

Archery Group Is Organized By Outing Club

The field and stream division of the Penn State Outing Club has established an archery club. The first meeting will be held at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 109 Willard. Anyone may join.

Frederick L. Hoffman, associate professor of industrial engineering, will attend the meeting to demonstrate making bows and arrows to be used by the club. He will also act as adviser to the group and will conduct classes if enough interest is shown.

The club will sponsor archery matches building a range, and classes on bow and arrow construction with material provided at nominal costs.

Another Outing Club group will also meet at 2 p.m. Sunday, at the rear of Old Main. The group will go by car to Boalsburg to hike on the ski cabin trails.

In addition, a work party will be held at the ski cabin. Later in the afternoon both groups will meet at the forestry cabin for dinner and square dancing.

Delta Nu Alpha Holds Initiation

Delta Nu Alpha, transportation fraternity, held its spring semester initiation Thursday evening at Phi Sigma Kappa.

Men initiated were Jay Best, Philip Bucher, John Carr, James Clasp, Richard Hays, and Robert Paulson.

George McClellan, vice president of the Bellefonte Central Railroad, was made an honorary member.

Luther Shook, general agent for Acme Fast Freight, spoke on "Industry and the Freight Forwarder."

Sweetheart Nominations Open

Prexy Attends 'Stag' Dinner At White House

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of the University, was among the guests at President Dwight D. Eisenhower's "stag" dinner Saturday night in Washington which followed the White House announcement that the guest lists of future dinners will not be revealed.

A split between the administration and the press appeared, likely following the announcement by Press Secretary James C. Hagerly that the "affairs were personal and private" and the "White House did not desire to give any publicity to the guest lists."

The New York Times reported that Hagerly, when reminded that the Eisenhower administration had promised more, not less news, "slowly and audibly counted to ten to control his temper before answering." Then, he said, the Times reported, no defense of the decision was necessary.

AIM to Vote on Constitution

The constitution of the Association of Independent Men will be voted on by the Board of Governors at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in 108 Willard.

3 Organizations Given Charters

The Senate Committee on Student Affairs has granted charters to three student organizations. One charter was granted to the Jazz Club. Officers of the club are John Valentine, president, eighth semester arts and letters major, and Ronald Hoopes, vice president, eighth semester industrial engineering major. Faculty adviser is Theodore Richards, assistant professor of agriculture extension.

A charter was granted to Sigma Pi Eta, national hotel honorary society, which replaces Sigma Eta Alpha, a local hotel honorary group. President of the group is Andrew Stavres, eighth semester hotel administration major. Faculty adviser is Richard Bower, assistant professor of hotel administration.

The American Meteorological Society was reactivated and given a charter. Robert Matanick, sixth semester meteorological major is president and Dr. Hans Panofsky, professor of meteorology, is faculty adviser.

Spanish is currently the most popular romance language course at the University, attracting 1200 students.

WD Forms Are Available

Applications for West Dorm residents for next fall may be picked up today in Nittany 20, the room assignment office, and at Waring Hall post office.

The applications may be turned in at Nittany 20 today through March 18. Assignments to the West Dorms will be determined by representatives of the Association of Independent Men who will draw numbers.

One hundred seniors with an All-University average of 1.0 or better, 70 juniors with an average of 1.5 or better, and 70 sophomores with an average of 2.0 or better will be assigned rooms in the West Dorms according to their position determined by drawing numbers.

Camera Club To Hear Beese

Robert S. Beese, assistant in photography in the College of Agriculture and adviser to the Camera Club, will speak on the use of multiple flash, and the uses and operation of the press camera at the club meeting at 7:30 tonight in 241 Rec Hall.

The group will have exclusive use of a photographic dark room located in the Hetzel Union Building, which will be ready this month. The dark room is equipped with a 4"x5" Omega enlarger and a 35mm Omega enlarger and will be large enough to accommodate six to eight members at one time.

Interested persons may attend the meeting tonight. The club is open to women as well as men students.
