

WSGA Tea for Coeds Will Feature Fashions From 1880 to Present

Fashions from 1880 to the present day will be shown at the Centennial fashion shows which will be given as a part of the Tea for Coeds from 2:30 to 5 p.m. tomorrow in Atherton lounge.

Women's Student Government Association will sponsor the tea and forty freshman women will act as hostesses.

The costumes for the fashion show, which will be given at 3 and 4 p.m. tomorrow, were contributed to WSGA for the show. Many were formerly owned by the State College Woman's Club, and some were donated by State College merchants.

The oldest costume is one dating from about 1880. The dress features the high collar, tight-fitting sleeves with large puffs at the shoulders, and a bustle. It is floor-length and made of light blue material covered with small pink flowers.

A two-piece gray tweed suit will be shown as the 1900 style. The suit is trimmed in velvet with a tight waist and floor-length skirt.

Two costumes will depict the 1910 fashions. The first is a green velvet dress, also floor-length, with the high waistline. The second is a blue taffeta suit, made in the same pattern.

Other years included in the pre-1940 fashions will be 1918, the "Flappers" of the 1920's, the early 1930's, the mid-1930's, and the late 1930's.

The wartime years will be illustrated by a sloppy joe sweater and a short skirt, the "new look" for the late 1940's.

The styles for 1948 include the Gibson girl blouse with a black tie and puffy sleeves, and the black, full skirt.

The fashion shows will end with a typical year-round wardrobe as now seen on campus.

Anne Van Tries, fourth semester education major, and Charlotte Leichel, seventh semester medical technology major, are in charge of the shows. Samuel Wolcott, fourth semester arts and letters major and sophomore class president, will be master of ceremonies.

Models for the show will be Margaret Faris, Gretchen Robb, Gail Green, Jean Seiler, Martha Fleming, Carole Ruff, Carolyn Miller, Anne Vane Tries, Mary Lockwood, Joan Ziegler, Patricia Nesbit, Patricia Dickinson, Sara Williams, Ruth Kronenwetter, Frances Cox, Donna Lafferty, Mary Phillips, Elizabeth Elliot, Joyce Koch, Virginia Leary, Susan Brainerd, Barbara Boggs, Carole Bauer, Barbara Hunter, Blanche Kurtz, and Anne Cain.

The tea is open to all women students. WSGA and WRA candidates for next week's elections will attend the tea.

Spotlighting Zeta Tau Alpha

By GINGER HANCE

"Everything legal?" You're right! Zeta Tau Alpha is the only sorority ever to be legally chartered by a special act of the legislature.

It was originally founded at Longwood College, Farmville, Va., in 1898, becoming the first sorority to be chartered in Virginia. The national sorority now has 30,000 sorority members.

In 1929, ZTA achieved international status with the establishment of a Canadian chapter at the University of Manitoba. Locally, ZTA came to the University campus in 1939 as Gamma Epsilon chapter and occupies a suite on the second floor of Simmons Hall. Mrs. John Haswell is adviser to the 47 chapter members.

Zeta Tau Alpha has several projects. Recently the women sponsored a collection of used books which were donated to the Centre County Library and Bookmobile.

The ZTA's also sponsor a service project for the treatment and training of cerebral palsied children. The sorority cooperated with the National Society for Crippled Children and the Easter Seals Society in the publication of a Cerebral Palsy Equipment Manual, the first of its kind ever published. Crippled children in 41 countries were aided.

Campus activities play a large part in the lives of members. Zeta Tau Alphas recognized by Who's Who in the News at Penn State include Arlene Borgeson, Evelyn Riegel, Dorothea Ebert, Mary Loubric, and Norma Reck. Miss Borgeson is also secretary of Women's Student Government Association and a member of Chimes, junior women's hat society. Miss Ebert and Miss Reck are members of Scrolls.

senior women's hat society. The Zetas have received the Women's Intramural Debate award for the past three years.

Scholarship is recognized through a key awarded to the senior making the greatest improvement in her All-University average between her junior and senior years. The award is presented at Founder's Day ceremonies. The sorority also offers the $50 John Haswell scholarship, established in memory of its chapter adviser's husband. The award is not limited to members of Zeta Tau Alpha.

Recently elected officers of Zeta Tau Alpha are Alletta Manbeck, president; Henrietta Bawling, vice president; Lee Zimmerman, secretary; Nancy Wentz, treasurer; Carlene Samuels, historian and publicity chairman; Nancy Anders, rushing chairman; Jean Whiting, social chairman.

The motto of Zeta Tau Alpha is "Seek the Noblest."

Playing for the University team will be Harry Spayde, second semester electrical engineering major; Edward Herr, second semester electrical engineering major; Robert Dejaiffe, second semester chemical engineering major; and Ronald Dietrich, second semester electrical engineering major.

Religion

Ten Groups Plan Weekend Activities

Speakers, discussions and parties will be the major weekend activities of the student religious groups.

The subject of the Sunday evening program for the Westminster Foundation will be "Dramatization of Hypocrisy." The meeting will begin at 6:20 p.m.

Members of Hillel Foundation will hold a panel discussion for the Roger Williams Fellowship on "Practices and Beliefs of the Jewish Faith" following supper at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Fire-side room of the University Baptist Church student center.

Canterbury Club will meet for supper at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow in the parish house. Dr. Harry K. Hutton, assistant professor of secondary education, will speak to the group on "Henry VIII and the Church of England" following the supper.

The Rev. Hal Leiper, program associate of the University Christian Association, will speak to the Lutheran Student Association on "Conflict: Christianity and Communism" at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The program of the Wesley Foundation entitled "What Shall We Do with Lent?" at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow will be followed by a coffee hour.

The Newman Club will hold open house at 8 tonight in the student center. Choir practice will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow in Our Lady of Victory Church. Devotions will be at 7 p.m. tomorrow in the church.

Paul Aucker, fifth semester education major, will lead the discussion on "The Meaning of Suffering" at the meeting of the Student Fellowship, Faith Evangelical and Reformed Church, at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Hillel Foundation will hold its annual Purim Carnival with booths and games from 7:30 to 11 tonight. The proceeds will go to the United Jewish Appeal.

Ned Sittler, fifth semester animal husbandry major, will be the devotional leader for the meeting of the Student Fellowship, St. John's Evangelical United Brethren Church, at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in the student fellowship room. Ranan B. Banerji, visiting assistant professor of engineering research, will lead the group discussion on "Hinduism."

Dr. Ira V. Brown, associate professor of American history, will speak to the Emerson Society on "The Religious Writings of Joseph Priestly" at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in 304 Old Main.

High Schools To Be Guests At Sports Day

A sports day for four high schools of the area, will be held from 1 to 3:45 p.m. tomorrow in White Hall.

High schools to participate are State College High School, Juniata Joint High School, Bellefonte High School, and Philipsburg High School.

Junior physical education majors will sponsor the sports day. Lois Piemme and Mary Hudcovich, sixth semester physical education majors, have been appointed co-chairmen.

Basketball, volleyball, bowling and the trampoline comprise the sports schedule. Instruction will be offered in bowling and on the trampoline because of the limited facilities available to the participating students in their high schools.

The sports day is primarily a social rather than a competitive function. Following the last event soft drinks and pretzels will be served to members of the teams.

Journ Group to Hold Smoker Tomorrow

Sigma Delta Chi, men's national professional journalism fraternity, will hold a smoker at Pi Kappa Phi at 7 p.m. tomorrow.

Guest speaker will be Dick Wolters, photo editor of Sports Illustrated. The smoker is open to all journalism students.

Social Gazette

Center Stage, "Children of Darkness." Players, 8 tonight, Temporary Union Building.

Chapel, The Rev. Albert T. Mollegen, speaker, 10:55 a.m. tomorrow, Schwab Auditorium.
