

Today's Weather—
Clear and Warmer

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

Spare
the HUB!
See Page 4

VOL. 55, No. 99

STATE COLLEGE PA., FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 11, 1955

FIVE CENTS

HUB Terrace Room Serves 2000 Meals

By SUE CONKLIN

Approximately 2000 lunches have been served to students, faculty members, and to University staff members this week in the Terrace Room (cafeteria) of the Hetzel Union Building.

Three hundred faculty members and University employees and 300 students were selected to lunch at the cafeteria Monday through Friday of this week. Five hundred has

Kaelin Wins Ag Speech Competition

Donald Kaelin, eighth semester dairy science major, took first prize in the finals of the Paul I. Gulden Memorial Agricultural Speaking Contest held before the Agriculture Student Council Tuesday night.

The prize for Kaelin's speech, entitled "The Atom and the Farmer" carries with it an award of $50 and a gold medal.

Runner-up in the contest was David Morrow, sixth semester dairy science major. Morrow's speech was entitled "Let's Sell Milk." Second prize consisted of $25 and a silver medal.

Third prize, $15, was won by Walter Edelen, sixth semester landscaping major. Edelen's speech was entitled "Managing a Farm Woodlot."

John Harris, eighth semester agricultural education major, gave a speech entitled "How to Lengthen Tractor Engine Life," which won him fourth place, and an award of $10.

Harry Nichol, eighth semester agronomy major, took fifth place with a speech entitled "The Importance of Spiritual Training for the Farmer." He also received an award of $10.

Judges in the contest were Dr. J. Frank Cone, professor of bacteriology, Dr. Paul M. Althouse, professor of agricultural biochemistry, and Dr. Ordean G. Ness, assistant professor of speech.

Recreation Hall Handball Courts To Be Removed

The handball courts located under the balcony on the north side of Recreation Hall, are being removed by the University maintenance crew, Charles A. Lamm, supervisor of building maintenance and operation, said yesterday.

The space will be used for wrestling and other sports as the opposite side of the building is used, he said. Lamm also said that the space which was formerly the men's drying and locker room is being converted into a laundry for the College of Physical Education and Athletics. Additional space which was the men's locker room is being partitioned to be used to store athletic equipment, he said.

Other maintenance projects are the re-painting of the interiors of Electrical Engineering building, Walker Laboratory, and Agriculture building, Lamm said.

Freshman Queen Photos Due at SU Desk Today

Freshman Centennial Dance queen nominations are due today. The dance will be held March 26 in the Hetzel Union Building.

Each men's unit may sponsor one candidate. The name and picture of the candidate must be submitted by the unit president at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

been the average daily attendance, although on Wednesday 540 visitors were present.

Mildred A. Baker, director of food service, said she was "extremely pleased" with the operation and efficiency of the cafeteria. She reported that many of the visitors have given helpful suggestions and opinions. She also said the trial period has been very beneficial in giving the food service staff experience.

Comments

Miss Baker reported that favorable comments have been made in relation to food quality and prices. A suggestion has been made that a menu board be placed near the entrance way to the cafeteria so that customers may decide what they want while waiting in line. A suggestion was also made as to the arrangement of items on the menu board. A temporary menu board has been put up at the entrance which will be used until a permanent one can be obtained.

It has also been suggested that coffee be served in pots as well as in cups. Slips will be given to the visitors today thanking them for their cooperation and asking for any suggestions they may have.

Hat society members will serve as guides beginning at 1:30 p.m. Sunday in the Hetzel Union Building. Robert Smoot, president of Hat Society Council, announced Wednesday night. Members will conclude their test of the food in the Lion's Den of the HUB today.

Miss Baker said most of the suggestions and opinions have been obtained through personal contact of the staff personnel and the visitors. Food service prefers this method because very often explanations can be given by the staff.

Kitchen

The kitchen has been organized for efficiency and surrounds the open square cafeteria on three sides. Emphasis is placed on fine quality of home cooked foods.

The Lion's Den (snack bar), opened yesterday for two days trial period, is very much like the snack bar in the West Dorms. The plan is the same but on a more extensive scale.

The cafeteria can be used as an

(Continued on page eight)

Cabinet Opposes Power To Veto Members' Acts

All-University Cabinet last night voted in preliminary action to remove from the proposed constitution a clause which would give Cabinet power to rescind any acts of a member group which are deemed detrimental to the good name of the University and the welfare of the student body.

The action taken is not final as Cabinet cannot vote on the constitution for two more meetings. The group must again discuss the constitution at its next meeting and cannot take action on it until the third.

Robert Dennis, president of the Association of Independent Men, moved that the clause giving Cabinet power over legislation of its member organizations be stricken from

'Tudor' Group Will Perform On Sunday

Renaissance music representing various nationalities will be presented by the Tudor Singers of Bethlehem at 3 p.m. Sunday in Schwab Auditorium.

The concert, one of the Simmons series, is sponsored by the department of German and the department of music.

Tickets for the concert are available at the offices of the German and music departments, 229 Sparks and 217 Carnegie Hall, and at the Student Union desk in Old Main. There is no charge for tickets.

The program will include compositions by Hans Leo Hassler, Johannes Eccard, Orlando di Lasso, Giovanni Pierluigi da Palestrina, Luca Marenzio, Gesualdo da Venosa, Claude Le Jeune, William Costeley, Thomas Weelker, John Farmer, John Wilbye, and Thomas Morley.

The Tudor Singers, directed by Dr. Ivor Jones, is composed of ten men and women. Dr. Jones is a graduate and fellow of the Apyal Academy of Music in London, and former conductor of the New Chamber Orchestra of Philadelphia.

Men May Sign Rushing List

Men interested in fraternity rushing may still sign a preference list in the dean of men's office, 109 Old Main, according to John Russell, Interfraternity Council rushing chairman.

Russell reported that four fraternities are still rushing and will contact men who sign the list.

Russell also reported that the program for rushing at the centers is in progress. Fraternity representatives traveled to Hazleton, Pottsville, and Erie centers last week and will travel to DuBois this week.

Lists of prospective rushees will be compiled so fraternities may contact men during the summer.

the constitution because he felt that it would violate another clause in the constitution which prohibits Cabinet from passing legislation which lies exclusively in the scope of any member organization.

Another change in the constitution which Dennis proposed was that requiring candidates for All-University offices to have an All-University average of 1.5 instead of 1.0 as is specified in the constitution. The proposal was defeated by Cabinet.

A provision in the new constitution which requires the members of Tribunal to have 1.3 All-University averages was questioned by Cabinet members. A change in the clause which would reduce the average to 1.0 was asked by Robert Smoot, substituting for senior class president, but was defeated by the group.

It was also discussed by the group that a system be placed in the constitution providing for legal substitutes in the event of the absence of a Cabinet member. The majority of Cabinet felt a substitution clause would not be feasible and any member of Cabinet should have the right to challenge any substitute for a voting member.

John Speer, All-University vice president, explained that in the absence of the president of a member organization who is a voting member of Cabinet, the vice president legally becomes head of the organization and can assume the voting privileges on Cabinet.

The major change in the constitution, that of establishing a new judicial system with a Supreme Court to hear appeals concerning the constitutionality of any legislation passed by Cabinet and over all cases involving violations of the All-University Elections Code, was discussed but no action was taken on it.

Benjamin Sinclair, chairman of the Board of Dramatics and Forensics, disagreed with the plan. He pointed out that Cabinet could pass a constitutional law with which the court would disagree and would declare unconstitutional. Cabinet then could take no action on the decision and would be stymied.

LA College Plans Series Of Lectures

Three Centennial lectures have been scheduled by the College of Liberal Arts lectures committee for March, April, and May. Dr. Neal Riemer, chairman of the committee, has announced.

Erwin Panofsky, art scholar and member of the Institute for Advanced Studies, Princeton University, will speak on "Texts and Pictures: Traffic Accidents on the Roads of Tradition" at 8 p.m., March 31 in 121 Sparks.

The second lecture of the series will be "French Universities and the Pursuit of Freedom," to be given by Pierre Donzelot of New York. Donzelot is the permanent United States representative of French universities and is the cultural attache of the French Embassy. His lecture will be given at 8 p.m. April 19 in 121 Sparks.

"The Adams Family and the Adams Papers" will be the subject of the final lecture to be given at 8 p.m. May 3, in 121 Sparks. Lyman H. Butterfield, editor-in-chief of the Adams family papers at the Massachusetts Historical Society, will be the speaker.

Physical Plant Launches Drive, 'Keep Off Grass'

The University Physical Plant yesterday launched its drive to preserve the grass on campus by asking that students refrain from taking short cuts across the grass.

Walter W. Trainer, supervisor of landscape construction and maintenance, said that the grass is easily destroyed when people walk on it now that the ground is moist and soft. A re-seeding program to cover bare spots on campus will begin in the near future, he said.

Barricades have been erected to protect bare spots, Trainer said, but student cooperation is needed to prevent new ones from appearing.

Last year, in spite of keep off the grass campaigns by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, and other student organizations, the cost of replacing grass on campus exceeded $1500, he said. That was an improvement over other years when the cost went as high as $4000, Trainer said.

'Children of Darkness' To Be Given Tonight

Players will present Edwin Justus Mayer's "Children of Darkness" for the third time at 8 tonight at Center Stage in the Temporary Union Building.

The "comi-tragedy" of life in a jailer's home has Ann Wylie and Jay Broad in leading roles. Tickets are available at the Student Union desk in Old Main for $1.

Student Auto Accident

A car operated by Arthur Wert, third semester education student, struck a parked car while drawing into a parking stall on E. College avenue yesterday.

The parked car was owned by Richard Smith, State College.

Labor Party Divided; England Ready for Election—Churchill

LONDON, Friday, March 11 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill hinted today he thinks the time may be right for calling a snap general election. The hint came in criticism of what he called the confusion within the opposition Labor party.

The Socialists who make up the Labor party are "now split not only into two halves but into many factions," the 80-year-old Conservative leader said in a message to voters urging support of G. W. Guthrie Jones in a special parliamentary by-election.

The chief split is over Left-winger Aneurin Bevan. Clement Attlee's Shadow Cabinet, the Laborite high command in Parliament, is seeking Bevan's expulsion from party councils for rebellion against the party line on British defense matters.

The Conservatives' present administration has until October 1956 to run, but the government can call a general election any time before that. The object would be to pick a date when political and economic winds could be expected to favor the incumbents.

Churchill told Jones, the Conservative and National Liberal candidate in a by-election of Wrexham, he "should win the vote of every man and woman who approaches politics with a free mind of prejudice."

"What prospects does your Socialist opponent hold out to the electors?" said Churchill. "His party, disgruntled by defeat and disillusioned by the failure of its cherished theories, is now split not only into two halves but into many factions perpetually nagging at one another."

Hurling a barb at the Bevan challenge to Attlee's leadership of the Labor party, Churchill asked his Conservative colleague: "Has your opponent made clear to which group he belongs?"

The government's budget, slated to be presented in April, may give a more definite tip on the prospect of an election, possibly this fall.

The Laborites were not unaware of the possibility of an early vote. There was behind-the-scenes maneuvering within the Labor party to quiet the feud and plead for unity through compromise—possibly letting Bevan off with a reprimand rather than expulsion.