

Thinclads Lose 2 Men for Pitt Battle Today

Lions Capture 13 Firsts In Romp Over Boston U.

By ROY WILLIAMS

Penn State's outdoor track team, which took 13 out of 15 events from Boston University Saturday will have stiffer opposition in store for it at 3:30 p.m. today when it visits Pitt. The Lions, however, will be weakened for the engagement with sophomores Rod Perry and Harry Fuehrer on the sidelines.

Perry left immediately after his race in the 120 high hurdles on Saturday when he received word of the sudden death of his father.

Perry, and his younger brother Bob, a freshman, who was called from the stands when word was received of his father, left by University station wagon for their home in Coatesville.

Perry will be out of action both for the Pitt meet and his scheduled trip to the Coliseum Relays this weekend at Los Angeles with his coach, Chick Werner, and the Lions' other entry, sprinter Art Pollard. Fuehrer will miss the pole vault with a shoulder injury suffered over the weekend.

Pitt's thinclad squad will be paced by flashy Arnie Sowell, a frail 20-year-old speedster, who has recently born the brunt of Pitt's attack by stacking up repeated wins in the quarter, half, and mile relay work and the broad jump.

On Saturday, in a meet in Pittsburgh against Army and Ohio State, the Panthers wound up second, although the 135-pound Sowell competed in three events and then sizzled to an unofficial 45.4 time in anchoring the mile relay. Sowell won the 440 in :48.2, the 880 in 1:55.5, and was second in the broad jump with a 23-2 1/2 leap.

He is the NCAA and IC4-A outdoor 880 champ and owns the AAU and IC4-A indoor half mile crowns. Sowell's time of 2:09.2 in the 1000 meter race in the AAU's this year equaled the world mark.

Pitt dropped Miami University earlier this year to snap a five-year-old 22-match win streak of the Ohio school, 63-59. Against Navy, Pitt rolled to a 72-59 win with Sowell winning the 440 and broad jump. In the leg of the mile relay he raced to a :46.7 time after competing in three other events.

The Lions will definitely be weakened with the loss of Perry in the 120 high hurdles, but senior Bill Youkers has been close on Perry's heels all season in both departments and will be counted on heavily.

Werner will use a lineup similar to that he devised for the Boston U. match in order to strengthen his mile relay team—the same team that ran a 3:14.9 mile relay time Saturday. The performance, which broke the Penn State 1954 record of 3:16.6, was termed "just wonderful" yesterday by Werner.

Boston University won only the javelin and 220-yard dash as the Lions walked to an easy 104-26 score over the Terriers. Boston did not compete in the high jump, broad jump, mile relay, or 220-yard low hurdles.

Rosey Grier broke his year-old record of 55-8 1/4 in the shot with a 56-3 1/2 heave as he and Blockson doubled up to win eight points for the Lions in the shot and eight more in the discus. Running against competition, the Lions also copped tallies in the mile run and 400-yard dash.

In the 440 sophomore Jack Morin equalled the 1954 record time of Ollie Sax of :48.7. Boston University was without their individual stars—Bruce Hescok, Bernie Bruck, and Bill Smith out on injuries.

SEQUENCE PHOTO shows Lion track captain Rosey Grier's classic form as he winds up to heave the 16-pound shot for a new Penn State record of 56-3 1/4. Grier's throw broke his year-old-record of 55-8 1/4. Grier, who threw the shot over 60 feet last week in practice, and junior Charley Blockson won 16 points for the Lions in two departments—the discus and shot—with Blockson coming in second behind Grier in both events.

Golfers 4th in EIGA Tourney

By JOE CHEDDAR

The Penn State golf squad saw its hopes of an undefeated season shattered to pieces over the weekend by an overpowering display of Ivy League golfing might.

The defending champion Yale Bulldogs, who have won the tourney four out of six years, maintained their supremacy by copping win number five.

The match, held on the Yale University course, turned out to be an Ivy League all-star game. The first three finishers, in their order, were Yale, Harvard, and Princeton.

Jim Mayes and John Boyanowski helped to ease the disappointment by qualifying for the individual tourney, but neither was able to advance past the second round. Boyanowski was erased in the opening round, and Mayes was able to advance to the second round before losing.

Mayes shot a 39, 38-77 first round total, and a 36, 43-79 total enroute to qualifying. His qualifying score of 156 tied with Boyanowski's as the Lion's lowest.

Mayes Wins, 4-3 In his individual match Mayes rubbed out Penn's number one man Fran Poore 4 and 3. Mayes was one up on his opponent after the first nine, and poured it on down the backstretch to win. He won the 10th hole, birdied the 11th, won the 12th and then lost the 13th. But he came back to cop the 15th to end the match.

In the second round, Mayes had the misfortune of meeting up with Jerry Fehr of Yale, probably the best player in the tournament. Fehr was the number three qualifier in the individual race. This was his worst qualifying round in years. Two years ago he licked Rod Eaken for the individual crown, and last year was the runner-up.

Although Fehr picked up two birdies, on the first and 9th holes, Mayes was able to lead at the turn 36-37. But in the homestretch Fehr exploded. He birdied the 10th, 15th, and 16th holes in the process of shooting a two under par 68, the best round in the entire tournament. The final score was 3 and 1.

Boyanowski lost to George town's Perky Cullinane, who was licked by Mayes in a dual meet with the Hoyas. Boyanowski shot a fine round of golf, but Cullinane was sharper, and picked up a 2 and 1 win. This is the first time this year that the sophomore ace was on the short end of a match.

Gus Gerhart, who has just missed qualifying for the last two years, barely missed getting into the finals Sunday. Gerhart shot an 80, 77-157 to miss out by only one stroke. He had his berth practically assured, but double bogied the last hole, and just missed.

Next in line for the Lions was Warren Gittlen, who has failed to get to the qualifying tourney for four consecutive years. Gittlen was even after the first 13 holes, and seemed on the way to a certain spot, when he blew up and finished with a 78. He was able to do no better than an 81 on the final 18 and finished with a 159.

After Gittlen came John Branch who totaled a 79, 81-160, and Leo Kukkola who totaled an 87 and an 81 to garner a 168.

Lion Soccer Prospects Are Good for Next Fall

By ROG BEIDLER

The task of rebuilding a national championship team is usually a tremendous task—but this is not the case for Penn State soccer coach Ken Hosterman.

Although the Lion booters will lose the services of five lettermen through graduation, the outlook is still bright in that nine lettermen from last year's undefeated national champion soccer squad will be returning. Included in these nine returnees is one all-American.

Hosterman said that he was also encouraged with the performances of several freshman booters in spring practice which was completed last week. The youthful Lion mentor said that he couldn't estimate the squad's potential because the full strength wasn't always present at practices. He said that the spring drills were held mainly to enable him to look at the freshmen and that there were no intensive scrimmages by the upperclassmen.

Nevertheless, the outlook for next season is "bright" by favorable. The only spots which need filled are the fullback positions vacated by Paul Dierks and Galen Robbins. Dierks received the team's outstanding player award and was given all-American honors last year.

The other big loss will be the absence of last year's captain Jack Pinezich. Pinezich, another all-American, held down the outside left spot and will be a hard man to replace.

In looking over his crop for next year, Hosterman said that he will have two halfbacks, four forwards and the goalie back in the fold. Returning lettermen who will be out for their second consecutive unbeaten season and national championship are all-American and next year's Captain Dick Packer, Tom Nute, Dick Matacia, and Ian Springer at the line positions; halfbacks Steve Falmporis and Ihor Stelnyk and goalie George Geczy. Two other lettermen who will also be back are Chuck Snyder and Bob Little.

This week, Hosterman will travel to Philadelphia where he will receive the "Soccer's Coach of the Year" award from the Old Timers' Soccer Association of Philadelphia.
