

Campaign in Third Day, Candidates Continue Visits

As the political campaign moves into the third day, candidates continue to circulate through the campus, fraternity, and town living units to contact students before the elections which are a week away. Campaigning, which started Monday, will continue until next Tuesday. Elections will be held next Wednesday and Thursday.

HUB Meeting Will Launch Alumni Drive

Central Pennsylvania alumni class agent for the Centennial Alumni Drive will meet at 8 tonight in the Hetzel Union Building for dessert and a business session and not for a dinner as was incorrectly reported in yesterday's Daily Collegian.

About 200 class agents are expected to attend the meeting which will kick off the drive for $250,000 in alumni contributions.

President Milton S. Eisenhower, Ray S. Tannehill, general chairman of the Alumni Drive, Bernard P. Taylor, executive director of the Penn State Foundation, and Dr. Marsh W. White, fund chairman for the Graduate School, will speak at the meeting.

Ridge Riley, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, and Dr. Gerald B. Stein, president of the Alumni Club of Centre County, will serve as chairmen for the meeting.

On Monday, Dr. Eisenhower and others from the University will speak at a similar meeting for class agents in New York. Other meetings will subsequently be held in Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Washington, D.C., Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Erie, and Buffalo.

The class agents who attend these meetings will contact the other 46,000 living alumni of the University for donations to the alumni fund.

Stoddart Receives National Award

Charles W. Stoddart Jr., director of extension in the College of Physical Education and Athletics, has been named one of 20 national winners in the second annual Nash Conservation Awards program.

Ed Zern, a well-known outdoors writer and graduate of the University announced the winners, 10 professional and 10 volunteer conservation workers, at the North American Wildlife Conference in Montreal.

Stoddart will receive a bronze plaque. The 10 professional conservation winners will be awarded $500.

Business Fraternities

Alpha Kappa Psi and Delta Sigma Pi, national commerce professional fraternities, will hold a combined meeting at 7:15 p.m. tomorrow at Sigma Pi. A member of the National Association of Manufacturers will speak.

Pledges of the groups may attend.

Eng Council Will Elect President

Engineering Student Council will elect a president and discuss the newly proposed constitution March 29.

The council at its last meeting discussed dissatisfaction among engineering students concerning the quality of service courses given outside the College of Engineering and Architecture. The council also discussed the awarding of keys to council members.

The problem of the quality of the service courses given outside the college was discussed by Clarence E. Bullinger, head of the industrial engineering department and chairman of the Senate Committee on Courses of Study.

Bullinger said service courses are non-technical or humanistic studies required of students in the College of Engineering and Architecture.

When Bullinger was asked whether the course could be taught in the engineering college, he replied that the college could teach economics of a particular engineering field but not general economics.

In discussing the awarding of keys to council members, the council decided to award keys to members not having more than two absences for one semester or to members who had more than two absences but had done "outstanding work on the council."

In other action the council approved a motion providing for an insurance policy for the student computing machines.

Rod and Coccus Club

Several graduate students will explain and demonstrate their research projects at a meeting of the Rod and Coccus Club at 7 tonight in 206 Patterson. Refreshments will be served.

Greek Week Sing To Begin Tomorrow

Greek Week will officially get underway tomorrow night with the preliminaries of the Interfraternity-Panhellenic Council Sing.

Forty-three groups have entered the sing according to Francis Taylor, sing co-chairman. Taylor said entries are higher this year than ever before. Last year 38 groups participated.

Judges for the sing are Frank Gullo, associate professor of music; Raymond Brown, assistant professor of music; Barry Brinsmaid, assistant professor of music; Eugene Fulmer, secretary of the State College Area Chamber of Commerce; and two members of the State College High School music faculty.

Tomorrow's preliminaries will be held at 7:30 p.m. in 110 Electrical Engineering. Further eliminations will be held Friday at 7 p.m. in 110 Electrical Engineering. The finals will be held at 7 p.m. Sunday in the State College High School Auditorium. The finals will be broadcast at 9 p.m. Sunday over WMAJ.

Rotating Trophy
A winning fraternity and a winning sorority will be chosen. A rotating trophy will be given to the first place winners in each class and a plaque will be presented to the first two places in each class.

Under a new rule instituted last year, a group that wins for three years in a row will receive a permanent trophy.

Sing Alma Mater
Each fraternity will sing the Alma Mater and one chapter song. Each sorority will sing two chapter songs.

Groups will be eliminated in the preliminaries by single elimination. The finalists will be announced at the conclusion of Friday night's program.

Taylor has requested that any group wishing to drop from the sing notify him by 7 p.m. tomorrow. He also asked that all groups be present at least 15 minutes before the time they are scheduled. Singing will begin at 7:30 tomorrow, with five minutes allotted for each group.

IFC Contest Regulations Announced

Entries may now be submitted for the first fraternity writing contest, Carl Saperstein, Interfraternity Council public relations chairman, has announced.

The object of the contest, according to Saperstein, is to promote a better understanding of the fraternity system.

Entrants will be required to write a 2000 to 2500 word essay on the topic "Why Fraternity." The contest is open to any brother or pledge of any IFC member fraternity.

All entries must be turned in to the Hetzel Union desk in the HUB by May 7. Essays should be typewritten, double spaced. Judging will be based on originality, content, and persuasiveness to the general public. Judges will be announced later. Saperstein said.

Saperstein said a suitable prize will be awarded to the winner. He also said that arrangements have been made to print the winning article in Pittsburgh area papers.

Those singing tomorrow in order are: Alpha Tau Omega, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Mu, Alpha Epsilon Pi, Delta Sigma Lambda, Alpha Gamma Delta, Pi Kappa Phi, Alpha Omicron Pi, Phi Sigma Kappa.

Chi Omega, Delta Zeta, Theta Chi, Phi Delta Theta, Delta Delta Delta, Phi Kappa Sigma, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Chi Omega, Sigma Pi, Sigma Delta Tau, Phi Sigma Delta.

Those singing Friday are: Beta Sigma Omicron, Phi Kappa Alpha Xi Delta, Alpha Gamma Rho, Kappa Alpha Theta, Acacia, Delta Gamma, Phi Gamma Delta, Zeta Tau Alpha, Alpha Chi Rho, Delta Chi, Kappa Delta, Delta Sigma Phi, Sigma Sigma Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Alpha Zeta, Gamma Phi Beta, Chi Phi, Beta Theta Pi, Alpha Chi Sigma, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Pi Kappa Alpha.

Local APX to Become National

The Vitruvius chapter of Alpha Rho Chi will be installed as a chapter of the national fraternity at ceremonies to be held Thursday through Sunday.

Alpha Rho Chi is a national professional architecture fraternity.

The program for the four-day affair has been announced as follows:

Tomorrow and Friday: arrival of guests and national officers and tours of the University and department of architecture.

Saturday: the initiation of members followed by a dinner at the Hetzel Union Building.

Sunday: installation and granting of the charter to the chapter followed by attendance at the chapel service.

National Officers

National officers participating will include Robert Carlow, worthy grand architect, Minneapolis, Minn.; and George Whitten, worthy grand estimator, Wimetta, Ill.

Fifteen members of Demetrios chapter at Ohio State University will also participate.

Among others to attend are Dwight Eby of Columbus, Ohio, and Elliott Whitacre, former professor of architecture at the University, now of Ohio State.

Members of the University faculty will include Milton S. Osborne, professor and head of the department of architecture; M. Robert Des Marais, assistant professor of architecture and adviser to the local chapter; and Louis A. Richardson, professor of architectural engineering. All are faculty members of the chapter.

The Vitruvius chapter now has an active membership of 18 students, a pledge class of eight, seven alumni members, three faculty members, and three members who have withdrawn from the University.

Started by Des Marais

The local chapter was started through the efforts of Des Marais, who was a member of the fraternity at the University of Illinois.

The first meeting of the Vitruvius chapter was held Oct. 12, 1953 and two months later the chapter was granted a charter by the University.
