

AIM Judicial Asks Probation for Two

The Association of Independent Men's Judicial Board of Review Wednesday night recommended that the dean of men's office place one student on judicial probation and another on office probation.

The student receiving judicial was accused of drinking on campus. The student, a first semester animal husbandry major, was seen by a counselor drinking in parking area 42, just outside Pollock Dorm 2, early Sunday morning.

The student who is to receive office probation was accused of attempting to light a box of matches in Waring Hall last Wednesday evening. This student, a first semester civil engineering major, was seen by a counselor as he was kneeling on the floor in Waring Hall preparing to light a small box of matches, having just dropped the matches on the floor.

Along with both recommendations went the provision that a letter be sent to the parents of the students with regard to the incidents.

Neither student had been previously before the board.

Judicial probation provides that the student attend the board meeting whenever so requested by the board.

Office probation provides that the student appear for periodic interviews at the dean of men's office, for a period to be determined by that office.

The students may appeal their cases to the dean of men's office within five days.

The Senate student affairs subcommittee on discipline upheld the recommendation of the board made last week that these students be suspended from the University, and another be placed on disciplinary probation for an indefinite period for a series of misdemeanors in the Pollock area, over the entire school year.

Two of these students, both second semester engineering majors, had been previously before the board and will not be eligible for readmission until the spring semester of 1956.

The third student, a sixth semester engineering major, will be eligible for readmission in the fall semester of 1955.

Drivers to Vie In Ag Tractor Driving Contest

Tractors will be put to a different use tomorrow afternoon as men students and coeds vie for prizes in a tractor driving contest sponsored by the American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

The contest, to be divided into a male division and a coed division, will consist of tractor inspection, hitching to a manure spreader, driving through an obstacle course with the spreader, backing the spreader into a tight place, and belting up to an ensilage blower.

The contest will be run in the parking lot between Forestry Building and Plant Industry Building. Three prizes will be awarded to the males and two to the females.
