion's Paw by Ross Leman, an alumnus, and Omicron Delta Kappa by Wellington.

They will select charter members from among all eligible junior and senior men. Each junior or senior man who is scholastically in the upper 35 per cent of the men in his college and who is outstanding in one field of student life or a leader in two or more fields, will be screened on the basis of character, campus service and leadership, and his adherence to democratic ideals.

Five Major Fields
The five major fields of student life according to ODK, are student government, social and religious affairs; scholarship; publications; forensic and applied arts; and athletics.

Dr. Bishop said that as a group the ODK Circle would not become involved in campus politics.

Thus, for example, with all political parties represented in ODK, it would be unlikely that it would, as a group, become involved in student politics.

The committee on membership and organization will begin a series of meetings this week to determine membership standards, Wellington said.

Dr. Bishop said he did not feel that ODK would be duplicatory in its selection of members so as to be in competition with other honorary groups because of its requirements in several areas of college life.

Town Council to Hear Proposed Constitution

Town Council will take final action on its proposed new constitution at the Town Council meeting at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 103 Willard. If approved, the constitution will go into effect immediately.

Under the proposed constitution, all town independents would become members of the group which would change its name to Town Independent Men.
