

WSGA Senate Appoints Six

Women's Student Government Association Senate last night appointed six women to fill vacant seats on Judicial, the freshman regulations board and freshman senate.

Nancy Ward, former senior alternate, and Jeanette Nitrauer, eighth semester arts and letters major, were appointed to fill two Judicial seats. Faith Gallagher, eighth semester arts and letters major, was appointed to fill Miss Ward's place.

Joyce Herbst, second semester physics major, was appointed to the vacant freshman senator place.

Rheda Berger, fourth semester home economics major, was placed on the Freshman Regulations Board.

Gail Lepine, fourth semester physical education major, was chosen as the new Judicial secretary.

WSGA Elections

Senate decided that primary elections of WSGA members would be held on March 22 and final elections March 24. Constance Weitknecht, sixth semester education major, was appointed chairman of the elections committee.

Names of the "Tea for Coeds" committee were also approved.

Arlene Borgeson, secretary, outlined tentative plans for a marriage conference to be held March 8, 9, and 10 in Simmons Lounge. The program will include Dr. Clifford R. Adams, professor of psychology and marital relations expert; the Rev. Luther H. Harshbarger, University chaplain; Rabbi Benjamin Kahn and Dr. Winona L. Morgan, professor of child development and family relationships.

Coffee hours and discussion periods will be held after the speeches.

Tables Discussion

Senate tabled the discussion of its constitution until a later date. A vote on the rules revision will be taken on March 16.

Freshman women living in Atherton Hall will be allowed to elect their own officers and have a seat on Freshman Council, Senate decided.

Grad Students To Hold Panel

Recent trends in research, with emphasis on methodology and administration, is the topic to be considered in a panel discussion sponsored by the Graduate Student Council and Pi Gamma Mu, social science honorary society, at 7:30 tonight in the Mineral Science Auditorium.

Dr. Henry A. Finch, associate professor of philosophy, will review some historic and contemporary philosophies of research and consider the logical determinants of research. Dr. Finch will also comment on the relation between scientific progress and ways of organizing research.

Macklin E. John, professor of rural sociology, will discuss the role of the social science research center, emphasizing organized research in the fields of the social sciences.

Dr. Elbert F. Osborn, dean of the College of Mineral Industries, will discuss the administration of project research.

Pledges Paint School

Twenty-two pledges of Phi Kappa Tau took paint brushes in hand Tuesday night and went to work on the Pleasant Gap elementary school.

The work night went along with the fraternity's idea of combining pledge training with worthwhile community service.

Martha McDonald Apple Queen

McDonald Is Pennsylvania Apple Queen

Martha McDonald, sixth semester home economics major, was chosen Pennsylvania Apple Queen Tuesday in York.

Miss McDonald was selected on the basis of poise; personality; appearance in formal, informal and street attire; and her knowledge of the fruit industry. She will represent the State at the Shenandoah National Apple Blossom festival in Winchester, Va., this spring.

Representing Franklin County, the University student competed against contestants from York, Adams, and Lancaster counties.

The purpose of the contest, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Horticultural Association and the Women's Auxiliary, is to help in the advertising and selling of apples.

The queen will receive a four-day trip to Atlantic City in June, 15 pairs of nylon hosiery, a patent leather shoes and handbag set, compact, skin sachet, and orchid and gardenia corsages.

Contest judges were Miss Lydia Tarrant, home economics director of extension service at the University; Edward Gailhart, Pennsylvania Grocers Association; and Carroll Miller, executive secretary of Appalachian Apple Service, W.Va.

Miss McDonald is a pledge of Phi Mu and was recently elected president of her pledge class. She is a member of the Women's Chorus, the 4-H Club, and the Penn State Grange.

Panel Announces Rushing Changes

Bids to sororities for women going through informal rushing may be sent out from today on instead of Monday as previously had been decided by the Panhellenic Council.

Women may register for rushing in the dean of women's office in Old Main until Saturday.

There is a strict silence period between rushee and the sorority until a bid is answered after bids are sent out by the sorority.

Sweetheart Ball To Be Saturday

The Sweetheart Ball, annual Women's Recreation Association dance, will be held from 9 p.m. to midnight Saturday in White Hall.

Mary Buchanan, dance chairman, appointed the following committee heads: Margaret Davis, tickets; Nancy Peterson, invitations; Pauline Paulekas, decorations; Barbara Edgington, refreshments; and Sylvia Fish, publicity.

Decorations for the dance will carry out a Valentine theme with hearts and cupids. Refreshments will be served.

Tickets are on sale for $1.75 per couple at the Student Union desk in Old Main. Al Wyand's orchestra will provide the music for the semi-formal, girl-ask-boy dance.

Religion Classes To Begin Tonight

Classes in beginner's Hebrew and the Old Testament sponsored by Hillel Foundation will begin tonight.

These classes are open to the public without charge or registration. They meet weekly at the foundation.

Marian Schwartz, graduate student in arts and letters, will teach the beginner's Hebrew class at 7 p.m. on Thursdays. The course in the Old Testament will be taught by Rabbi Benjamin Kahn, director of the foundation, at 8 p.m. on Thursdays.

Used Book Collection Will Begin Saturday

Used books for the Centre County Library and the Bookmobile can be left from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday at the Borough Municipal building.

Thru the Looking Glass

with Gabbi

Hush, you muskies, it's time for retreats—sure is tough plowing around this campus of late, the only ones at home are those with fur-lined hip boots—let's go spring! That's when a young man's fancy turns to what a woman thinks of all year round—and what you should be thinking of—right now—is a quickie trip to ETHELS, the home of the unusual (did you think I was going to say brave?)

Copper isn't that guy who gives out tickets in ETHEL'S, it's that beautiful gleam radiating from glass shelves in the form of teapots, planters and carafes. These are those pyrex coffee-keep-me-warms, in copper stands with copper cork-tops—what's this world coming to—we'll soon be using copper book-covers—and what will happen to the penny industry? These gargets make great gifts for trousseaus or housewarmings—got any in mind?

Dress up that room or suite with some beautiful lamps from ETHELS that provide that soft glow and direct light, so important for studying or playing bridge. Many styles to suit the setting and many prices to suit the purse—don't be in the dark, get in the know! Toss around a few gala colored pillows, hither and yon, over cigarette burns in upholstery or spilled coffee—besides they add such a gay note and make great head rests or pillow fight equipment.

An illuminating experience for you... a handful of electricity in the form of a "Cozy-lite" that comes in several colors and clips on your book or head-board. It's the greatest for 2 o'clock book reading sessions when your roommate subtly hints about the glaring overhead light as he buries his (or her) head under the mattress. (Looking for a monkey wrench, no doubt). They're clever, handy, and only 1.95. Of course ETHELS is the place to shop—we'll see you there...

It Takes 2—

That's right! It takes two ingredients to make your lunch or snack a satisfying success!

1. a good, rich MILKSHAKE — made from Strickler's pure vanilla ice cream. So thick you have to eat it with a spoon!
2. and a SANDWICH — as substantial as a full course meal. Try our grilled cheese or tuna fish—you won't even miss your meat during LENT.
