

Parties Near Campaign End

The Spring campaign will be drawing to a close over the weekend as the three political parties make final preparations for the elections on Wednesday and Thursday.

Party candidates will get a brief rest today as campaigning will be reduced to a minimum, but will start in again tomorrow when several activities are planned.

TIM Reports Little Progress On Committee

The proposed town committee on student affairs has made little progress, Raymond Rubner, Town Independent Men vice president, told the meeting of TIM Tuesday night.

Plans for the committee will be presented to the Association of Independent Men in the near future, he said.

The committee was originally proposed by Rubner as a cure for differences between the townspeople and students.

A minor amendment in the wording of the TIM constitution was read and passed at the first reading. The proposed amendment would change the wording of the membership clause to read, "all males living off campus regularly enrolled in any undergraduate or graduate college of the University are eligible for membership."

Approximately ten men attended the TIM meeting.

FMA Names New Trustees

The Fraternity Marketing Association elected seven members to the board of trustees at its annual meeting Wednesday at Beta Sigma Rho.

William R. Davy, instructor of dairy science, was elected as an alumni member.

Dr. Robert K. Murray, assistant professor of history, was re-elected as a member-at-large. Both men will serve five-year terms.

Five student members, elected for two year terms, are James Hinkel, Phi Gamma Delta; Robert Krakoff, Beta Sigma Rho; John Phillips, Delta Sigma Phi; Donald Byerly, Sigma Pi; and John Seastone, Theta Xi.

A new president of the board will be elected at the next board meeting to replace Clifford Nelson, associate professor of economics, whose term has expired. The next board meeting will be held April 4.

A report dealing with the future expansion of FMA was read by Murray, as head of the planning committee. The report was discussed at an earlier meeting of the board.

Weather Station Forecasts Snow

It's a good thing students haven't sent home their winter clothes because they'll need them this weekend. The University weather station forecast snow for today and near-freezing temperatures for the entire weekend.

Rain which the station foresaw to begin late last night or early this morning is expected to change to snowflurries today. Also forecast for today is cloudiness and wind-gusts.

Tomorrow is expected to remain cloudy and cold.

Yesterday's high mercury reading was 50 degrees, and the low was 28.

Student Special Back to Normal

The price of the student special at the Terrace Room in the Hetzel Union Building did not exceed the a la carte price total for the same food, on Wednesday or Thursday.

Tuesday's noon meal the student special was priced 4 cents over the a la carte cost of the meal.

However, a check on the comparative price lists of Thursday's meals show that the noon meal cost 26 cents, and that the evening meal cost $1.03.

Players to Star Jones, Held In Shakespearan Comedy

By JOE BEAU-SEIGNEUR
Shakespeare's rollicking comedy of a spit-fire woman and her conqueror, "The Taming of the Shrew," will open Friday and run for seven weeks, with Karl Held as Petruchio, the tamer, and Elizabeth Jones as Kate, the shrew.

Both leads have appeared in three previous Players productions but express equal delight at the chance of playing in one of Shakespeare's comedies.

Held, a sixth semester dramatics major from Neshanic, N.J., was seen last year as Uncle Desmonde in "The Happy Time," and also appeared this year as Ensign Pulver in the Schwab production of "Mr. Roberts." He ends a six-week run as Mr. Cartwright in "Children of Darkness" at Center Stage tonight.

"I've never acted professionally," Held said, "but I have done night club work in New Jersey, as well as entertaining when I was in the army for three years."

"One thing which especially appeals to me about 'The Taming of the Shrew' is Dr. Walter Walters' modern interpretation of the comedy," he added. "The Latin phrases and speeches, which have lost meaning because of the time difference, have been dropped and the actors are dressing for the learned in dramatics I learned at the University."

Working With Large Cast
"One of the best things in this show," he said, "is the experience of working with a large cast. I'm also getting a small charge out of throwing things around the stage," he added, laughing.

Miss Jones, a sixth semester speech major from Norristown, seemed especially happy at the chance of playing Kate in "The Taming of the Shrew." "This is my first experience with Shakespeare," she said, "and I love it." "It's the first chance I've ever had to be nasty on the stage, and I'm having a grand time," she added.

Three Time Performer
Miss Jones has appeared in three productions, all at Center Stage, either at the old Hamilton Avenue Theater, or in the Temporary Union Building. Her freshman year she played Dina in "Right You Are (If You Think So)" and last year she was seen as Helen in "On Approval." She played the part of the trollop, Bessie Watty, in "The Corn is Green" last semester.

Miss Jones has never acted professionally, but she hopes to after graduation. "Either television or the stage," she replied in answer to a question. "I like acting but with speech I'll be able to do commercial work, too."

"The Taming of the Shrew' is very enjoyable," she added, "and it's good fun to be thrown around the stage, too."
