

Thinclads Close Home Season With Terriers

Boston University—expected to sport a team that will be small in size but big in power with a punch in at least six events including three in the field departments—comes to Beaver Field today. The dual meet will end the Lion thinclad's 1955 home season. The meet will begin at 1 p.m.

The Bostonites are expected to be heavily laden with talent in the pole vault, high jump, and broad jump. On the cinders, Boston will be out to give the Lions a battle in the half mile, mile, and two mile.

Boston, however, which has already had its outdoor squad sliced apart with injuries, may even be without its stars in the field events including Bruce Hecock, indoor pole vault champ and a 6-5 high jumper, and Bernie Bruce, another champ who specializes in the broad jump with the 24-foot leaps.

Lloyd Bell and Bill Shearer will run the 100 and 220-yard dashes for Boston. Both have been working out all winter in the indoor 60-yard competition. Lafayette Thomas will add another Boston man to these two events.

Thomas will also work the 440-yard dash with Fred Dunburry, Dunburry and Billy Smith, a little fellow who also can enter the mile and two-mile run, will handle the 880 chores.

Smith and George Terry, an ex-GI who was the 1954 IC4A cross country champ, will be one of the main reasons for Boston's bright outlook in the two-mile run. Smith will also be a strong entry in the mile against the Lions' Doug Moorhead, Jim Pastorius, and Paul Roberts.

Penn State should be able to take a decided edge on Boston in the discus and shot with record-smashing Charlie Blockson and Captain Rosey Grier both putting well over 50 feet in the shot and 160 feet in the discus. George Sansone and Dick Bates will put the shot and Nat Baker and Bates will throw the discus for Boston. Ed Allen will be the Easterner's javelin entry.

Boston has made no indication of entering anyone in the 120 high hurdles and the 220 low hurdles. With Rod Perry and Bill Youkers backed up by Gary Seybert and Bob Young, the Lions should have little trouble in this event should Boston submit an entry.

The mile relay will be one of the top entries of the day if the weatherman cooperates. With a prediction set for rain, cloudiness, and cooler weather, however, the Lions may have difficulty in landing a bulls eye in the shooting for a record mark. Jack Morin, Dave Leatham, Bruce Austin, and Art Pollard have been assigned to run the relay in that order.

Herb Hollowell, Harry Fuehrer, Ben Shields, Sandy Ayers, Bob Snyder, and Bob Pearlstein have been assigned to their individual places in the pole vault, high jump, and broad jump for the Lions. Morin and Leatham will run the 440, Al Terrill Skip Slocom, and Bob Matz the 880, and Ted Garrett, Don Mawry, and John Chillrud the two-mile.

Gus Gerhart, Leo Kukkola, John Branish, and Warren Gittlen. The linksmen will be trying to bring back the Eastern crown for the first time since 1948 in today's match.

Three Sophs May Decide Fate Of Linksmen in EIGA Tourney

The fate of the Penn State golf team in the EIGA Tournament today might well rest in the so far capable hands of a trio of sophomores. The three, Leo Kukkola, John Branish, and John Boyanowski, have been one of the principal reasons for the Lions' unbeaten record this year.

Kukkola is one of four unbeaten Penn State linksmen going into today's match. "Kook" has won four matches and lost one this year. Kukkola won, 5 and 3, at Bucknell in the season's opener, and followed with successive wins over Georgetown, Cornell, and Gettysburg.

Boyanowski likewise has romped through his opponents this year. He has not had a serious scare in any of the season's matches so far. All four of his victories have been by a comfortable margin.

Branish, the third sophomore in Rutherford's lineup, has copped three decisions while losing one. Branish's only loss came in the form of a 23-hole heartbreaker against Cornell.

Captain Warren Gittlen, the team's only senior, goes into today's action bearing an unbeaten 3 and 0 record. Gittlen was held to a draw in the 8½ to ½ conquest of Gettysburg last week for the only blemish on his record.

Besides Gittlen, Kukkola, and Boyanowski, the team's other unbeaten is Gus Gerhart. Gerhart has won three times to compile his unbeaten streak.

The rest of Rutherford's squad is composed of juniors Jim Ginsberg and Jim Mayes. Both golfers have won four and lost one in this season's action. Both losses came in the Cornell match.

Gerhart and Gittlen are veterans of the EIGA tourney, and will be expected to carry the brunt of the load. While neither was able to qualify last year, each has the valuable experience of playing in front of large crowds—something that might unnerve the Lions since they are accustomed to playing on a vacant golf course.

The weatherman predicts rain for today, but it is not expected to put a damper on the Lions' championship holes. Earlier this week Rutherford explained that his squad is the type that would probably benefit by rain in a golf match. He said that although the precipitation would take off a few yards from the drives off the tee, the wet greens would make the ball "hold"—a definite advantage since most of the Lions are strong "pitch" shooters.

The Yale University course, scene of today's battle, is a 6200-yard "toughie" with long fairways and tricky greens. Because of this the hometown defending champion Bulldogs will be cast in the role of the favorite. Yale has made a habit of winning this particular meet in the past, copping it four times in the last six years.

Their first match in the number one doubles position. Rowley and Chuck Schaul added the fourth point to the Tech total as they downed the Lion duo in three sets, 8-6, 7-9, 6-2. Eberly and Williams have notched three wins.

This afternoon, the Foggmenn will be after their fourth victory as they host the Syracuse netmen. Until this week the Orangemen have experienced a tough time. After winning their opener from Union College, they dropped successive matches to Cornell and Colgate.

The Orange netters met Bucknell yesterday and Sampson on Wednesday. Syracuse Coach Bud O'Brien will send his top three men—Philip Crausman, Jack Boyajian, and Godfrey Lebar—against the Lions, but is undecided on the rest of his lineup.

Lion Coach Sherm Fogg is also undecided as to who he will send against the visitors from New York. One of his top singles performers, Dean Mullen, is still on the sidelines with a sprained ankle.

Six soccer teams, 12 horseshoe duos, and 13 fraternity golf squads captured victories in a full night of intramural action Thursday.

Phi Kappa Psi opened soccer play by nipping Alpha Epsilon Pi, 1-0; Alpha Sigma Phi and Kappa Sigma won via forfeit; Alpha Zeta blanked Tau Phi Delta, 1-0; Sigma Chi edged Pi Kappa Phi, 2-1; and Delta Tau Delta whitewashed Theta Delta Chi, 1-0.

Beth Casey and John Rodgers, Delta Chi, led eight other fraternity entries into the second round of IM horseshoe play by defeating John Kunda and Bill Kirsch, Phi Kappa, 21-7, 4-21, 21-8; Bob Bommer and Ralph Cowan, Nelson and Bob Rose, Alpha Tau Omega, 21-14, 21-3.

Tau Phi Delta, won a forfeit victory over Jim and Bob Brubaker, Delta Upsilon; Ron Lentz and Bob Saunder, Pi Kappa Tau, edged Don Hoffman and Ken Moses, Beta Sigma Rho, 21-8, 19-21, 21-13.

Warren Dagher and Al Boguszewski, Phi Sigma Kappa, defeated Theo Balabanis and Terry Bechaus, Phi Kappa Psi, 21-13, 21-8; Mike Znacko and Hal Byers, Tau Kappa Epsilon, eliminated Dave Murphy and Don Ferguson, Alpha Sigma Phi, 21-17, 11-21, 21-19. Dean Vesling and Ron Huber, Beta Theta Pi, downed John Jack Harmon and Al Taylor, Phi Mu Delta, nipped Ken Blair and Vince Odhner, 18-21, 21-12, 21-14; Gordon Wisner and Bob Fox, Delta Theta Sigma, stopped Bob Kahn and Barry Kreizman, Sigma Alpha Mu, 21-8, 21-16; and in the final match of the evening, Ken Smith and Jim Beatty, Alpha Gamma Rho, beat Cas Sals and Lynn Baker, Theta Xi, 21-18, 21-3.

In independent horseshoe activity, George Harris and Jim Schuyler took two out of three games from Bob Findley and Ed Dull, 21-12, 19-21, 21-19; Bill Soley and Carl Riss stopped Clarence Dittenhafer and Harold Fellow in two out of three contests, 14-21, 21-7, 21-5; and Allan Ludwig and Larry Metzger trounced George Obradovich and Tom Smith, 21-0, 21-9.

Fraternity golf winners included Sigma Nu, Alpha Chi Rho, Phi Epsilon Pi, Kappa Sigma, Phi Kappa Sigma, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Delta Tau Delta, Phi Delta Theta, Theta Delta Chi, Delta Upsilon, Alpha Chi Sigma, Beta Sigma Rho, and Beta Theta Pi.
