

WSGA May Seek Opinions of Coeds On Drinking Rules

A poll of women students on the question of a modified drinking ruling and student enforcement of it along with all women's rules will probably be undertaken in the near future by Women's Student Government Association Senate.

A recent poll of women students on the question of student enforcement of WSGA regulations was declared inconclusive because of a poor return of questionnaires.

Although half of the questionnaires which were returned favored student enforcement, only half of the questionnaires distributed were returned.

Weak Link

Action on modifying WSGA's drinking rule was begun last fall when WSGA Senate decided the present regulation which prohibits drinking by women students was not enforceable. Consequently, Senate members felt, it formed a weak link in the chain of WSGA regulations.

Not Polled

Women students were not polled when discussion of a change arose because it was felt:

1. That opinions on Senate were representative of the opinions of most women and
2. That any change should be accompanied by thorough explanation and implementation which would inform all women students at the same time before any change became effective.

Hostesses Informed

Dormitory hostesses and members of the WSGA House of Representatives, however, were informed of the proposed change and projected student enforcement.

After lengthy discussion in Senate meetings at which arguments against the change were presented by two non-member women students, Senate members unanimously agreed the need for a change was indicated by the impossibility of equal and uniform enforcement of the present regulation.

Enforcement Plans First

Senate passed a new ruling which it immediately declared would not go into operation until plans for student enforcement and implementation would be formulated.

The present WSGA drinking rule states: "Drinking by women students is against the University regulations as well as the WSGA regulations, and violations are dealt with by the Judicial Committee as well as by the University administration."

Parallels University Rule

The new ruling was written along the same lines as the ruling in the University Senate Regulations for Undergraduate Students. The University regulation stipulates that drinking is prohibited on University property and that students must conform with the laws of the borough, commonwealth, and nation.

Modification of WSGA's old rule will thus correlate WSGA rules with those of the University.

The new regulation was brought before the Senate Committee on Student Affairs which made no decision pending study of plans

West Accuses Gromyko of 'Leaks'

LONDON, March 25 (AP)—The Western powers accused the Soviet Union tonight of gross violation of the secrecy rules of the five-power London conference on disarmament. They pledged, however, to push ahead with the negotiations "to cast aside the horrible threat of H-bomb warfare."

The Western powers charged that Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko leaked to the Soviet news agency a plan presented by him to the conference and gave out a "downright misrepresentation" of the Western position.

The British Foreign Office in a statement charged Gromyko with a "gross violation" of secrecy rules agreed upon at the start of the conference a month ago. The State Department in Washington said the United States, Britain, and France agreed Russia was guilty of a "shocking breach of faith." Canada is the other member of the conference authorized by the United Nations.

The United States and France also issued statements underlining continued Western efforts to get an agreement.

Gromyko, chief Russian delegate, left London yesterday for Moscow, via Stockholm, after giving an interview on the talks to the Soviet Tass agency. That interview touched off the Western denunciation. His place at the conference was taken by Jacob Malik, Soviet ambassador to London.

A British spokesman said repeated Russian leaks show clearly that Russia "is all out for propaganda and not for talks which might make progress."

Gromyko, arriving in Stockholm on an official visit, told reporters he had nothing to say about the British blast.

In his Tass interview published early today, Gromyko accused the West of wanting "to pursue the armaments race" and of blocking agreement on scrapping of nuclear weapons.

He detailed a Russian plan calling for step-by-step reduction of conventional weapons, like tanks and artillery, and leading to eventual abolition of nuclear arms.

Western delegates say it is "quite similar" to Allied disarmament proposals, but that Russia has indicated no willingness to agree on the practical details of armament control by an international commission.

Strong Winds Cause Blaze Near Campus

Strong winds yesterday afternoon imperiled several storage buildings bordering the University salvage depot as inflammable material deposited from a dairy barn caught fire, the Campus Patrol reported.

The fire was extinguished by Alpha firemen before any damage was done to the buildings.
