

Soloists for Orchestra To Be Hosfeld, Meyer

By ANNE FRIEDBERG

Anne Hosfeld, junior in arts and letters from Shippensburg, and Mary Lou Meyer, junior in home economics from Lebanon, will be harp and flute soloists for the University Symphony Orchestra Concert at 3 p.m. Sunday in Schwab Auditorium.

The coeds will play the first movement of Mozart's Concerto in C Major. Because of the length and difficulty of rendition, the concerto is rarely played for an audience.

Miss Meyer, who has been playing the flute for six years, was instructed by Professor Frank Stachow of Lebanon Valley College.

Played in State Forensics

In 1952 she entered the Pennsylvania State Forensics competition as a flute soloist from Lebanon High School, receiving a superior rating for her renditions. During her high school career, she played in several district and state bands.

Miss Meyer has been a member of the Penn State Blue Band since her freshman year. She is a member of the Louise Homer Club, local woman's music honorary society.

At present she has no plans for a professional career as a flute soloist, but said she would like to become a member of a community orchestra in the town in which she will eventually settle.

Studied for 12 Years

Miss Hosfeld studied the harp under the direction of her mother for 12 years. Mrs. Hosfeld, who descends from a family of Welsh harpists, played professionally in New York for many years before her marriage.

Miss Hosfeld played in Christmas programs, ensembles, and school concerts for her local high school. For four years she appeared as harpist with the Chambersburg Symphonettes.

She is also a member of the Louise Homer Club and the University Symphony Orchestra. In March she was harp soloist at a concert sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha and the Louise Homer Club.

Miss Hosfeld studied harp for a year in Pittsburgh under the direction of Miss Janet Remington, harpist for the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra while attending Pennsylvania College for Women.

Miss Hosfeld has no plans for a professional career.

Theodore K. Karhan, associate professor of music and music education, will direct the Symphony Orchestra, for the concert.

Farber Wins Intramural Discussion

Patricia Farber, eighth semester education major from Pittsburgh and sponsored by Phi Sigma Sigma, won the annual Women's Intramural Discussion Wednesday night.

The discussion is sponsored by Delta Alpha Delta, women's debate honorary, and open to undergraduate women who are not members or former members of the Women's Debate Team.

Each entrant in the contest spoke three times for a total of six minutes on the topic "Can an Interfaith Marriage Succeed?" They were entered as representatives of sororities or independent living units.

Members of the honorary society and the Woman's Debate Team served as judges and presented Miss Farber with the Delta Alpha Delta trophy.

She competed with seven finalists who were chosen at a preliminary round Tuesday night. The finalists and their sponsors were Miriam Bushkoff, Phi Sigma Sigma; Louise Caspary, Phi Sigma Sigma; Joan Hepler, Alpha Omicron Pi; Kay Kerr, Phi Mu; Marjorie Seymour, Zeta Tau Alpha; Harriet Steinman, Sigma Delta Tau; and Rosemary White, Alpha Omicron Pi.

Vogue to Hold $1000 Contest

Vogue Magazine has announced its annual Prix de Paris contest for senior college women.

First prize in the contest is $1000 cash or two weeks in Paris, all expenses paid. Second prize is $500 cash. Ten honorable mention winners will receive $25 cash.

First and second prize winners and the ten honorable mention winners will receive top consideration for jobs on Vogue, Glamour, Home and Garden, Vogue Pattern Book, and Vogue Knitting Book magazines.

Competitors will complete two quizzes, which will appear in the August and December issues of the magazine, using Vogue as a textbook. Entries will be judged on the basis of writing ability, grasp of subject matter, general intelligence, originality, and demonstration of special talents.

Press Wives To Be Guests At Breakfast

Theta Sigma Phi, women's national professional journalism fraternity, will sponsor a breakfast tomorrow for the wives of the Pennsylvania newspaper men, who are attending the Pennsylvania Press Conference to be held today and tomorrow.

Breakfast will be held from 9:30 to 11 a.m. in the dining room of the Hetzel Union Building, Mary Lee Lauffer, retiring president of Theta Sigma Phi, has announced.

Four members of the group, Barbara Woodward, Phyllis Probert, Martha Heim, and Patricia Dickinson, will conduct the women on tours of the campus. Forty-five wives are expected to attend the breakfast, Miss Lauffer said.

The press conference is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association, and the department of journalism.

High School Paper To Sell Movie Tickets

The 'Piper', State College high school newspaper, will sponsor a sale of special theatre tickets for Friday and Saturday night performances of 'The Bob Mathias Story', at Nittany Theatre.

The tickets may be bought at the Hetzel Union desk before noon today. They are 65 cents.

The proceeds from ticket sales will go to the 'Piper' to help cover a $150 budget deficit.

Men's Fashions

Trend Switches To Cooler Styles

By JACK WILLIAMS

With the arrival of the humid season, men's clothes on campus have taken a jump from the dark and warm to the light and comfortable.

Probably the most noticeable change has been the switch by many male students to Bermuda shorts and knee socks. Although Bermudas have been the accepted thing on campuses as well as in business circles for several years, this year marked their first strong appearance at the University.

Along with Bermudas, which are usually of charcoal or khaki shade, lightweight shirts and sports jackets are now in style.

Tweed Jackets Popular
Tweed jackets are in abundance this year, and are mostly of the dark brown and black variety. Bright shirts and accessories offset the drabness of the jackets.

Along with pink, which seems to be pretty well established as a shade for shirts, mint green, tangerine and heliotrope are favorites.

Many men are wearing Tartan plaid belts, which seem also to be extremely popular with coeds.

Madras is Newest Materials
Looking at the lighter weight of clothes for summer, Madras is the newest in materials for sports jackets, ties, and Bermudas. This many-colored plaid is patterned after the original Indian cloth, which resembles a very lightweight cotton.

Shoes have come in for some revisions this spring. The new, low silhouette is widely popular, and shantung vamps are also being designed in a variety of
