Seven Courses In TV Planned

The possibilities of teaching seven additional courses via closed circuit television next semester are being considered, Dr. Clarence R. Carpenter, professor and head of the psychology department, has announced.

The courses are: psychology 17, all sections; speech 200, some sections; economics 2, all sections; music 5, some sections; air science 2, some sections; education 1, some sections; and chemistry 1, all sections. Physics 215 is a less probable but also possible television course.

Debate Teams To Participate In Tournament

The Men's and Women's Debate Teams will attend the Eastern Forensics Association debate tournament tomorrow and Saturday at Fordham University, New York City.

Six rounds of debate will be held on the national topic resolved: That the United States should recognize the Communist government of China. For the women's team, Allison Munn, sixth semester speech major, and Ann Leh, eighth semester journalism major, will take the affirmative. The negative will be debated by Vanessa Johnson, and Nancy Silverman, sixth semester education majors.

Taking affirmative for the men's team will be Sidney Goldblatt, eighth semester pre-medical major, and Benjamin Sinclair, eighth semester arts and letters major. David Meckler, eighth semester pre-medical major, and Jonathan Plaut, fourth semester industrial engineering major, will take the negative.

In the forensic contest, Miss Johnson, Miss Munn, Sinclair, and Meckler will take part in the extemporaneous contest, and Miss Leh, Miss Silverman, Goldblatt, and Plaut are entered in the public speaking contest.

The tournament will be run on a "sweepstake" basis, the teams receiving points for each debate they win. They also will receive points for first through fourth rankings in each round of the forensics contests. The tournament winner will be the team with the highest point total. Awards also will be presented to the high point winners in debate, extemporaneous speaking, and public speaking.

1952 President Of WSGA Dies In Auto Crash

Mrs. Mary Jane (Woodrow) MacKinnis, former president of Women's Student Government Association at the University, was killed in an automobile accident Sunday night in Chambersburg.

Mrs. MacKinnis was riding in a car driven by her husband at the time of the accident. A car coming in the opposite direction veered into the middle of the road and collided with the MacKinnis car. The couple was taken to Chambersburg hospital where they were reported in critical condition.

Mrs. MacKinnis died 13 hours later. Her husband is still reported in critical condition.

Mrs. MacKinnis was graduated from the University in June, 1952. While a student she was president of WSGA during 1951-52, and a member of All-University Cabinet. She was a member of Phi Mu sorority; Mortar Board, senior women's hat society; Chimes, junior women's hat society; Alpha Lambda Delta, national freshman women's scholastic honorary society; and Pi Lambda Theta, national education honorary society. She was also selected Quill girl.

Blood Goal Surpassed By 149 Pints

Walk-ins again helped the Red Cross campus unit surpass its blood drive goal in the second day of the drive yesterday to bring the total pints collected to 449 in two days. The goal for the drive had been set at 300 pints.

One hundred and forty-seven donors had been scheduled for yesterday. Thirty-seven of those scheduled failed to keep their appointments and 24 were rejected, but 127 came as walk-ins, bringing the total donors to 212. The total pints collected yesterday was 211.

On the first day of the drive, Tuesday, 238 pints of blood were donated, topping the goal for that day by 90 pints.

Of the 450 who donated blood to the drive, 182 gave for the first time, and 268 were repeats.

Red Cross personnel said that blood given at the University serves as a kind of insurance to the donor. Anyone who has donated blood at the University may, in time of need, receive free blood at any hospital which operates under the Red Cross blood program.

Refreshments were served to the donors by hostesses from Kappa Kappa Gamma and Delta Delta Delta sororities. A number of freshman women also served as hostesses.

Alpha Phi Omega, men's national service fraternity, helped in setting up the equipment for the drive.

Dean Will Be SDX Speaker

James W. Dean, assistant to the dean of men, will be the rebuttal speaker for the 22nd annual Gridiron Banquet of Sigma Delta Chi, men's national professional journalism fraternity.

"The March of Time" (A Century of Progress) has been selected as the theme for the banquet. The theme centers around the celebration of the Centennial. The banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. on May 4 at the Nittany Lion Inn. Skits will satirize events around campus and town, and the guests will be lampooned during the course of the evening.

Guests will include President Milton S. Eisenhower and other administrative officials as well as men prominent in the State. Several well known newspaper writers will attend.

Weather Forecast Warm and Clear

The skies are forecast by the University weather station to clear this afternoon. Warmer temperatures are also expected.

Data for today's forecast was compiled by Clarence Sakamoto, special meteorology student, student forecaster for the station.

Lieske Will Head AIM Next Year

Bruce Lieske, treasurer of the Association of Independent Men, defeated John Cole, town independent, last night in the election for president of AIM. Lieske, sixth semester meteorology major, will be installed in his new office on May 6 at the annual AIM-Leonides banquet.

Nelson Sidel, sixth semester business administration major, was elected vice president. Sidel defeated Raymond Rubner, Town Independent Men president. Sidel is presently serving on the board as representative-at-large in Pollock Council.

Richardson Re-Named
Leonard Richards, fourth semester business administration major, was re-elected secretary. The newly elected treasurer is Harry Martini, president of Pollock council.

James McDowell, vice president, read the final report of the Spring Dance committee. McDowell recommended that the dance be made an annual affair and that it be held during National Independent Student Association Week.

CPA Criticized
McDowell also suggested that the Central Promotion Agency not be employed in the future to handle publicity because of the incompetency of the organization. He said the work of the CPA was not satisfactory.

Richard Moon, representative to the Pan American Day committee, submitted his report to the board.

NISA Report Given
William Johnson, Nittany Council president, and NISA coordinator, read the report of NISA activities throughout the year. Johnson, who was defeated by only a few votes for the office of national NISA president, said the growth of AIM and Leonides closely parallels the growth of NISA.

Seipt Installed As President Of Ag Council

Fred Seipt was installed last night as president of Agricultural Student Council.

Outgoing president George Williams installed Seipt, who in turn swore in the other new officers. They were David Morrow, vice president; Judith Corfield, secretary; and Norman Shue, treasurer.

A 1955-56 budget of $1105 was approved by the council. It will go before a faculty committee this week.

John Sink, treasurer, said he estimates the principal expenses for next year to be the Penn State Farmer and the Breeze. The proposed budget allows $450 for the Breeze and $300 for the Farmer.

A motion to appoint a committee to revise the constitution was passed. The motion came after the constitutionality of the recent elections was questioned.

Daniel Van Duyn, representative of Ag-Eng Club, contended that the elections were unconstitutional because they were held by plurality and not by majority vote. It was pointed out that the constitution does not state how council officers should be elected, but they have been elected by plurality vote in past years.

Each member of council received a service certificate award. Next meeting will be on May 10.

X-rays Reveal Fractured Jaw

X-rays taken of John W. Miller, sixth semester pre-medical student, who was seriously injured in an auto accident early Sunday morning, reveal that his jaw was fractured, but he has no fractured skull or blood clot, Centre County Hospital authorities said.

Although Miller is still in a coma, he can be roused to the point of recognizing friends and relatives before again becoming unconscious.

Authorities say it will only be a short matter of time before he comes out of the coma.

Miller received his injuries when he was thrown from the back seat of a careening car which was struck in the side while crossing the intersection of E. Fairmount avenue and Locust lane.

The car Miller was riding in was driven by John Lawrence, sixth semester journalism major. It was hit crossing the intersection without lights by a car driven by William Jairett, second semester aeronautical engineering major.

Application Blanks Due Tomorrow for Tribunal

Deadline for applying for positions on Tribunal, men's judicial body, is 5 p.m. tomorrow.

Applicants must be third or fourth semester students with a 1.3 or better All-University average. Interviews will be held May 9.

Application blanks are available at the Hetzel Union desk.

Ike Optimistic About World Peace

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower today sounded a cautious note of optimism about peace prospects, based in part on some personal correspondence he has had lately with Georgi K. Zhukov.

Zhukov, an old friend and World War II comrade-in-arms of Eisenhower's, is now defense minister of the Soviet Union.

Speaking in a reminiscent, old-soldier mood as the tenth anniversary of V-E day neared, Eisenhower said he was sure everyone would want his correspondence with Zhukov "if it were humanly possible, to lead to some betterment of the world situation."

And he said he would "confess" to a hunch that, in spite of trouble clouds in the Formosa Strait and elsewhere, peace prospects on the whole are "on the upswing." This was Eisenhower's first meeting with newsmen in a month and they bombarded him with questions ranging from the Salk vaccine to the situation in South Viet Nam.

Eisenhower stoutly backed the stand Secretary of State Dulles took yesterday—this country will talk directly with the "Chi-Com," as he called the Chinese Communists, about a cease-fire in the Formosa dispute. But he said there will be no discussion behind Chiang Kai-shek's back of matters directly affecting the Chinese Nationalists.

In Self Defense
By way of explanation, he said, cease-fire talks would not damage the interests of the Nationalists since, he said, they are firing now only in self defense.

Somehow the approach of next week's V-E anniversary came to dominate today's session. Eisenhower was asked if he had any "reflections" on the victory in which he led the Western forces, and he said with a rueful smile he thought at the time it meant the end of an active career for him.

"I saw a nice farm over the other side of the ocean," he went on, "and—it is still a long ways away at least."

Another Term?
There was some laughter and much pricking up of ears. Was this a tipoff the President meant to run for reelection? Eisenhower reddened and looked for a moment as if he'd let a cat out of a bag. Then he laughed heartily and sought to explain that "long ways" remark.

"After all," said the 64-year-old president, "when you are my age, 21 months is still a long time." His present term has 21 months to go.
