

Cabinet Drops Pay for 18 Positions

3 All-University Officers Still Will Get Salaries

By DOTTIE STONE

All compensations, except those for the three All-University officers, were dropped from the proposed budget by All-University Cabinet last night. The dropped compensations totaled approximately $875.

Many of the scholarships, or compensations, had been lowered or dropped from last year's budget, when the report was presented last night.

Women Given Late Hours For Carnival

Women students have been granted 11:15 p.m. late permissions May 11 and 12 for the Spring Week carnival. Ross Clark, carnival chairman, has announced. Carnival hours will run from 6:30 to 11 p.m. on these nights.

Special late permissions to midnight for carnival nights will be granted only to sophomore, junior, and senior women who are certified in advance with the office of the dean of women, Clark said. These women must also be certified by booth chairmen to be active participants in a booth project, he said. This does not include an entire social group, but refers to those responsible for the care of costumes, props and equipment, according to Clark.

Chairmen of each organization must submit a list of women having 12 o'clock permissions to the Spring Week carnival chairman by noon, May 9, at the Hetzel Union desk, Clark said.

204 Old Main New Addition To Prexy's Suite

The former student government room, 204 Old Main, will be occupied by C. S. Wyand, executive assistant to the president, according to Louis H. Bell, director of public information.

The move will complete the establishment of the President's suite in Old Main. It was formerly occupied by the student government room, several administration offices, and a student meeting room.

The suite now contains the office of the President, the President's reception room, the office of the director of public information, the provost's office, the office of the director of student affairs, offices of the President's assistants, and filing and reception rooms.

The new student government room is located on the second floor of the Hetzel Union Building facing Holmes Field.

Motion Passed to Make Shortlidge One-Way

By ROG BEIDLER

All-University Cabinet last night passed a proposal to make Shortlidge road a one way street on Friday and Saturday nights and defeated a motion to prohibit freshmen from keeping cars on campus.

The recommendation which would make Shortlidge road, extending from College avenue to Pollock road, a one-way street, will be referred to the Campus Patrol, John Speer, All-University vice president, explained.

The proposal stated that the street should be made one-way, entering from Pollock road, from midnight until 1:15 a.m. on Friday and Saturday nights. It was felt that this would hasten safe departure of students and their cars when coeds are escorted back to the dormitories on these evenings.

In the event this proposal goes into effect, student drivers would have three alternatives to reach Shortlidge road via Pollock road:

1. Use the small one-lane road which runs from College avenue to Pollock road behind McElwain and Simmons dormitories and in front of the Pollock dorms.
2. Cross town and use Burrows road.
3. Use the by-pass which runs off College avenue on the road from Bellefonte into the Nittany-Pollock area.

Fresh Cars
In defeating the proposal by the Cabinet Traffic Committee which would prohibit freshmen from keeping cars on campus, Cabinet felt the space obtained by this restriction would not justify the removal of the right from freshmen.

Last week, Cabinet tabled this motion to enable the committee to look into the possibility of the construction of a large parking area on the outskirts of campus. Robert Hess, chairman of the Traffic committee, stated that the only area which would satisfy this idea would be the Jordan Fertility plots.

Hess reported that the estimation from the University Physical Plant revealed that a parking area, with space for 700 cars, would cost approximately $35,000. He said it would cost $3500 a year for the upkeep of the lot and $7500 a year to keep a watchman on duty at the area 24 hours a day.

One-Third Space
The report compiled by the Traffic committee revealed that freshmen occupy slightly more than one-third of all student parking space. Of the 2034 parking spaces issued to students, the report stated that 706 are given to freshmen.

In suggesting freshmen be prohibited from keeping cars on cam-

Students Visit Blood Center In Johnstown

Student members of the Red Cross blood drive committee, accompanied by Richard H. Baker, co-ordinator of veterans' affairs and adviser to the committee, and John J. Huber, assistant in the college placement service, toured the Johnstown Regional Blood Center yesterday.

Dr. Daniel Ray of the Johnstown Center served as guide. Dr. Ray explained the action of blood in the body and also the procedures used in taking and preparing the blood.

Students were ushered through various rooms where they saw blood being given and how it was typed, prepared, stored, and delivered.

The Johnstown Center is one of three Red Cross blood centers in Pennsylvania; the others are in Philadelphia and Wilkes-Barre. Johnstown takes care of the blood program for 14 counties and supplies total blood needs to 44 hospitals.

The bloodmobile will be at the University April 26 and 27. Donor slips will be distributed after spring vacation.

Rain Forecast For IFC Ball

Rain is forecast by the University weather station to arrive just in time for the IFC-Panhel Ball tonight.

This morning is expected to be cloudy, and the rain is foreseen to begin sometime this afternoon. Tomorrow the outlook is cloudy, but no rain is expected.

The weather was just the opposite last year—it was cloudy the night of the dance and rained Saturday.

Today's high mercury reading is expected to be near 60 degrees, and a low of near 40 is forecast. Yesterday's high was 60, with a low of 29.

Mechanics Seminar

Thomas Proctor, graduate student in physics, will speak at the fluid mechanics seminar at 4:10 p.m. today in 219 Electrical Engineering.

Proctor will speak on "Surface Tension Bubble Resonances."

pus, the report set up five exceptions to the restrictions:

1. Physically handicapped students.
2. Commuting students who require the use of their automobile for daily transportation from their homes outside of State College to the University.
3. Out-of-state students.
4. Veterans.
5. Freshmen students over 21.
