

Upperclassman Rushing By IFC in Full Swing

Fraternity rushing of upperclassmen went into full swing yesterday with the issuing of a list of eligible upperclassmen by the office of the dean of men.

Houses may rush upperclassmen this week if they are not affiliated with a fraternity. Upperclassmen desiring to rush may sign up at the Hetzel Union desk, according to Daniel Land, IFC rushing chairman.

Rushes must have either an All-University average of at least 2.0 or a 2.0 average for

Council Serves As Liaison Unit In Ed College

Education Student Council is a body of students elected to act as a median group between students and faculty in the College of Education.

Upperclass seats on Ed Council are filled at spring elections by students enrolled in the education college having a 2.5 All-University average. Freshman members will be elected in October.

An annual trip to the United Nations is a project of the Council. One member is sent to observe the UN at work with all expenses paid.

Coffee hours are sponsored by the group to acquaint freshmen, sophomores, and transfer students with upperclassmen and faculty members.

Open house, held by the council each spring, includes displays by each school in the Education College.

Presentation of the Outstanding Education Senior award is another council project. The award is made in the spring at a banquet honoring newly elected council members. Each student who has served on the council receives a certificate acknowledging service to the College of Education.

AIM Judicial Hears Discipline Cases in Dorms

The Association of Independent Men Judicial Board of Review, one of the three student courts for undergraduate men, hears cases involving men living in campus dormitories.

The board consists of eight members and a chairman.

When a dormitory resident is accused of conduct detrimental to the name of the University and/or for conduct unbecoming of a student of the University and when the act occurs in or near a dorm, he will probably go before the group for a trial.

Recommendations for punishment, ranging from disciplinary probation to suspension, are made by the board to the dean of men's office. The office then decrees the punishment.

Board chairman is David Sullivan, senior in electrical engineering from Monongahela.

See More Farmer Exchange Moves

NEW YORK (AP)—Leaders of the Russian agricultural mission predict their two-month tour of the United States and Canada will be followed by more and more U. S.-Russia exchanges.

Eleven members of the group held a final news conference at Idlewild Airport last night before leaving for home.

Cachet Envelopes On Sale at HUB

Centennial cachet envelopes, bearing the University's seal, the tower of Old Main, and a few lines about the University are on sale at the Hetzel Union desk.

The white envelopes, sold in groups of three for 5 cents, are a project of the University Student Centennial Committee.

Over 27,000 envelopes were sold during the birthday celebration last February. The sale this fall will continue as long as there is a demand, Robert Krakoff, envelope chairman, announced.

last semester (under the new grading system). Land said.

Rushes may not stay in the house after 8 a.m. Sunday unless they have been pledged, Land added.

As a service to fraternities, the University will permit the exchange of upperclassmen living in dormitories. The fraternities must provide another upperclassman to take the place of the one who is pledged by the fraternity, according to Robert Bullock, IFC president.

Vendors soliciting fraternity houses must be registered with the Fraternity Affairs office and must present an official vendor's certificate, according to Robert Bullock, IFC president.

Registration blanks are available from Bullock, Delta Tau Delta, and Don Reidenbaugh, Sigma Chi.

The replacement must be willing to accept an assignment in Pollock Circle. All exchanges must be made in the office of the dean of men by 5 p.m. Sept. 23.

Men transferring to dormitories must sign a contract with the department of food and housing and those to be released from dormitory contracts must report to Nittany 20 before 5 p.m. September 26, Bullock said.

If replacements for men living in dormitories and wishing to pledge fraternities cannot be secured, the men living in Nittany and Pollock may break their contracts at the end of the semester.

Unless notice is given, men living in West Halls will not be able to break their contract at the end of the semester.

9 Scholarships At $1000 Each To Be Given

Nine scholarships, each worth $1000, will be available at the University this fall under a program established by L. F. Teas, consulting geologist of Houston.

The scholarships are available to sophomores in the fields of chemistry, geology, or geophysics and geochemistry. They may be renewed for the junior and senior years if the student continues to do satisfactory work.

The scholarships, now known as the John and Elizabeth Holmes Teas Scholarships, were named in memory of the parents of Teas.

Teas, a 1916 graduate of the University, established the program anonymously in 1952 "to aid in the development of outstanding men."

Candidates for the scholarships are nominated by the scholarship committees of the Colleges of Chemistry and Physics and Mineral Industries. The final appointment is made by President Milton S. Eisenhower.

Article Explains Prexy-Ike Tie

The close relationship, both personal, and advisory, between Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, University President, and his brother, President Dwight D. Eisenhower, is discussed in an article in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

Demaree Bess, an associate editor, states in his story, "When He Talks, Ike Listens," that Dr. Eisenhower has served the administration in so many ways and is known to be so close to the President that his influence has been compared to that of two previous presidential confidants: Woodrow Wilson's Col. Edward M. House and Franklin D. Roosevelt's Harry Hopkins.

Jobs for Meals Still Available

Student employment for meals is still available in fraternities, campus dining halls, and The Lion's Den and Waring snack bars, John Huber, employment director, has announced.

The work is offered only to men students living off campus. It consists of approximately three hours of work a day.

Applicants should not come to the Employment Service office until after registration, Mr. Huber said, because schedules are necessary in order to facilitate job referrals. This also includes applicants for jobs that must be distributed according to the student's free time.

ONCE MORE UNTO THE BREACH

Today I begin my second year of writing this column for Philip Morris Cigarettes. Once every week during the coming school year I will take up, without fear or favor, issues that inflame the minds and quicken the hearts of college students everywhere. I will grapple with such knotty questions as: "Is compulsory attendance the reflection of an insecure faculty?" and "Is the unmarried student obsolete?" and "Are room-mates sanitary?"

While each week I make a bold assault upon these burning issues, I will also attempt to beguile you into smoking Philip Morris Cigarettes. Into each column I will craftily weave some words in praise of Philip Morris.

I will grapple with

Suck Knotty Questions 75!

I will extol, obliquely, the benign mildness of Philip Morris's well-born tobacco, its soothing fragrance, its tonic freshness, its docile temperateness, its oh-so-welcome gentleness in this spiky and abrasive world of ours.

For saying these kind things about their cigarettes, the Philip Morris Company will pay me money. This is the American Way. This is Democracy. This is Enlightened Self Interest. This is the System that Made

Our Country Great, and anybody who doesn't like it is MALADJUSTED.

Perhaps it would be well in this first column of the year to tell you a little about myself. I am 36 years of age, but still remarkably active. I am squat, moon-faced, have all my teeth, and am fond of folk dancing and Lotto. My hobby is collecting mucilage.

I first took up writing because I was too short to steal. Barefoot Boy With Cheek was my maiden effort, and today, fourteen years later, I continue to write about college students. This is called "arrested development."

But I can't help it. Though I am now in the winter of my life, the problems of undergraduates still seem to me as pressing as ever. How to pursue a blazing romance with exams coming up next Friday in physics, history and French; how to convince your stingy father that life is a bitter mockery without a yellow convertible; how to subsist on dormitory food — these remain the topics that roil my sluggish blood.

are Room-mates Sanitary

And in this column from now until next June you will read of such things: of dating and pinning, of fraternities and sororities and independents, of cutting and cramming, of athletes and average-raisers, of extra- and intra-curriculum, of textbooks and those who write them and those who sell them and those who read them and those who don't.

And, slyly woven into this stirring tapestry, the story of Philip Morris, America's gentle cigarette, in the handy Snap-Open pack, in king-size or regular, at prices all can afford.

The makers of Philip Morris are happy to be back with you for another year of good reading and good smoking — with gentle Philip Morris, of course.
