

Candidates—

(Continued from page one) deemed feasible by Has Simm, Elections Committee member, this weekend, with the addition of one plank. The plank advocates the extension of the use of the University library until 11 p.m. during finals. The Elections Committee will consider fining the party after the All-University Elections because the platform was due for the Elections Committee Thursday, Simm said.

The All-University candidates on the State party ticket will visit Phi Delta Theta, Beta Theta Pi, Alpha Phi Delta and Alpha Chi Sigma during the lunch hour today. At the same time the senior candidates will visit Theta Kappa Phi, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Kappa Tau, and Pi Kappa Phi; while the junior candidates will visit Sigma Phi Alpha, Alpha Rho Chi, Zeta Beta Tau, and Sigma Alpha Mu.

During the dinner meal the State party All-University candidates will visit Theta Xi, Theta Delta Chi, Alpha Sigma Phi, and Phi Kappa. The senior nominees will visit Delta Upsilon, Acacia, Phi Epsilon Pi, Sigma Pi, and Beaver House at this time. Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Delta Rho, Pi Kappa Alpha, and Delta Chi will be visited by the State party junior class officer candidates during the evening meal.

From 7:30 to 10:30 tonight Jo Fulton, State party junior class secretary-treasurer nominee will visit McElwain Hall, and Martha McDonald, State party senior class secretary-treasurer nominee, will visit Simmons Hall.

Tonight the men candidates on the State party All-University slate will visit Nittany dormitories, the men senior candidates will visit Hamilton Hall and the junior candidates will visit Pollock Circle dormitories.

Festival—

(Continued from page two) University. Invitations to attend the non-competitive event have been sent to 80 colleges in Pennsylvania. Entrants from the University will read in each of the three categories—prose, poetry, and drama.

One University representative will attend the non-competitive Eastern Intercollegiate Poetry Reading Festival, to be held April 27 and 28 at Dartmouth College, Hanover, New Hampshire.
