

Constitution Adopted By WSGA Senate

Women's Student Government Association Senate last night adopted the complete new revised constitution.

Susan Hill, chairman of the constitution revisions committee, read the proposed revised constitution to Senate. Approval was unanimous.

The revised bylaws, election code, House of Representatives rules, and Freshman Council regulations will be voted upon next week.

Carolyn Cunningham, junior senator, announced that WSGA Convocation will be held March 28. Helen Scheilman, Dean of Women at Purdue University, will be the speaker.

Council Considers Dating Rule
Freshman Council has voted approval of dropping the rule forbidding first semester freshmen women to date after 5:30 p.m. on weekdays. The Council will discuss the matter further at future meetings to decide on possible action on the rule.

Gail Smith, senior senator, reported that a centennial fashion show will be included in the Freshman Tea. Models will show costumes from various periods in the University's life.

Senate discussed the problem of line-jumping, and possible penalties and preventions for the offense. It was decided that since most of the problem seemed to be concentrated in the West Dorm and Thompson Hall area, Freshman Council would discuss the matter and decide on possible solutions. Any ruling proposed by Freshman Council would have to be considered by Freshman Regulations Board and be sanctioned by them.

Questionnaires Evaluated
Patricia Dickinson, junior senator, announced that the questionnaires regarding the advisability of selecting hall chairmen to enforce women's regulations in the dormitories had been tabulated. Results indicated a need for further discussion and consideration of the problem, and the committee was instructed to take up the matter for further action.

Apple Queen, Miss Pennsylvania, Miss Centre County, and Sweetheart of Alpha Fire Company.

Fraternities also have queens, usually known as Sweethearts of, for instance, Sigma Phi Nothing. These are based on such factors as being the girl who most often got the house on social pro, the girl who has been pinned to the most different boys in the house, and the girl who is so generous as to volunteer housemother services to the house.

Having scholastic difficulties? Become a campus queen; you will have privileges comparable to campus athletes. You, too, can be queen for a day.

Panhel President Has Wide Interests

(This is the first in a series of personality sketches on women in All-University Cabinet.)

A stranger being introduced to petite Louise Moreman would hardly realize that this quiet young lady holds one of the highest and most important women's positions in the University's complex student government system.

As president of Panhellenic Council, Miss Moreman heads the social government of the more than 800 sorority women on campus.

Miss Moreman, a member of Delta Zeta, is an eighth semester arts and letters major. In addition to her Panhel executive duties, her campus activities have covered the field from intramural sports to the women's chorus.

Music is her primary interest, she says. She is song chairman of Delta Zeta and has worked with the Simons Musicales group for several seasons. Teaching music is her vocational goal. She has also worked with the Community Concert Association.

Holds Cabinet Seat
Miss Moreman served as vice president of Panhel last year and succeeded to the presidency last fall. By virtue of her present office, she holds a seat on All-University Cabinet.

She is also a member of the Senate subcommittee on student affairs and the Student Union Board. She has been named in Who's in the News two consecutive years.

Under her leadership Panhel has undertaken an extensive program of revising its rushing regulations.

Friendship Is Goal
Speaking of the goals of Panhel, Miss Moreman said, "We hope to establish better friendship among all groups on campus."

She also said that the council hopes its program will foster understanding and pleasant relations between the University and townspeople.

Through the Looking Glass
with Gabbi
Well here we are, after picking up all the party hats, washing all the dishes and putting the furniture back in place after the big birthday celebration—no wonder the infirmary was so crowded! Just got word of a new Broadway hit just written—"Coffee and Pity"—or Breakfast in the girls dorms—starring Deborah Trolley. Speaking of hits—ETHEL'S has scored a few more . . .

Don't let the sun get in your eyes
nor the stars either, if you're an astronomy addict, cause ETHELS has the zaniest sun glasses that ever hit Hollywood and Vine! Pastel and plaid frames with rose-bud tipped corners, you'll put Mr. Peepers in his place. Added attraction are matching earrings to touch off that costume effect.
Try these with your high-heeled sneakers and mink stole and then wait for your phone call asking, "Would you like to be campus queen for a day?" Now I ask you, is there anything you won't have that Marilyn Monroe has?!

Monsoon misery will soon be upon us
Pull out the ponchos men and waterproof your make-up gals—the torrential rains are heading University Park way (not to be confused with Merit Parkway). These are the days we short cut across fields and call our cohorts with "come on in, the mud is fine!"
But ETHEL'S got the hair-going-straight problem all sewed up, with the loveliest umbrellas you've seen in any parasol parade. Real luscious colors with gold, black or white pearl handles, long, slender and curved so you can catch brass rings (or any other kind you're looking for). No stuff—they're really colorful and practical—anticipation of precipitation means umbrella buying now—see you at ETHEL'S!
