

HUB Dinner to Begin Drive for Alumni Fund

With the goal set at $250,000 the Centennial Alumni Fund drive will get underway at 8 p.m. tomorrow at a dinner in the Hetzel Union Building for Central Pennsylvania class agents.

About 200 class agents are expected at tomorrow's meeting, which is the first of nine meetings to be held during the next two weeks in as many cities to acquaint class agents with the drive, according to Bernard P. Taylor, executive director of the Penn State Foundation.

Open House Reports Heard By MI Council

The Mineral Industries Student Council Wednesday night heard committee reports and discussed the Mineral Industries Open House scheduled for April 29.

A proposed booklet, to be distributed to guests at the open house, was discussed. Guides committee chairman for the open house, Donald Fleck, announced that 40 more guides are needed. Interested persons in the college may call him at AD 7-7881.

The finance committee report suggested a mixer with another college, possibly Home Economics or Education. A poll will be taken in classes by committee members to determine the students' attitude.

Two Students in Auto Accidents

A driver training car operated by Wagaye Hagos, special student in mineralogy, and a car driven by William Groce, eighth semester arts and letters major, were involved in an accident at E. Prospect ave. and Locust lane at 6:15 p.m. Friday.

Hagos had stopped the training car on Prospect, police said, intending to turn right on Locust lane. Before he began to turn the instructor pointed out it was a one-way street. The Groce car then hit the left rear fender of the training car.

Police said damage to the Groce car was $150 and $25 to the training car.

Five O'Clock Theatre To Give 'Tale of West'

Five O'Clock Theatre will present "A Tale of the Old West," a one-act play by Bert States, graduate student in English at 5 p.m. today in the Little Theater, basement of Old Main. The play will be directed by Jeannie Risler, graduate student in dramatics.

Plant Science Club

The Plant Science Club will hear Emlen Heidelbaugh, commercial engineer with the Bell Telephone Company, who will speak on "Survey Engineering" at a meeting at 7:30 tonight in 111 Plant Industries.

Suggested projects which may be financed by contributions to this year's alumni drive are scholarships, gifts for the Helen Eaken Eisenhower Memorial Chapel, furnishings for the Hetzel Union Building, the Levi Lamb Club, University religious programs, unusual library acquisitions, works of art, class or club gifts or memorials, and "special interest" projects approved by the Board of Trustees.

Alumni may designate that their contributions be used to further one of these projects or place their contribution in an undesignated fund to be used by the President and the Board of Trustees for urgent needs for which no other funds are available.

President Milton S. Eisenhower and Ray S. Tannehill, general chairman of the Alumni Fund, and others from the University, will address the class agents tomorrow and at the meetings to follow.

Over 4200 graduates of the University have indicated a willingness to serve as class agents for the drive. These alumni will contact the 46,000 living alumni of the University for contributions.

Last year the fund drive totaled $135,303.91, bringing to $322,511 the amount contributed since the program was started in 1953.

These contributions have been used to benefit many projects totaling $100,000 to the scholarship and loan funds, $88,832 in support of the chapel, and $56,258 for furnishings for the HUB.

Accompanying Eisenhower and Tannehill on the fund drive tour will be Taylor, Ridge Riley, executive secretary of the alumni association, and Robert E. Beam, assistant director of the Penn State Foundation.

The schedule for meetings in addition to the meeting in the HUB tomorrow night, includes: New York, March 28; Philadelphia, March 29; Harrisburg, March 30; Washington, D.C., March 31; Cleveland, Ohio, April 4; Pittsburgh, April 5; Erie, April 6; and Buffalo, N.Y., April 7.

Froth Still on Sale

The Career Day issue of Froth will be on sale again today at the Hetzel Union Building, the Corner Room, Carnegie and Waring halls, and at the bulletin board on the mall.

The circulation staff may report to any of these places tomorrow.

Steel Official, Prexy Address Ed Conference

President Milton S. Eisenhower and David J. McDonald, president of the CIO United Steelworkers of America, addressed the opening session Sunday of the four-day University-Union Education Conference of over 170 educators and labor representatives at the Nittany Lion Inn.

Dr. Eisenhower spoke on the philosophy of education, particularly the role of the land-grant institution in the nation. The trend toward specialization in America has carried its achievements in the mechanical aspects of our way of living beyond our accomplishments in the humanistic fields, he said.

This is a serious shortcoming, he said, as "it is on these that the basic character of a civilization depends."

America's universities must be "in the front lines" in the struggle for minds and allegiances of men, Dr. Eisenhower urged. He said they must lead "the cause of freedom toward that understanding and that economic, social and military cooperation among the peoples of the world which holds at least a promise of peace with freedom and justice among nations."

McDonald said that the automation will not be an economic source of trouble to unions in the future, but a sociological one of shorter hours and higher earnings that must be solved by steelworkers and universities.

Answers to the further displacement of man-power will be found as more and more factories come into being, he said. He reminded the delegates to remember that "only human beings consume the produce of factories and only human beings have purchasing power."

Pollock Council to Meet

Pollock Council will meet at 6 p.m. tomorrow in the council room of Nittany 20.

Robert Dennis, president of the Association of Independent Men, will discuss the new AIM constitution with the council.

In 1906 the enrollment of the University was 880, and only six were women.

Reading Festival Finals Will Be Held Tonight

Finals to select three University entrants to the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Reading Festival and one entrant for the Eastern Intercollegiate Poetry Reading Festival will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. tonight in McElwain Hall lounge.

Twelve finalists were selected last Tuesday. Judges for the contest were Harriet D. Nesbitt, assistant professor of public speaking, and W. W. Hamilton, assistant professor of speech.

The finalists are Natalie Alexenberg, fourth semester education major; Angelo Collura, eighth semester arts and letters major; James Demcheck, eighth semester arts and letters major; Reynold Grieco, sixth semester science major; Elizabeth Jones, sixth semester arts and letters major; Betty Rice, seventh semester arts and letters major; Irving Segal, seventh semester education major; Helene Slaboski, sixth semester arts and letters major; Morton Slakoff, seventh semester arts and letters major; Ferne Stone, fourth semester arts and letters major; Phillip Wein, sixth semester arts and letters major; and Rosemarie Yanni, eighth semester arts and letters major.

The Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Reading Festival will be held on April 27 and 28 at the (Continued on page eight)

GET YOUR DATE NOW . . .

Children of Darkness

or

The Jailer's Wench

Friday & Saturday at the TUB

Spring Magic . . . New Nylon S-T-R-E-T-C-H Glove

Put this wonderful new type glove on your hand and you'll never want another kind.

This wonderful special process nylon has that soft, clinging contour fit you want. So smart and you'll want several pair . . . Wash and dry in minutes, white only . . . only $2.00

Never before such faultless fit such flattery

Clearfield's
Opposite Old Main

We've got . . .

New Store Hours

to match our . . .

Brand New Store

located in the

Hetzel Union Building

MONDAY through FRIDAY

8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

SATURDAY MORNING

8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

PENN STATE BOOK EXCHANGE

In the spirit of Easter

Hallmark
Easter Cards

During this happy Easter season a Hallmark Religious Card brings a message of peace and joy straight to the hearts of those you love. See our complete selection of beautiful Hallmark Easter Cards today.

McLanahan's

134 S. Allen St.

Phone AD 8-6797