

Senate Revises Frosh Dating

Women's Student Government Association Senate last night passed a regulation proposed by Freshman Council forbidding freshman women to date after 5:30 p.m. on weekdays during the first four weeks of the first semester.

Freshman Council also suggested that enforcement of this rule should be given to Freshman Customs Board. Senate, however, felt that violations of the rule should be disciplined under WSGA penalties and not by Freshman Customs Board.

The rule replaces a recently repealed regulation forbidding freshman women to date after 5:30 p.m. on weekdays during the entire first semester.

Line Jumping Discussed
Martha Michener, sophomore senator, reported that Freshman Council also proposed that blackmarks be given for students caught line-jumping. Council felt that the penalty should be enforced in all women's residence halls. No definite suggestion was made as to who would be responsible for turning in line-jumpers. After discussion, Senate sent the problem back to Council for further consideration and possible suggestions.

Joyce Shusman, chairman of Judicial, explained that the one o'clock removal for the use of more than two one o'clock traveling permissions is not a major offense and is not recorded on a student's permanent Judicial record.

Revise Regulations
Senate also reviewed the revised WSGA Regulations, which were read by Barbara Stock, secretary of Judicial.

Gail Smith, senior senator, reported that plans are being completed for a fashion show to be held as part of the Tea-for-Coeds in Atherton lounge Sunday. Twenty-two women will model costumes covering different fashion periods.

Carolyn Cunningham, junior senator, announced that a dinner for old and new Senate members will be held in McElwain Hall before the WSGA Convocation on March 28.

Senate will discuss the no-drinking rule at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the WSGA room in White Hall.

Panhel Revises Rushing

A rushing proposal from the Panhellenic Council rushing committee was written into the constitution Tuesday night. The second reading and final vote will take place Tuesday.

The plan is designed to make the switch-over from the fall rushing program of sophomores to spring rushing of freshmen. The proposal provides for two formal rushing seasons next year. The first in the fall will be for sophomore women and the sororities may fill their chapters to 50 members.

Freshman women will be rushed during the second season, in February, and each sorority may pledge as many freshmen as it has seniors who will be graduated in June 1956. If the sorority has not filled its quota of 50 in the fall period it may take either upperclasswomen or more freshmen.

Therefore, some sororities may have over 50 members for the rest of the spring semester but will be back to 50 when school resumes in the fall of 1956.

A counseling system for rushees was suggested but no action was taken. The system would provide an impartial service to which rushees could turn for guidance.

A resolution was passed to assess each sorority $1.50 to help defray expenses of the freshman teas on May 1.

Council also adopted a resolution to share profits and expenses of the Interfraternity Council-Panhellenic Ball with IFC on a 75-25 percent basis. IFC recently adopted a similar motion. Council decided not to publish a price list of sorority costs in the rushing manual. These costs would be furnished to any who asked by the counseling system.

Through the Looking Glass

Cancel all bluebooks, tear up assignment sheets, lock your books in the closet—the HUB is open—and like a few other institutions (both concrete and abstract) looks like it's here to stay!! Just can't get over those oversized living rooms—am also recovering from the reverberations I received from the new greeting cards at ETHELS.

Talk about unusual . . .
These really get 3's in originality. Delightful concoctions of art and a minimum of words. They almost have Max Shulman beat for tickling your fancy. Not just run-of-the-mill birthday greetings but various cute and clever creations to send just because it reminds you of someone or something (you don't want someone to forget) we kid you not—they're greater than Swedish meatballs (ask any coed, she'll tell you!)

Want to make a card-table attractive?
Better than a full house or 10 pieces of trump, ETHELS has lovely cardtable covers—floral or patterned—with matching decks of cards! We think they kinda make handsome additions to any room and sort of lessen the pain of lost money or an unfulfilled bid. They serve a twofold purpose—beauty and covers cigarette burns in the cardtable—useful, you betcha!

Maybe not library editions . . .
But clever cookbooks for gift giving that the recipient is sure to love. Wooden bound book of recipes for mixed drinks entitled "Here's how!" Will make brews even the witches of Macbeth would acclaim.
And for the enthusiastic chef (also addicted to collecting things) a real pert indexed folder that labeled "What's Cooking" for recipes or formulas that one may have coaxed from a cook in the king's kitchen. Hustle down to ETHELS now for some great browsing.
